Hi Tony,
I need to squeeze in another matter. Does 1:30 work?

a copy of each pra request to cd13 via next request which include staff only visible timeline found on the right side of the screen

Staff only? I don't get this.

b. copies of the task logs belonging to each cd13 staff member with an acct on NextRequest. This is found in the "tasks menu" at the top of a logged in user's NextRequest pages and can be seen at the far left side of the blue box on the attached image.

We don't use the task feature, we have our own system, so this will be empty or "no responsive documents."

c. A screenshot of an admin's Nextrequest page with the admin menu dropped-down. This menu can be seen in the center of said blue box.

Huh?

d. copies of all reports available to each and every cd13 user of NextRequest as available through the reports menu, seen at the far right side of the blue box.

Isn't this a bit excessive?

Isn't this a bit excessive?

Even more violence is being brought on with these developments.

This week, in broad daylight, I saw a man beating a woman out on the sidewalk. They seemed to know each other. She fell to the floor, and he started kicking her. I called 911 though by the time the police showed up, they had both left the scene (her walking away visibly injured).

Regrettably, I'm not surprised that our predictions of the situation worsening are only coming true. I don't know what the breaking point has to be for the city to take action.

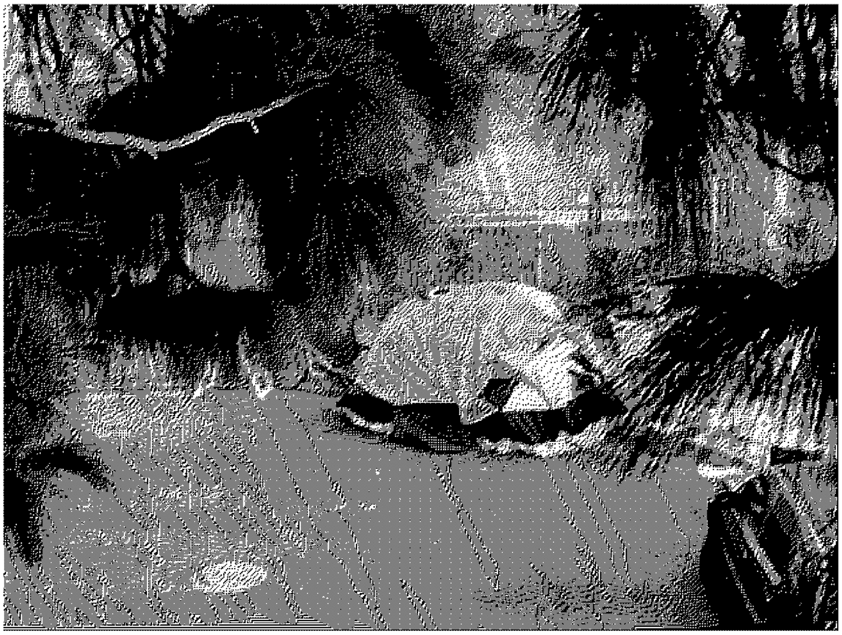
They're back and in much worse form of habitation.



Another display of disrespect and utter disregard for reason. Isn’t this justification enough for our city officials and LAPD to take them off our neighborhood?

I heard yelling for 10 minutes then saw a large police presence. There's still a lot to be done around. It needs to be enforced that this is not a adequate location to loaf. 70 percent out there are able bodied.

Subject: Re: NEW ENCAMPMENT AT TAMARIND AVENUE RIGHT IN FRONT OF OUR BUILDING

Someone just got stabbed (apparently with nail clippers) at the encampment on Carlos. :(

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place).

Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

Do you really allow these transients to stay right in front of our building, let alone enable them to do their "business" there? They're not really in a tent, but in a dirty make-shift one that looks more like "shanties" in some "really depressed areas". Our tenants pay too much rent, for our authorities to tolerate their presence there.

Hi Steve, tried to answer some of your questions within the text of your email below. Hope this helps.

On 8/29/2019 5:44 PM, Lopez, Steve wrote:

Interested in your thoughts:

I spoke to LAPD and went to the Carlos/Tamarind location yesterday for a brief look.

Would residents of Carlos/Tamarind say problems associated with encampments, drugs and noise are equally distributed among those camped near the entrance on Tamarind and the younger folks camped on Carlos? Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of the tents on the south side of Carlos. He was chased out, got punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn't feel safe.

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

Understandably, this is not the kind of scene anybody would want on the street they live on.

I'm just wondering if residents think the answer is more police presence, more rehab and housing, more intervention by social workers, all of the above, or something else.

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people, Hi Frank and Bethelwel- Sorry for the weekend email, not urgent but if we can discuss early next week. We received this CPRA request about our NextRequest usage. Have you or other offices responded to a similar request previously?

a copy of each pra request to cd13 via next request which include staff only visible timeline found on the right side of the screen

Staff only? I don't get this.

b. copies of the task logs belonging to each cd13 staff member with an acct on NextRequest. This is found in the "tasks menu" at the top of a logged in user's NextRequest pages and can be seen at the far left side of the blue box on the attached image.

We don't use the task feature, we have our own system, so this will be empty or "no responsive documents."

c. A screenshot of an admin's Nextrequest page with the admin menu dropped-down. This menu can be seen in the center of said blue box.

Huh?

d. copies of all reports available to each and every cd13 user of NextRequest as available through the reports menu, seen at the far right side of the blue box.

Isn't this a bit excessive?

Hi there

A message was added to record request #19-6107:

Hi- I don't have anything on this...in fact, I don't think this is something we can produce. Does anyone have anything?

I would refer them to GSD if it has to do with lease agreements on city property.

Re: California Records Act Request, August 30, 2019

Dear Council Member O'Farrell:

On August 30, 2019, I submitted a California Public Records Act request to your office on behalf of our client. The request documents related to public statements you made regarding a proposal to amend Los Angeles Municipal Code Section 41.18(d). A copy of the request is attached for your convenience.

Although the request was submitted over a month ago, we have not received a substantive response. Instead, your office required that we submit the request twice more in different formats over the course of the next week, which I did as a professional courtesy and in an attempt to expedite the request. On September 15, 2019, I received what appears to be an automated response from Next Request, stating that that your office would provide a response in six months, or by March 6, 2020.

Such a response does not comport with your obligations under the California Public Records Act. Section 6253(c) of the Government Code requires an agency to respond to a request for records promptly, and at least within 10 days of the request. Gov't Code § 6253(c). See also Community Youth Athletic Center v. City of National City, 164 Cal.Rptr.3d 644, 671, 220 Cal.App.4th 1385, 1419 (Cal.App. 4 Dist., 2013). Extensions of no more than 14 days are available only in "unusual circumstances." Id.

The response to our request fails to indicate whether your office has responsive documents, or if any of the documents are being withheld pursuant to an exception under the CPRA. Moreover, if your office does have responsive documents, there is no justification for failing to provide those documents promptly, as required by the CPRA. See also Marken v. Santa Monica-Malibu Unified School Dist., 202 Cal.App.4t' 1250, 1268 n. 14 (2012).

RE: California Public Records Act Request

Dear Council Member O'Farrell:

This is a request on behalf of our clients, for copies of certain records in the possession, custody or control of you or your staff related to Los Angeles Municipal Code Section 41.18(d). This request is made pursuant to the California Public Records Act (Govt. Code §§ 6250 et seq.). If a member of your staff is responsible for responding to these requests, I request you forward this request to the appropriate staff member and let me know who that individual is, so we can address the requests to that individual in the future.

This request encompasses the records falling within the specific categories set forth below, related to public statements made by you related to the proposed amendment to Los Angeles Municipal Code Section 41.18 (hereinafter Amendment to LAMC 41.18), which was considered and approved by the Homelessness and Poverty Committee on August 21, 2019. This amendment which would ban sitting, sleeping, or lying on any street, sidewalk, or public right of way as follows:

(1) At any time in a manner that restricts ten feet of clearance from any utilizable and operational entrance, exit, driveway or loading dock
(2) At any time in a manner that restricts passage as required by the ADA;
(3) At any time
  (i) Within 500 feet of a park;
  (ii) Within 500 feet of a school;
  (iii) Within 500 feet of a daycare center;
  (iv) In or upon any tunnel, bridge or pedestrian subway that is on a route designated by City Council resolution as a school route;
  (v) Within 500 feet of a facility opened after January 1, 2018 to provide housing, shelter, supportive services, safe parking or storage to homeless persons.

Other Office Locations:
East Los Angeles Office, 5228 Whittier Blvd., Los Angeles, CA 90022; 213-640-3883

(vi) Bike and other recreational paths
(vii) Public areas (non-sidewalk) posted with "No Trespass" signs for safety purposes
(viii) Public areas posted with closing times for safety and maintenance purposes.
(ix) Crowded public sidewalk areas like those exempted in the Citywide vending ordinance and other large venue-adjacent areas.

The term "record" as used in this request has the same broad definition as is given the term "writing" in Section 6252(f) of the Government Code.[1] Specifically, I request the following documents:

1. Any surveys or maps that show the areas covered by the proposed Amendment to LAMC 41.18.
2. Any reports or analysis that discusses or otherwise references which areas of Los Angeles would be covered by the proposed Amendment to LAMC 41.18, including any analysis of how much of the City of Los Angeles would be covered by the proposed ordinance.
3. Any surveys, maps, reports, or analysis that shows which areas, if any, that would remain available for individuals to sit, sleep, or lie on the sidewalk under the proposed Amendment to LAMC 41.18,
4. Any documents that show that a "whole lot more real estate" in Los Angeles would remain accessible, following the enactment of the proposed Amendment to LAMC 41.18, as you contended publically on August 23, 2019.

I look forward to working with you inspect these documents as soon as possible. See California Government Code § 6253. To the extent that your agency claims the right to withhold any record, or portion of any record, please describe each and every record or portion of any record that is being withheld and the claimed reason for the exemption, citing the exact language of the Public Records Act and the legal authority on which you rely. If portions of the records requested are exempt from disclosure, please provide the non-exempt portions.

If you are aware of documents that may exist but are not held by your office, we ask that you identify the Department, Agency, or other entity that may have those documents, and a person, if known, who should be contacted regarding those documents.

I would like to inspect the documents immediately in your office. If copies of the documents are otherwise available and it would be more convenient to send copies of the responsive documents to me, via email or mail, you may do so at

Good Morning Dan,
Yes, your response is more than adequate. As Strefan has advised earlier, you are not obligated to make arrangements for a requester to view a production that is not yet fully reviewed or completed ahead of schedule. As long as you are in communication with him as to when it will be ready (and it sounds like it will be just a few extra days) you are covered.

thanks for touching base.

Frank

Hi Mr. Halden,

Why don't I come in on Friday afternoon and look at whatever part of these 600 documents you've prepared already? How much material is that?

I will be in to the City Hall office on Friday at 3:30 pm to inspect whatever is already prepared. Please confirm.

Thanks, Mr. Halden!

You do not mention the public interest in redacting and producing against which you weighed the interest in saving City staff the labor involved, but I submit to you that it's actually impossible that it is outweighed, let alone clearly outweighed.

The emails were also the subject of discussion, both public and private, among a wide range of advocacy groups and their members, many of whom will be pleased to submit declarations under oath stating their conceptions of the public interest involved in reading Guerra's correspondence with you. The public interest in reading the rest of Officer Guerra's emails not only outweighs the labor that would be expended to redact these records, but it provably outweighs it.

For instance, you agreed to produce about 340 pages on the Echo Park BID. Now, I don't know how many pages there are per email since emails don't have an objective pagination but, but it's a lot. Also, you cheerfully "compiled 600+ documents for" various emails about Cherokee and ficus and so on with nary a mention of section 6255(a). You didn't even mention public interest, although the public interest there is high as well.

I hope also that, in the interest of avoiding yet another costly, time-consuming, and anxiogenic writ petition, you will make some suggestions for overcoming whatever the remaining practical obstacles in my gaining access to these records so that maybe we can come to some kind of agreement. If I don't hear from you about this by Friday, April 12, I will proceed as if you're not planning to reconsider.

Hi Dan-
I think Adrian (or Robert Freymann?) is asking via CPRA what requests are in the queue and their due date.

Here is a report we just ran, but I know you have many others from Adrian.

Frank and Bethelwel,

Adrian is asking to come in on Friday 10/4 to look at a CPRA request that will not be complete until Monday 10/7. (I was hoping it would be complete by today, but I am still working on it.)

In the past, Strefan has advised that we are NOT obligated to allow a requester to view a request that is not yet complete. Can I tell him no, and that he needs to wait?

FYI, I will likely need the weekend to complete this request.

Hi Mr. Halden,

Why don't I come in on Friday afternoon and look at whatever part of these 600 documents you've prepared already? How much material is that?

I will be in to the City Hall office on Friday at 3:30 pm to inspect whatever is already prepared. Please confirm.

Thanks, Mr. Halden!

Good morning, Mr. Halden.

As I previously advised you, the public interest in seeing this material is so high, and provably so, that it's really unlikely that any kind of 6255(a) claim can stand against it. This argument also works to establish that bad faith on CD13's part with respect to production, e.g. claiming that it's going to take a long time and then not working on it, would also be a violation of the CPRA.

I know that CD13 conducts all its business with the utmost sincerity and good faith. This is why, Mr. Halden, I am so sure that in the more than five weeks since you told me that CD13 would begin preparing this material, you all have actually prepared some of it. Therefore can you please let me know how much material has been processed by now and when I can come in and inspect it?

Thanks!

Hi Adrian,

We will begin working on this request, but it's likely to be redaction-heavy and will take months to complete.

During the process, depending on the amount of redacting and withholding -- and the necessary staff time required to perform those tasks -- the review may need to be stopped, per Section 6255 (as the public interest would clearly weigh in favor of not expending more staff time to continue reviewing and redacting), and we will produce only the documents reviewed up to that point.

Subject: ATTORNEY CLIENT PRIVILEGE: CPRA request (CD13.2019.03.12.a)

Frank and Bethelwel,

Adrian is asking to come in on Friday 10/4 to look at a CPRA request that will not be complete until Monday 10/7. (I was hoping it would be complete by today, but I am still working on it.)

In the past, Strefan has advised that we are NOT obligated to allow a requester to view a request that is not yet complete. Can I tell him no, and that he needs to wait?

FYI, I will likely need the weekend to complete this request.

Thank you,

Hi Mr. Halden,

Why don't I come in on Friday afternoon and look at whatever part of these 600 documents you've prepared already? How much material is that?

I will be in to the City Hall office on Friday at 3:30 pm to inspect whatever is already prepared. Please confirm.

Thanks, Mr. Halden!

Good afternoon, Mr. Halden!

I am just wondering what the status of this request is. You've had it in hand for five months and I am just wondering if any of this material is ready. If so I would like to come in and look at it very soon. Please advise.

Hi Adrian,

We are doing our very best to keep up with all of your simultaneous requests. Given that, and since the size and nature of this particular request requires a great deal of time and review (as I stated to you on May 3, 2019), we are planning to provide it to you in when it is complete.

I am hopeful that we will be able to complete it to you as soon as possible. We appreciate your patience and will continue to do our best to work with you as efficiently as possible on all of your requests.

Good morning, Mr. Halden.

As I previously advised you, the public interest in seeing this material is so high, and provably so, that it's really unlikely that any kind of 6255(a) claim can stand against it. This argument also works to establish that bad faith on CD13's part with respect to production, e.g. claiming that it's going to take a long time and then not working on it, would also be a violation of the CPRA.

I know that CD13 conducts all its business with the utmost sincerity and good faith. This is why, Mr. Halden, I am so sure that in the more than five weeks since you told me that CD13 would begin preparing this material, you all have actually prepared some of it. Therefore can you please let me know how much material has been processed by now and when I can come in and inspect it?

Thanks!

Adrian

Hi Adrian,

During the process, depending on the amount of redacting and withholding -- and the necessary staff time required to perform those tasks -- the review may need to be stopped, per Section 6255 (as the public interest would clearly weigh in favor of not expending more staff time to continue reviewing and redacting), and we will produce only the documents reviewed up to that point.

Good evening, Dan.

I'm just checking on the status of this. In particular, is the City planning to fulfill it at some point or are you all sticking by your 6255(a) claim?

If the City is going to withhold records on this basis, it's not enough that the public interest in doing so outweigh the public interest in releasing, but it must clearly outweigh it.
> >> The only public interest you assert in favor of withholding is the amount of work it will take CD13 to redact "over 600 documents." You do not mention the public interest in redacting and producing against which you weighed the interest in saving City staff the labor involved, but I submit to you that it's actually impossible that it is outweighed, let alone clearly outweighed.

> >> Just for instance, you released a few emails between you and Officer Guerra recently. These were the subject of an article on L.A. Taco, one of the City's premiere news sites. The emails were also the subject of discussion, both public and private, among a wide range of advocacy groups and their members, many of whom will be pleased to submit declarations under oath stating their conceptions of the public interest involved in reading Guerra's correspondence with you. The public interest in reading the rest of Officer Guerra's emails not only outweighs the labor that would be expended to redact these records, but it provably outweighs it.
> >> Furthermore, even leaving aside the public interest weighing, your claim is pretty dubious given the requests that CD13 fulfills without protest. For instance, you agreed to produce about 340 pages on the Echo Park BID. Now, I don't know how many pages there are per email since emails don't have an objective pagination but, but it's a lot. Also, you cheerfully "compiled 600+ documents for" various emails about Cherokee and ficus and so on with nary a mention of section 6255(a). You didn't even mention public interest, although the public interest there is high as well.
> >> Given these considerations, I hope you will reconsider your ultimately indefensible 6255(a) claim. I hope also that, in the interest of avoiding yet another costly, time-consuming, and anxiogenic writ petition, you will make some suggestions for overcoming whatever the remaining practical obstacles in my gaining access to these records so that maybe we can come to some kind of agreement. If I don't hear from you about this by Friday, April 12, I will proceed as if you're not planning to reconsider.

Hi there

A message was added to record request #19-5016:

The Office of Councilmember Mitch O'Farrell is in receipt of your request #19-5016.

Due to the high volume of Public Records requests currently in the queue for processing, the approximate response time to complete new requests is six months from the date of the initial request. Accordingly, this request is expected to be completed by March 6, 2020. We appreciate your patience.

I know. I don't either know how much more any one of us can take of that anymore?!
These streets are next to a freeway, we can be blocked and harassed if one of them looses it - hopefully, before one of us does. Scary...

This isn't news to us, but seems like there is even more awareness of the city's issue: https://www.latimes.com/california/story/2019-08-27/homeless-audit-lahsa-outreach-performance

If I'm being honest, I don't know much more we can do as LA residents. If anyone knows of more outreach we can do, maybe future elections that would impact this issue, this would probably be a great space to share it.

Please help us! We've sent you daily photos of feces and litter in the street, people urinating in public, people screaming and playing loud speakers outside our windows, and naked men walking outside our homes - but the only time we got a super fast response was when these people attached their structures to government property. ??

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

So, they came, we thank them and they did NOTHING. Everything was lifted off the street but allowed to be stationed into the corner and the sidewalk.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?!
I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.
None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

The litter left outside is also bringing more rats and making them bold. For the first time ever, we had a rat just walk into our apartment through the open window recently, in the middle of the day.
Windows which we now have to keep closed (without aircon) most days, even or eapecially on hot days, as we run home businesses and the noise, constant partying and screaming of the n-word 30x a day outside the window makes it impossible to work.
Please come and help move these people (and their feces, trash and animals) away from our homes and businesses?

For a long time now, we have been patiently waiting for the promised bridge housing to relocate the encampment on Carlos and Tamarind. Updates we receive from Council member O'Farrell are encouraging on paper but totally different from what's happening in our neighborhood. Sad to say, the encampment next to us which is within his district should be given priority but is not. We feel neglected, abandoned and made to suffer even more each day. We seem to think that our area has been declared the destination for new transients.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

Councilmember M. O'Farrell
1722 Sunset Blvd

CA, 90026

Dear Councilmember O'Farrell,

We would like to request a meeting to discuss the ongoing challenges that we are consistently seeing in the peak tourist areas on Hollywood Boulevard.

As a business community, representing thousands of employees, we have massively suffered from the effects of the "hands-off" approach to dealing with the homelessness and street vendors along the Walk of Fame, particularly between La Brea and Las Palmas Aves.

While this concern is not new, and there are clearly long-term plans for improvement being made under Dan Halden's HEART of Hollywood program, we feel it is necessary to draw your attention to the fact that this issue has now reached a crisis point.

This is not melodramatic hyperbole: following a summer of double digit decline in Boulevard pedestrian traffic, many of our businesses are faced with no alternative but to curtail future investment, reduce the number of staff we employ and - in some cases - shut up shop entirely.

I am hoping that you will take time from your busy schedule to meet at the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce with myself and the other many representatives from the business community to discuss the following topics:

1. Visible and Constant BID/LAPD presence on Hollywood Blvd between Highland and Orange Aves
2. Actions to remove Street Vendors
3. Homeless assistance for those on Hollywood Blvd between Orange and Highland Aves
4. A CD vendor free speech zone
5. A Costume Character free speech zone
6. Event closure volume and Execution Guidelines to limit impact
7. Hollywood LAPD/BID Safety Cameras
8. Hollywood Investments: Chinese Theater courtyard/tax empowerment zone
9. Street/Sidewalk beautification, Hollywood signage & lighting
10. Local/Foreign Marketing of the newly improved Hollywood: Signage, Banners, Social Media, Foreign advertisements, Tour Guide Events

We are all very proud to operate in this historic neighborhood and hope you can support us in devising an appropriate plan to clean up the streets and make this international destination appealing once again.

Please ask the owners of these properties to get deeply involved ASAP, this isn't just affecting their current renters, if it continues especially in this direction it will affect their bottom line. they need to get the attorneys fired up and started on this, far better than getting named in a lawsuit when people get hurt. and make no mistake, people will continue to have issues and occasionally get hurt.

This week, in broad daylight, I saw a man beating a woman out on the sidewalk. They seemed to know each other. She fell to the floor, and he started kicking her. I called 911 though by the time the police showed up, they had both left the scene (her walking away visibly injured).

Regrettably, I'm not surprised that our predictions of the situation worsening are only coming true. I don't know what the breaking point has to be for the city to take action.

Our car just got stolen from the area (again). This time from Gower near the church.

Just a headsup that there are theives/opportunists working in this area (no wonder, with all the strange figures who are sitting in the shadows and wandering these streets at night).

Subject: Re: NEW ENCAMPMENT AT TAMARIND AVENUE RIGHT IN FRONT OF OUR BUILDING

Someone just got stabbed (apparently with nail clippers) at the encampment on Carlos. :(

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place). Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming /partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

I heard yelling for 10 minutes then saw a large police presence. There's still a lot to be done around. It needs to be enforced that this is not a adequate location to loaf. 70 percent out there are able bodied.

Subject: Re: NEW ENCAMPMENT AT TAMARIND AVENUE RIGHT IN FRONT OF OUR BUILDING

Someone just got stabbed (apparently with nail clippers) at the encampment on Carlos. :(

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place).

Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

Do you really allow these transients to stay right in front of our building, let alone enable them to do their "business" there? They're not really in a tent, but in a dirty make-shift one that looks more like "shanties" in some "really depressed areas". Our tenants pay too much rent, for our authorities to tolerate their presence there.

Interested in your thoughts:

I spoke to LAPD and went to the Carlos/Tamarind location yesterday for a brief look.

Would residents of Carlos/Tamarind say problems associated with encampments, drugs and noise are equally distributed among those camped near the entrance on Tamarind and the younger folks camped on Carlos? Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users > off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of the tents on the south side of Carlos. He was chased out, got punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn't feel safe.

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

> Understandably, this is not the kind of scene anybody would want on the street they live on.

> I'm just wondering if residents think the answer is more police presence, more rehab and housing, more intervention by social workers, all of the above, or something else.

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people,

I heard yelling for 10 minutes then saw a large police presence. There's still a lot to be done around. It needs to be enforced that this is not a adequate location to loaf. 70 percent out there are able bodied.

Someone just got stabbed (apparently with nail clippers) at the encampment on Carlos. :(

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place).
Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

Interested in your thoughts:

I spoke to LAPD and went to the Carlos/Tamarind location yesterday for a brief look.

Would residents of Carlos/Tamarind say problems associated with encampments, drugs and noise are equally distributed among those camped near the entrance on Tamarind and the younger folks camped on Carlos? Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of the tents on the south side of Carlos. He was chased out, got punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn't feel safe.

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

Understandably, this is not the kind of scene anybody would want on the street they live on.

I'm just wondering if residents think the answer is more police presence, more rehab and housing, more intervention by social workers, all of the above, or something else.

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people,

I'm just wondering if residents think the answer is more police presence, more rehab and housing, more intervention by social workers, all of the above, or something else.

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

> To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

> Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people, and loose dogs so that there's no way past them without walking in the street. Recently I've been followed by one of the men, seen another woman being followed/harassed, had another guy expose himself and start masturbating when I walked past, and have seen and heard regular violent attacks, from bloody beatings with weapons, taser threats, smashing glass, screams/shouting after a pepper spraying, and animal cruelty (beating and dragging the dogs) - all right outside my home. :(This felt like a safe area once but definitely not any more.

Are there more people living on the street?

Yes. Many more, and spreading into surrounding streets where there were zero tents only a few years ago.

Is there more trash?

Yes. I no longer invite friends over to visit because our street is often an absolute disgrace (and the bronson/carlos entrance is an open toilet, and on a hot day it makes people cover their mouths and want to vomit with the stench).

Is meth changing the situation for the worse?

I'm not sure. As I don't witness it firsthand, it's hard to say - there seems to be cycles of wasted/crazy-acting people who come and go.

If I’m being honest, I don’t know much more we can do as LA residents. If anyone knows of more outreach we can do, maybe future elections that would impact this issue, this would probably be a great space to share it.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

Everything was lifted off the street but allowed to be stationed into the corner and the sidewalk.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?!
I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.
None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency.
This is slowly getting totally out of control.

Windows which we now have to keep closed (without aircon) most days, even or capecially on hot days, as we run home businesses and the noise, constant partying and screaming of the n-word 30x a day outside the window makes it impossible to work.
Please come and help move these people (and their feces, trash and animals) away from our homes and businesses?

For a long time now, we have been patiently waiting for the promised bridge housing to relocate the encampment on Carlos and Tamarind. Updates we receive from Council member O'Farrell are encouraging on paper but totally different from what's happening in our neighborhood. Sad to say, the encampment next to us which is within his district should be given priority but is not. We feel neglected, abandoned and made to suffer even more each day. We seem to think that our area has been declared the destination for new transients.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

a copy of each pra request to cd13 via next request which include staff only visible timeline found on the right side of the screen

Staff only? I don't get this.

b. copies of the task logs belonging to each cd13 staff member with an acct on NextRequest. This is found in the "tasks menu" at the top of a logged in user's NextRequest pages and can be seen at the far left side of the blue box on the attached image.

We don't use the task feature, we have our own system, so this will be empty or "no responsive documents."

c. A screenshot of an admin's Nextrequest page with the admin menu dropped-down. This menu can be seen in the center of said blue box.

Huh?

d. copies of all reports available to each and every cd13 user of NextRequest as available through the reports menu, seen at the far right side of the blue box.

Isn't this a bit excessive?

Does anyone know how to schedule a cleanup for that area?

Subject: Re: NEW ENCAMPMENT AT TAMARIND AVENUE RIGHT IN FRONT OF OUR BUILDING

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place).

Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

Do you really allow these transients to stay right in front of our building, let alone enable them to do their "business" there? They're not really in a tent, but in a dirty make-shift one that looks more like "shanties" in some "really depressed areas". Our tenants pay too much rent, for our authorities to tolerate their presence there.

Seems like two differen t populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy d uty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jum py entered one of the tents on the south side of Carlos. He was chased out, go t punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment buildi ng told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn’t feel saf

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

erstandably, this is not the kind of scene anybody would want on the street they live on. I'm just wondering if residents think the answer is more police presence, more rehab and housing, more intervention by social workers, a ll of the above, or something else.

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

To the exten

d you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

whas this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people, and loose dogs so that there's no way past them without walking in the street. Recently I've been followed by one of the men, seen another woman being followed/harassed, had another guy expose himself and start masturbating when I walked past, and have seen and heard regular violent attacks, from bloody beatings with weapons, taser threats, smashing glass, screams/shouting after a pepper spraying, and animal cruelty (beating and dragging the dogs) - all right outside my home. :(This felt like a safe area once but definitely not any more.

Are there more people living on the stre et?

Yes. Many more, and spreading into surrounding streets where there were zero tents only a few years ago.

Is there more trash?

Yes. I no longer invite friends over to visit because our street is often an absolute disgrace (and the bronson/carlos entrance is an open toilet, and on a hot day it makes people cover their mouths and want to vomit with the stench).

Isme

th changing the situation for the worse?

I'm not sure. As I don't witness it firsthand, it's hard to say - there seems to be cycles of wasted/crazy-acting people who come and go.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?!
I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.
None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

We seem to think that our area has been declared the destination for new transients.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

I heard yelling for 10 minutes then saw a large police presence. There's still a lot to be done around. It needs to be enforced that this is not a adequate location to loaf. 70 percent out there are able bodied.

Someone just got stabbed (apparently with nail clippers) at the encampment on Carlos. :(

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place).

Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

Do you really allow these transients to stay right in front of our building, let alone enable them to do their "business" there? They're not really in a tent, but in a dirty make-shift one that looks more like "shanties" in some "really depressed areas". Our tenants pay too much rent, for our authorities to tolerate their presence there.

Interested in your thoughts:

I spoke to LAPD and went to the Carlos/Tamarind location yesterday for a brief look.

Would residents of Carlos/Tamarind say problems associated with encampments, drugs and noise are equally distributed among those camped near the entrance on Tamarind and the younger folks camped on Carlos? Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of the tents on the south side of Carlos. He was chased out, got punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn't feel safe.

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

> Understandably, this is not the kind of scene anybody would want on the street they live on.
> I'm just wondering if residents think the answer is more police presence, more rehab and housing, more intervention by social workers, all of the above, or something else.

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

> To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people, and loose dogs so that there's no way past them without walking in the street. Recently I've been followed by one of the men, seen another woman being followed/harassed, had another guy expose himself and start masturbating when I walked past, and have seen and heard regular violent attacks, from bloody beatings with weapons, taser threats, smashing glass, screams/shouting after a pepper spraying, and animal cruelty (beating and dragging the dogs) - all right outside my home. :(This felt like a safe area once but definitely not any more.

Are there more people living on the street?

Yes. Many more, and spreading into surrounding streets where there were zero tents only a few years ago.

Is there more trash?

Yes. I no longer invite friends over to visit because our street is often an absolute disgrace (and the bronson/carlos entrance is an open toilet, and on a hot day it makes people cover their mouths and want to vomit with the stench).

Is meth changing the situation for the worse?

I'm not sure. As I don't witness it firsthand, it's hard to say - there seems to be cycles of wasted/crazy-acting people who come and go.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?!

I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.
None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

Also, sorry to send this, but this is what we have tlldeal with daily. This image is a huge, festering pile of human feces just meters from our apartments and next to our car parks. It's not the only one along our sidewalks.
The litter left outside is also bringing more rats and making them bold. For the first time ever, we had a rat just walk into our apartment through the open window recently, in the middle of the day.
Windows which we now have to keep closed (without aircon) most days, even or eapecially on hot days, as we run home businesses and the noise, constant partying and screaming of the n-

Please come and help move these people (and their feces, trash and animals) away from our homes and businesses?

For a long time now, we have been patiently waiting for the promised bridge housing to relocate the encampment on Carlos and Tamarind. Updates we receive from Council member O'Farrell are encouraging on paper but totally different from what's happening in our neighborhood. Sad to say, the encampment next to us which is within his district should be given priority but is not. We feel neglected, abandoned and made to suffer even more each day. We seem to think that our area has been declared the destination for new transients.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

Hope Sanitation comes and gets rid of all these bulky items like mattresses, wood bundles and the like. Do we really allow them? Including all the make-shift structures?

Subject: Re: NEW ENCAMPMENT AT TAMARIND AVENUE RIGHT IN FRONT OF OUR BUILDING

Someone just got stabbed (apparently with nail clippers) at the encampment on Carlos. :(

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place). Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work – and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

a copy of each pra request to cd13 via next request which include staff only visible timeline found on the right side of the screen

Staff only? I don't get this.

b. copies of the task logs belonging to each cd13 staff member with an acct on NextRequest. This is found in the "tasks menu" at the top of a logged in user's NextRequest pages and can be seen at the far left side of the blue box on the attached image.

We don't use the task feature, we have our own system, so this will be empty or "no responsive documents."

c. A screenshot of an admin's Nextrequest page with the admin menu dropped-down. This menu can be seen in the center of said blue box.

Huh?

d. copies of all reports available to each and every cd13 user of NextRequest as available through the reports menu, seen at the far right side of the blue box.

Isn't this a bit excessive?

Thank you, Frank.
In this particular case, though, because an overwhelming majority of the residents of the street belong to the church, the individual would likely be identified by virtue of his correspondence with me. Would I be justified in withholding this e-mail altogether out of respect for his very explicit ask?

There are very few residents on L Ron Hubbard Ave -- so the church will be able to decipher who this is. Most of the people who live on this street belong to the church. Do we have any protection in redacting this info for the public record?

Hi George,
I wrote it down for you.

After repeated calls to our housing investigator Brenda Davis, we finally spoke last week.

She admitted that the information she gave me on the initial call to go over the complaints of all 4 tenants in the building — that there is a "church exemption" that trumps the normal Ellis Act exemptions and allows a church to oust tenants in just 60 days with $0 relocation assistance — was indeed untrue.

Her excuse for providing me with such incorrect information...a quick song and dance about subsequent to my repeated queries seeking further information about this “church exemption" that she needed to clarify it with her manager, and that what she said only applied to a vacant apartment blah blah blah, and that now that I have my update…"let’s move on”.

And the reason she didn’t get back to me sooner was she needed to "clarify with her manager", she went on vacation, she was busy, and that my case wasn’t a priority because we hadn’t actually received an eviction notice. She let us hang with undeniable fear-raising information…that because the landlord wouldn’t have to abide by the Ellis Act, that if we didn’t accept their “cash for keys” offer — we could be evicted even quicker and with zero relocation assistance.

4 tenants relying on her word. The threat of eviction in of itself is frightening enough, and the thought she purposefully put into our heads about having the RSO 120 day time period and specified relocation amount protections not apply to us because the landlord is simply a church would force any reasonable person to seriously consider agreeing to a cash for keys offer. And we almost started to rely on her word, but for a random thought in my head to read more about it online. When I couldn’t find what she told me online, I reached out to her again and again, without hearing back from her, and her not immediately correcting her devastating misinformation, and her trying to quickly gloss over it after a month of my relentless follow up calls and emails…”let’s move on"???

The Ellis Act law is crystal clear. Brenda Davis is not new to her job. She is not confused. She probably didn’t confer with her supervisor. She probably hoped I would go away if she just ignored me.

This is malfeasance. By a government worker. Obvious conjecture for motive to lie is some kind of financial payment with Scientology.

If it is corruption, this is obviously unacceptable. Brenda Davis should be fired. That elderly tenants in RSO buildings are being lied to a government employee whose job it is to specifically help them understand their rights??? And it needs to be investigated whether she is handling all of the other 55 units in RSO buildings on L Ron Hubbard Way, and whether she has lied to those tenants. And obviously whether there is Scientology wrongdoing. This could be the tip of the iceberg and a huge scandal...

Mind you, this is me trying to put all 4 tenants’ outrage into words (minus the colorful language).

Please forward this to your supervisor Marisol Rodriguez, and advise as to what Councilman Mitch O’Farrell intends to do about this violation of people’s trust.

And just so we are clear, my name and my building address should be kept anonymous from Scientology. There is real fear of reprisal. Please commit to this.

Thank you,

Michael

This week, in broad daylight, I saw a man beating a woman out on the sidewalk. They seemed to know each other. She fell to the floor, and he started kicking her. I called 911 though by the time the police showed up, they had both left the scene (her walking away visibly injured).

Regrettably, I'm not surprised that our predictions of the situation worsening are only coming true. I don't know what the breaking point has to be for the city to take action.

Another display of disrespect and utter disregard for reason. Isn't this justification enough for our city officials and LAPD to take them off our neighborhood?

Someone just got stabbed (apparently with nail clippers) at the encampment on Carlos. :(

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place). Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

They're not really in a tent, but in a dirty make-shift one that looks more like "shanties" in some "really depressed areas". Our tenants pay too much rent, for our authorities to tolerate their presence there.

On 8/29/2019 5:44 PM, Lopez, Steve wrote:

Interested in your thoughts:

I spoke to LAPD and went to the Carlos/Tamarind location yesterday for a brief look.

Would residents of Carlos/Tamarind say problems associated with encampments, drugs and noise are equally distributed among those camped near the entrance on Tamarind and the younger folks camped on Carlos? Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of the tents on the south side of Carlos. He was chased out, got punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn't feel safe.

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

Understandably, this is not the kind of scene anybody would want on the street they live on.

I'm just wondering if residents think the answer is more police presence, more rehab and housing, more intervention by social workers, all of the above, or something else.

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people,

Does anyone know how to schedule a cleanup for that area?

Subject: Re: NEW ENCAMPMENT AT TAMARIND AVENUE RIGHT IN FRONT OF OUR BUILDING

Someone just got stabbed (apparently with nail clippers) at the encampment on Carlos. :(

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place). Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

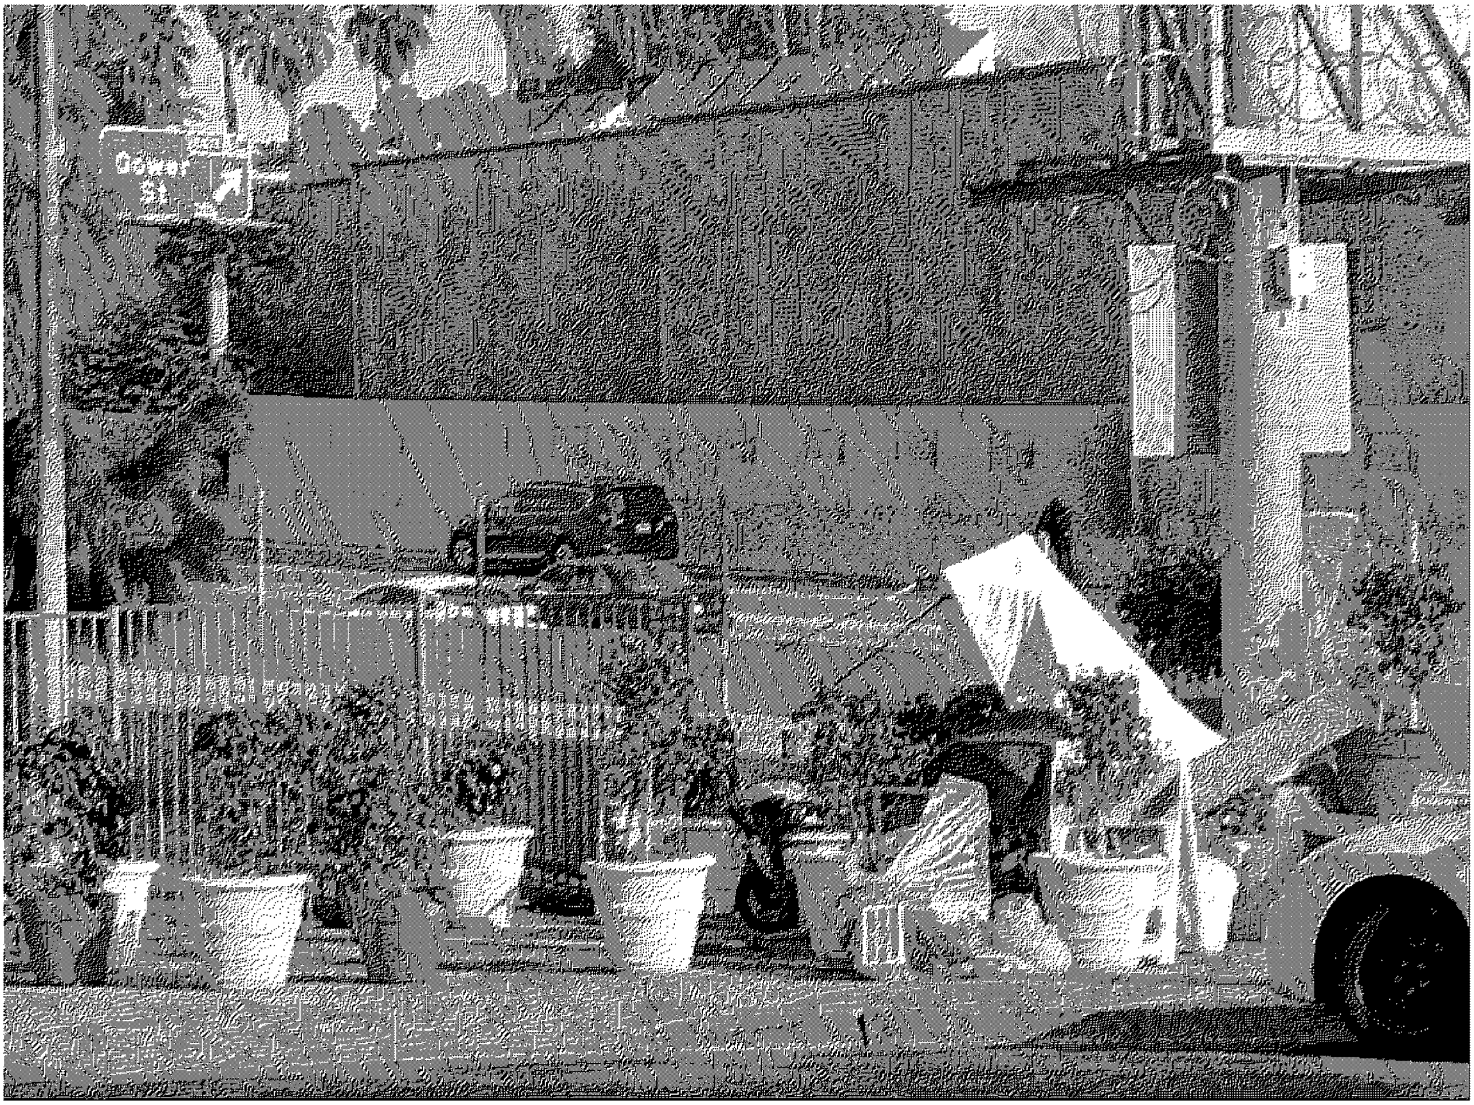
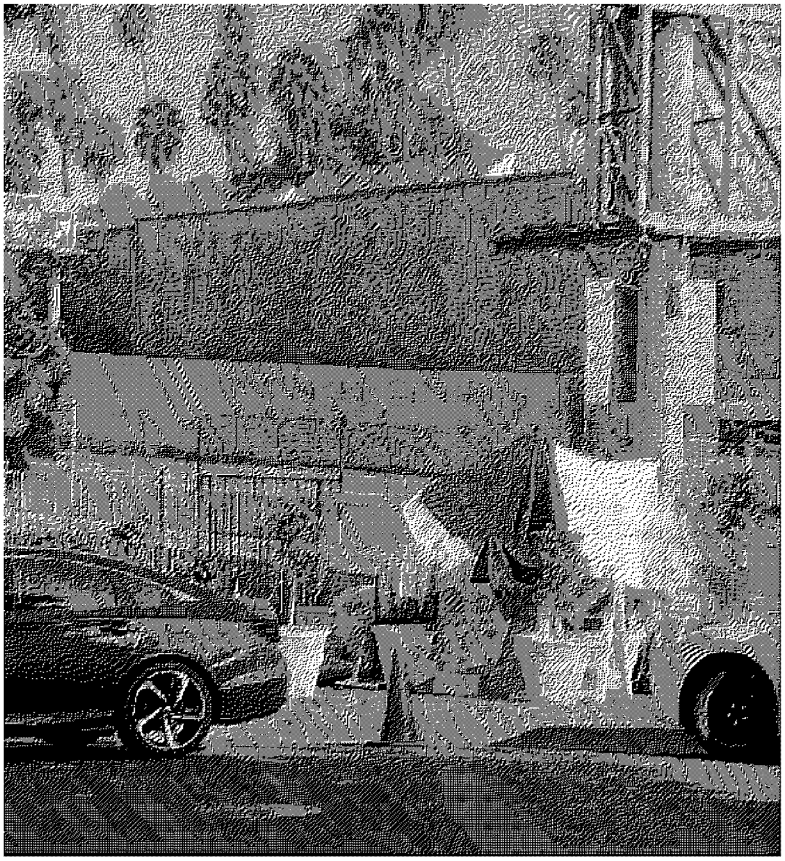
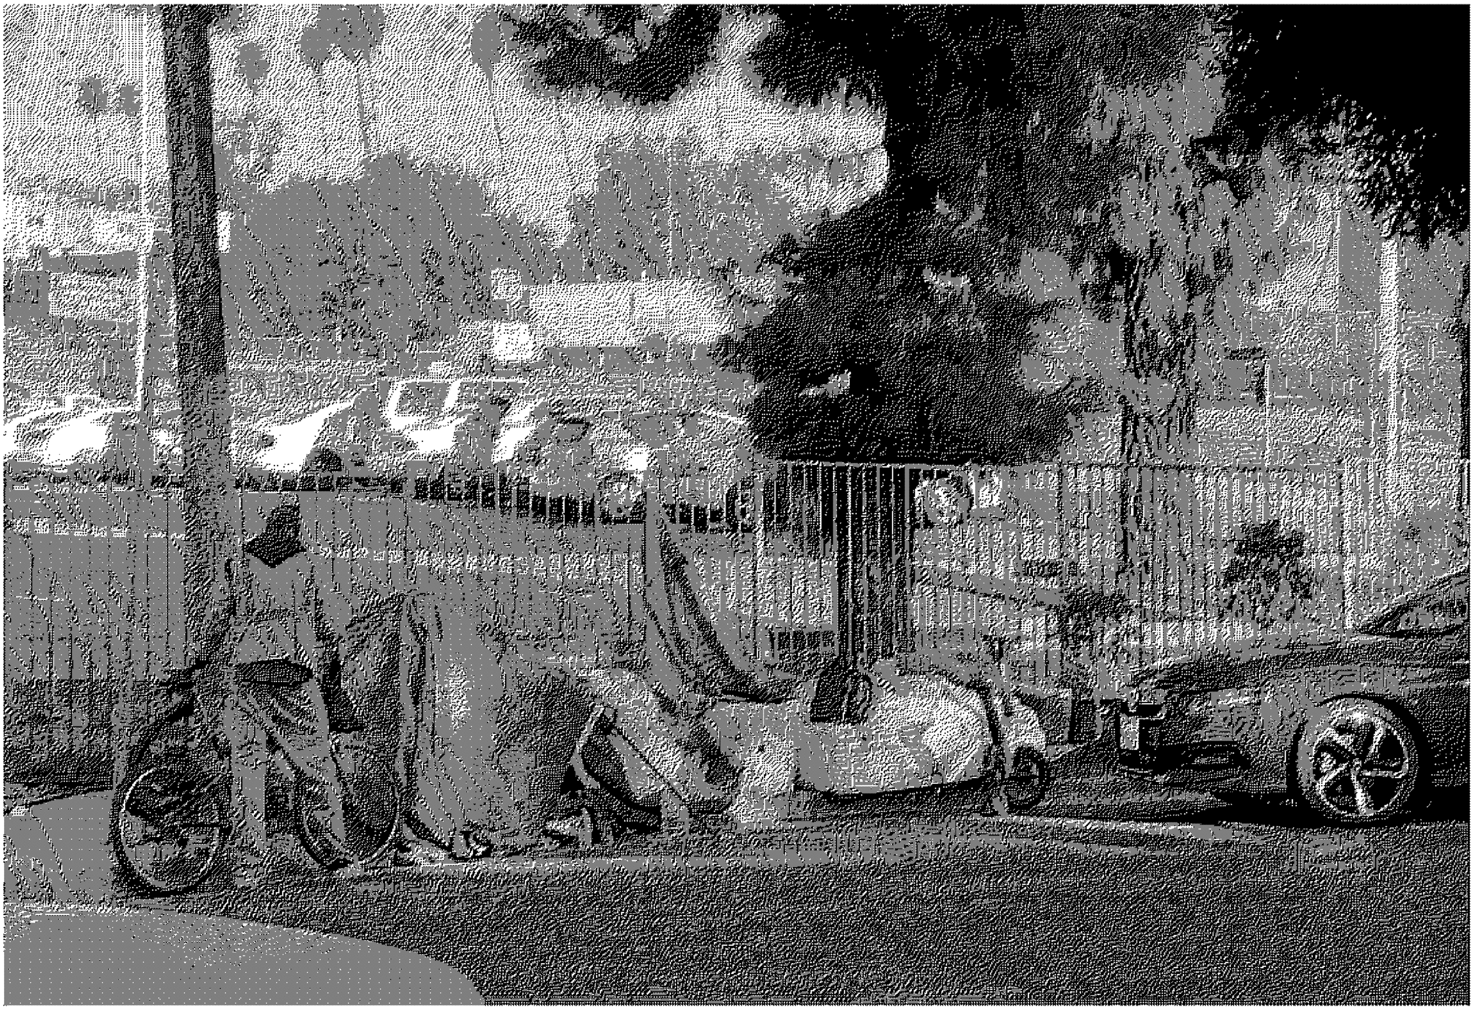
These transients will in the long run find themselves entrenched in this once-quiet-peaceful-and-clean residential area. We are still in the "Heart of Hollywood", (for crying out loud)...in a prime property location! ... Please do not forsake us...

We hope City Officials will find it in their hearts to do something (TODAY, right here, right now) for these poor transients, and for us as well...we are all human beings after all.







Hope Sanitation comes and gets rid of all these bulky items like mattresses, wood bundles and the like.
Do we really allow them? Including all the make-shift structures?

This week, in broad daylight, I saw a man beating a woman out on the sidewalk. They seemed to know each other. She fell to the floor, and he started kicking her. I called 911 though by the time the police showed up, they had both left the scene (her walking away visibly injured).

Regrettably, I'm not surprised that our predictions of the situation worsening are only coming true. I don't know what the breaking point has to be for the city to take action.

Someone just got stabbed (apparently with nail clippers) at the encampment on Carlos. :(

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place). Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

Another display of disrespect and utter disregard for reason. Isn't this justification enough for our city officials and LAPD to take them off our neighborhood?

On 8/29/2019 5:44 PM, Lopez, Steve wrote:

Interested in your thoughts:

I spoke to LAPD and went to the Carlos/Tamarind location yesterday for a brief look.

Would residents of Carlos/Tamarind say problems associated with encampments, drugs and noise are equally distributed among those camped near the entrance on Tamarind and the younger folks camped on Carlos? Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of the tents on the south side of Carlos. He was chased out, got punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn't feel safe.

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

Understandably, this is not the kind of scene anybody would want on the street they live on.

I'm just wondering if residents think the answer is more police presence, more rehab and housing, more intervention by social workers, all of the above, or something else.

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people,

The fact that the transients are encroaching on the whole of the sidewalk and onto the street, leaving no allowance for pedestrians to walk on by, and the fact that the structure they erected touches (and damages) the "Dead End Official City Street Sign", is already a violation.
Can we hear from concerned City Officials and Law Enforcement please?

> For a long time now, we have been patiently waiting for the promised bridge housing to relocate the encampment on Carlos and Tamarind. Updates we receive from Council member O'Farrell are encouraging on paper but totally different from what's happening in our neighborhood. Sad to say, the encampment next to us which is within his district should be given priority but is not. We feel neglected, abandoned and made to suffer even more each day. We seem to think that our area has been declared the destination for new transients.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

The good news is there's a big clean up there with a big Sanitation truck and some law enforcement around as we speak. At least there's some glimmer of hope (hope against hope, again...).

I heard yelling for 10 minutes then saw a large police presence. There's still a lot to be done around. It needs to be enforced that this is not a adequate location to loaf. 70 percent out there are able bodied.

Someone just got stabbed (apparently with nail clippers) at the encampment on Carlos. :(

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place).

Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

Do you really allow these transients to stay right in front of our building, let alone enable them to do their "business" there? They're not really in a tent, but in a dirty make-shift one that looks more like "shanties" in some "really depressed areas". Our tenants pay too much rent, for our authorities to tolerate their presence there.

Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of the tents on the south side of Carlos. He was chased out, got punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn't feel safe.

I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

scene anybody would want on the street they live on.

I'm just wondering if residents think the answer is more police presence, more rehab and housing, more intervention by social workers, all of the above, or something else.

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

> Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people, and loose dogs so that there's no way past them without walking in the street. Recently I've been followed by one of the men, seen another woman being followed/harassed, had another guy expose himself and start masturbating when I walked past, and have seen and heard regular violent attacks, from bloody beatings with weapons, taser threats, smashing glass, screams/shouting after a pepper spraying, and animal cruelty (beating and dragging the dogs) - all right outside my home. :(This felt like a safe area once but definitely not any more.

> Are there more people living on the street?

Yes. Many more, and spreading into surrounding streets where there were zero tents only a few years ago.

> Is there more trash?

Yes. I no longer invite friends over to visit because our street is often an absolute disgrace (and the bronson/carlos entrance is an open toilet, and on a hot day it makes people cover their mouths and want to vomit with the stench).

> Is meth changing the situation for the worse?

I'm not sure. As I don't witness it firsthand, it's hard to say - there seems to be cycles of wasted/crazy-acting people who come and go.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?!

I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.
None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It’s one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

Hi Frank and Bethelwel-- I hope this email finds you well. George in our office has a CPRA to fulfill involving the Church of Scientology. A nearby resident of the church location in question raised concerns early on -- fearing retribution by the church if this specific concern was every day-lighted. There are very few residents on L Ron Hubbard Ave -- so the church will be able to decipher who this is. Most of the people who live on this street belong to the church.
Do we have any protection in redacting this info for the public record?

Hi George,
I wrote it down for you.

After repeated calls to our housing investigator Brenda Davis, we finally spoke last week.

She admitted that the information she gave me on the initial call to go over the complaints of all 4 tenants in the building — that there is a "church exemption" that trumps the normal Ellis Act exemptions and allows a church to oust tenants in just 60 days with $0 relocation assistance — was indeed untrue.

Her excuse for providing me with such incorrect information...a quick song and dance about subsequent to my repeated queries seeking further information about this "church exemption" that she needed to clarify it with her manager, and that what she said only applied to a vacant apartment blah blah blah, and that now that I have my update…"let's move on".

And the reason she didn't get back to me sooner was she needed to "clarify with her manager", she went on vacation, she was busy, and that my case wasn't a priority because we hadn't actually received an eviction notice. She let us hang with undeniable fear-raising information…that because the landlord wouldn't have to abide by the Ellis Act, that if we didn't accept their "cash for keys" offer — we could be evicted even quicker and with zero relocation assistance.

4 tenants relying on her word. The threat of eviction in of itself is frightening enough, and the thought she purposefully put into our heads about having the RSO 120 day time period and specified relocation amount protections not apply to us because the landlord is simply a church would force any reasonable person to seriously consider agreeing to a cash for keys offer. And we almost started to rely on her word, but for a random thought in my head to read more about it online. When I couldn't find what she told me online, I reached out to her again and again, without hearing back from her, and her not immediately correcting her devastating misinformation, and her trying to quickly gloss over it after a month of my relentless follow up calls and emails…"let's move on"???

The Ellis Act law is crystal clear. Brenda Davis is not new to her job. She is not confused. She probably didn't confer with her supervisor. She probably hoped I would go away if she just ignored me.

This is malfeasance. By a government worker. Obvious conjecture for motive to lie is some kind of financial payment with Scientology.

If it is corruption, this is obviously unacceptable. Brenda Davis should be fired. That elderly tenants in RSO buildings are being lied to a government employee whose job it is to specifically help them understand their rights??? And it needs to be investigated whether she is handling all of the other 55 units in RSO buildings on L Ron Hubbard Way, and whether she has lied to those tenants. And obviously whether there is Scientology wrongdoing. This could be the tip of the iceberg and a huge scandal...

Mind you, this is me trying to put all 4 tenants' outrage into words (minus the colorful language).

Please forward this to your supervisor Marisol Rodriguez, and advise as to what Councilman Mitch O'Farrell intends to do about this violation of people's trust.

And just so we are clear, my name and my building address should be kept anonymous from Scientology. There is real fear of reprisal. Please commit to this.

Thank you,

Michael

I also spoke to Luis yesterday, and he and an attorney can meet with us to go over our rights. We'll make an appointment and hopefully all 4 units will go together.

Thanks for pressing Brenda...will let you know what she says.

Someone just got stabbed (apparently with nail clippers) at the encampment on Carlos. :(

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place).
Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

Do you really allow these transients to stay right in front of our building, let alone enable them to do their "business" there? They're not really in a tent, but in a dirty make-shift one that looks more like "shanties" in some "really depressed areas". Our tenants pay too much rent, for our authorities to tolerate their presence there.

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

> To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

> Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people, and loose dogs so that there's no way past them without walking in the street. Recently I've been followed by one of the men, seen another woman being followed/harassed, had another guy expose himself and start masturbating when I walked past, and have seen and heard regular violent attacks, from bloody beatings with weapons, taser threats, smashing glass, screams/shouting after a pepper spraying, and animal cruelty (beating and dragging the dogs) - all right outside my home. :(This felt like a safe area once but definitely not any more.

> Are there more people living on the street?

Yes. Many more, and spreading into surrounding streets where there were zero tents only a few years ago.

> Is there more trash?

Yes. I no longer invite friends over to visit because our street is often an absolute disgrace (and the bronson/carlos entrance is an open toilet, and on a hot day it makes people cover their mouths and want to vomit with the stench).

> Is meth changing the situation for the worse?

I'm not sure. As I don't witness it firsthand, it's hard to say - there seems to be cycles of wasted/crazy-acting people who come and go.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate.

Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?! I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.
None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

Someone just got stabbed (apparently with nail clippers) at the encampment on Carlos. :(

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place).

Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

Do you really allow these transients to stay right in front of our building, let alone enable them to do their "business" there? They're not really in a tent, but in a dirty make-shift one that looks more like "shanties" in some "really depressed areas". Our tenants pay too much rent, for our authorities to tolerate their presence there.

While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of the tents on the south side of Carlos. He was chased out, got punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn't feel safe.

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

> To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people, and loose dogs so that there's no way past them without walking in the street. Recently I've been followed by one of the men, seen another woman being followed/harassed, had another guy expose himself and start masturbating when I walked past, and have seen and heard regular violent attacks, from bloody beatings with weapons, taser threats, smashing glass, screams/shouting after a pepper spraying, and animal cruelty (beating and dragging the dogs) - all right outside my home. :(This felt like a safe area once but definitely not any more.

Are there more people living on the street?

Yes. Many more, and spreading into surrounding streets where there were zero tents only a few years ago.

Is there more trash?

Yes. I no longer invite friends over to visit because our street is often an absolute disgrace (and the bronson/carlos entrance is an open toilet, and on a hot day it makes people cover their mouths and want to vomit with the stench).

Is meth changing the situation for the worse?

I'm not sure. As I don't witness it firsthand, it's hard to say - there seems to be cycles of wasted/crazy-acting people who come and go.

We seem to think that our area has been declared the destination for new transients.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

Someone just got stabbed (apparently with nail clippers) at the encampment on Carlos. :(

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place).
Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

Do you really allow these transients to stay right in front of our building, let alone enable them to do their "business" there? They're not really in a tent, but in a dirty make-shift one that looks more like "shanties" in some "really depressed areas". Our tenants pay too much rent, for our authorities to tolerate their presence there.

Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of the tents on the > south side of Carlos. He was chased out, got punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn't feel safe.

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

> I'm just wondering if residents think the answer is more police presence, more rehab and housing, more intervention by social workers, all of the above, or something else.

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

> To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

> Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people, and loose dogs so that there's no way past them without walking in the street. Recently I've been followed by one of the men, seen another woman being followed/harassed, had another guy expose himself and start masturbating when I walked past, and have seen and heard regular violent attacks, from bloody beatings with weapons, taser threats, smashing glass, screams/shouting after a pepper spraying, and animal cruelty (beating and dragging the dogs) - all right outside my home. :(This felt like a safe area once but definitely not any more.

Are there more people living on the street?

Yes. Many more, and spreading into surrounding streets where there were zero tents only a few years ago.

Is there more trash?

Yes. I no longer invite friends over to visit because our street is often an absolute disgrace (and the bronson/carlos entrance is an open toilet, and on a hot day it makes people cover their mouths and want to vomit with the stench).

Is meth changing the situation for the worse?

I'm not sure. As I don't witness it firsthand, it's hard to say - there seems to be cycles of wasted/crazy-acting people who come and go.

Sad to say, the encampment next to us which is within his district should be given priority but is not. We feel neglected, abandoned and made to suffer even more each day. We seem to think that our area has been declared the destination for new transients.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that’s the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It’s one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

We can probably start doing escorts up to the cars again if needed. I suggest turning on video capture before you go to your car if you have to park on the street in the neighborhood.

I heard yelling for 10 minutes then saw a large police presence. There's still a lot to be done around. It needs to be enforced that this is not a adequate location to loaf. 70 percent out there are able bodied.

Someone just got stabbed (apparently with nail clippers) at the encampment on Carlos. :(

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place).
Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

Do you really allow these transients to stay right in front of our building, let alone enable them to do their "business" there? They're not really in a tent, but in a dirty make-shift one that looks more like "shanties" in some "really depressed areas". Our tenants pay too much rent, for our authorities to tolerate their presence there.

Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one

One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn't feel safe.

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

> I'm just wondering if residents think the answer is more police presence, more rehab and housing, more intervention by social workers, all of the above, or something else.

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

> To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

> Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people, and loose dogs so that there's no way past them without walking in the street. Recently I've been followed by one of the men, seen another woman being followed/harassed, had another guy expose himself and start masturbating when I walked past, and have seen and heard regular violent attacks, from bloody beatings with weapons, taser threats, smashing glass, screams/shouting after a pepper spraying, and animal cruelty (beating and dragging the dogs) - all right outside my home. :(This felt like a safe area once but definitely not any more.

Are there more people living on the street?

Yes. Many more, and spreading into surrounding streets where there were zero tents only a few years ago.

Is there more trash?

Yes. I no longer invite friends over to visit because our street is often an absolute disgrace (and the bronson/carlos entrance is an open toilet, and on a hot day it makes people cover their mouths and want to vomit with the stench).

Is meth changing the situation for the worse?

I'm not sure. As I don't witness it firsthand, it's hard to say - there seems to be cycles of wasted/crazy-acting people who come and go.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$

Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?! I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.

I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

I heard yelling for 10 minutes then saw a large police presence. There's still a lot to be done around. It needs to be enforced that this is not a adequate location to loaf. 70 percent out there are able bodied.

Someone just got stabbed (apparently with nail clippers) at the encampment on Carlos. :(

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place). Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

Do you really allow these transients to stay right in front of our building, let alone enable them to do their "business" there? They're not really in a tent, but in a dirty make-shift one that looks more like "shanties" in some "really depressed areas". Our tenants pay too much rent, for our authorities to tolerate their presence there.

We reported this two days ago, and again yesterday, but NOTHING apparently has been done about it!

Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of the tents on the > south side of Carlos. He was chased out, got punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn't feel safe.

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

> I'm just wondering if residents think the answer is more police presence, more rehab and housing, more intervention by social workers, all of the above, or something else.

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

> To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

> Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people, and loose dogs so that there's no way past them without walking in the street. Recently I've been followed by one of the men, seen another woman being followed/harassed, had another guy expose himself and start masturbating when I walked past, and have seen and heard regular violent attacks, from bloody beatings with weapons, taser threats, smashing glass, screams/shouting after a pepper spraying, and animal cruelty (beating and dragging the dogs) - all right outside my home. :(This felt like a safe area once but definitely not any more.

Are there more people living on the street?

Yes. Many more, and spreading into surrounding streets where there were zero tents only a few years ago.

Is there more trash?

Yes. I no longer invite friends over to visit because our street is often an absolute disgrace (and the bronson/carlos entrance is an open toilet, and on a hot day it makes people cover their mouths and want to vomit with the stench).

Is meth changing the situation for the worse?

I'm not sure. As I don't witness it firsthand, it's hard to say - there seems to be cycles of wasted/crazy-acting people who come and go.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

So, they came, we thank them and they did NOTHING. Everything was lifted off the street but allowed to be stationed into the corner and the sidewalk.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?! I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.
None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

I heard yelling for 10 minutes then saw a large police presence. There's still a lot to be done around. It needs to be enforced that this is not a adequate location to loaf. 70 percent out there are able bodied.

Someone just got stabbed (apparently with nail clippers) at the encampment on Carlos. :(

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place).
Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

Do you really allow these transients to stay right in front of our building, let alone enable them to do their "business" there? They're not really in a tent, but in a dirty make-shift one that looks more like "shanties" in some "really depressed areas". Our tenants pay too much rent, for our authorities to tolerate their presence there.

Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of the tents on the > south side of Carlos. He was chased out, got punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn't feel safe.

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

> To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

> Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people, and loose dogs so that there's no way past them without walking in the street. Recently I've been followed by one of the men, seen another woman being followed/harassed, had another guy expose himself and start masturbating when I walked past, and have seen and heard regular violent attacks, from bloody beatings with weapons, taser threats, smashing glass, screams/shouting after a pepper spraying, and animal cruelty (beating and dragging the dogs) - all right outside my home. :(This felt like a safe area once but definitely not any more.

Are there more people living on the street?

Yes. Many more, and spreading into surrounding streets where there were zero tents only a few years ago.

Is there more trash?

Yes. I no longer invite friends over to visit because our street is often an absolute disgrace (and the bronson/carlos entrance is an open toilet, and on a hot day it makes people cover their mouths and want to vomit with the stench).

Is meth changing the situation for the worse?

I'm not sure. As I don't witness it firsthand, it's hard to say - there seems to be cycles of wasted/crazy-acting people who come and go.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

So, they came, we thank them and they did NOTHING. Everything was lifted off the street but allowed to be stationed into the corner and the sidewalk.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?! I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.
None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

Thank You very much, Juan Mejia. We appreciate you and yes, there is a heroic act. You are one and there is many of them. And we don't know if they have any weapons. We hope not.
Jordan, from our building, relocated from this area because he was robbed at the gunpoint.

Thank You for stepping out for all of us.

I heard yelling for 10 minutes then saw a large police presence. There's still a lot to be done around. It needs to be enforced that this is not a adequate location to loaf. 70 percent out there are able bodied.

Someone just got stabbed (apparently with nail clippers) at the encampment on Carlos. :(

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place).
Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

Do you really allow these transients to stay right in front of our building, let alone enable them to do their "business" there? They're not really in a tent, but in a dirty make-shift one that looks more like "shanties" in some "really depressed areas". Our tenants pay too much rent, for our authorities to tolerate their presence there.

Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

> To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

> Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people, and loose dogs so that there's no way past them without walking in the street. Recently I've been followed by one of the men, seen another woman being followed/harassed, had another guy expose himself and start masturbating when I walked past, and have seen and heard regular violent attacks, from bloody beatings with weapons, taser threats, smashing glass, screams/shouting after a pepper spraying, and animal cruelty (beating and dragging the dogs) - all right outside my home. :(This felt like a safe area once but definitely not any more.

Are there more people living on the street?

Yes. Many more, and spreading into surrounding streets where there were zero tents only a few years ago.

Is there more trash?

Yes. I no longer invite friends over to visit because our street is often an absolute disgrace (and the bronson/carlos entrance is an open toilet, and on a hot day it makes people cover their mouths and want to vomit with the stench).

Is meth changing the situation for the worse?

I'm not sure. As I don't witness it firsthand, it's hard to say - there seems to be cycles of wasted/crazy-acting people who come and go.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?! I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.
None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

We all are just on the edge with all of this. We truly can not take it anymore. This little corner became a small village, who knows what is going on??!

"The man in white shirt now leaving the area after their business deal". We're not really so sure of what's happening that's why we're asking authorities to go look into it please.

Do you really allow these transients to stay right in front of our building, let alone enable them to do their "business" there? They're not really in a tent, but in a dirty make-shift one that looks more like "shanties" in some "really depressed areas". Our tenants pay too much rent, for our authorities to tolerate their presence there.

We reported this two days ago, and again yesterday, but NOTHING apparently has been done about it!

Hi Steve, tried to answer some of your questions within the text of your email below. Hope this helps.

On 8/29/2019 5:44 PM, Lopez, Steve wrote:

Interested in your thoughts:

I spoke to LAPD and went to the Carlos/Tamarind location yesterday for a brief look.

Would residents of Carlos/Tamarind say problems associated with encampments, drugs and noise are equally distributed among those camped near the entrance on Tamarind and the younger folks camped on Carlos? Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of the tents on the south side of Carlos. He was chased out, got punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn't feel safe.

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

Understandably, this is not the kind of scene anybody would want on the street they live on.

I'm just wondering if residents think the answer is more police presence, more rehab and housing, more intervention by social workers, all of the above, or something else.

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people, and loose dogs so that there's no way past them without walking in the street. Recently I've been followed by one of the men, seen another woman being followed/harassed, had another guy expose himself and start masturbating when I walked past, and have seen and heard regular violent attacks, from bloody beatings with weapons, taser threats, smashing glass, screams/shouting after a pepper spraying, and animal cruelty (beating and dragging the dogs) - all right outside my home. :(This felt like a safe area once but definitely not any more.

> Are there more people living on the street?

Yes. Many more, and spreading into surrounding streets where there were zero tents only a few years ago.

> Is there more trash?

Yes. I no longer invite friends over to visit because our street is often an absolute disgrace (and the bronson/carlos entrance is an open toilet, and on a hot day it makes people cover their mouths and want to vomit with the stench).

> Is meth changing the situation for the worse?

I'm not sure. As I don't witness it firsthand, it's hard to say - there seems to be cycles of wasted/crazy-acting people who come and go.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

So, they came, we thank them and they did NOTHING. Everything was lifted off the street but allowed to be stationed into the corner and the sidewalk.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?! I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.
None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

Subject: Re: NEW ENCAMPMENT AT TAMARIND AVENUE RIGHT IN FRONT OF OUR BUILDING

Someone just got stabbed (apparently with nail clippers) at the encampment on Carlos. :(

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place).

Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

Do you really allow these transients to stay right in front of our building, let alone enable them to do their "business" there? They're not really in a tent, but in a dirty make-shift one that looks more like "shanties" in some "really depressed areas". Our tenants pay too much rent, for our authorities to tolerate their presence there.

We reported this two days ago, and again yesterday, but NOTHING apparently has been done about it!

I spoke to LAPD and went to the Carlos/Tamarind location yesterday for a brief look.

Would residents of Carlos/Tamarind say problems associated with encampments, drugs and noise are equally distributed among those camped near the entrance on Tamarind and the younger folks camped on Carlos? Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of the tents on the south side of Carlos. He was chased out, got punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn’t feel safe.

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

> I'm just wondering if residents think the answer is more police presence, more rehab and housing, more intervention by social workers, all of the above, or something else.

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

> To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people, and loose dogs so that there's no way past them without walking in the street. Recently I've been followed by one of the men, seen another woman being followed/harassed, had another guy expose himself and start masturbating when I walked past, and have seen and heard regular violent attacks, from bloody beatings with weapons, taser threats, smashing glass, screams/shouting after a pepper spraying, and animal cruelty (beating and dragging the dogs) - all right outside my home. :(This felt like a safe area once but definitely not any more.

Are there more people living on the street?

Yes. Many more, and spreading into surrounding streets where there were zero tents only a few years ago.

Is there more trash?

Yes. I no longer invite friends over to visit because our street is often an absolute disgrace (and the bronson/carlos entrance is an open toilet, and on a hot day it makes people cover their mouths and want to vomit with the stench).

Is meth changing the situation for the worse?

I'm not sure. As I don't witness it firsthand, it's hard to say - there seems to be cycles of wasted/crazy-acting people who come and go.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?!

I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.
None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

So, they came, we thank them and they did NOTHING. Everything was lifted off the street but allowed to be stationed into the corner and the sidewalk.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?! I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.
None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

The litter left outside is also bringing more rats and making them bold. For the first time ever, we had a rat just walk into our apartment through the open window recently, in the middle of the day.
Windows which we now have to keep closed (without aircon) most days, even or eapecially on hot days, as we run home businesses and the noise, constant partying and screaming of the n-word 30x a day outside the window makes it impossible to work.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

Subject: Re: NEW ENCAMPMENT AT TAMARIND AVENUE RIGHT IN FRONT OF OUR BUILDING

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place).

Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

Do you really allow these transients to stay right in front of our building, let alone enable them to do their "business" there? They're not really in a tent, but in a dirty make-shift one that looks more like "shanties" in some "really depressed areas". Our tenants pay too much rent, for our authorities to tolerate their presence there.

Interested in your thoughts:

I spoke to LAPD and went to the Carlos/Tamarind location yesterday for a brief look.

Would residents of Carlos/Tamarind say problems associated with encampments, drugs and noise are equally distributed among those camped near the entrance on Tamarind and the younger folks camped on Carlos? Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of the tents on the south side of Carlos. He was chased out, got punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn't feel safe.

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

> Understandably, this is not the kind of scene anybody would want on the street they live on.
> I'm just wondering if residents think the answer is more police presence, more rehab and housing, more intervention by social workers, all of the above, or something else.

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

> To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people, and loose dogs so that there's no way past them without walking in the street. Recently I've been followed by one of the men, seen another woman being followed/harassed, had another guy expose himself and start masturbating when I walked past, and have seen and heard regular violent attacks, from bloody beatings with weapons, taser threats, smashing glass, screams/shouting after a pepper spraying, and animal cruelty (beating and dragging the dogs) - all right outside my home. :(This felt like a safe area once but definitely not any more.

Are there more people living on the street?

Yes. Many more, and spreading into surrounding streets where there were zero tents only a few years ago.

Is there more trash?

Yes. I no longer invite friends over to visit because our street is often an absolute disgrace (and the bronson/carlos entrance is an open toilet, and on a hot day it makes people cover their mouths and want to vomit with the stench).

Is meth changing the situation for the worse?

I'm not sure. As I don't witness it firsthand, it's hard to say - there seems to be cycles of wasted/crazy-acting people who come and go.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

So, they came, we thank them and they did NOTHING. Everything was lifted off the street but allowed to be stationed into the corner and the sidewalk.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?!

I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.

None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place).

Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

Do you really allow these transients to stay right in front of our building, let alone enable them to do their "business" there? They're not really in a tent, but in a dirty make-shift one that looks more like "shanties" in some "really depressed areas". Our tenants pay too much rent, for our authorities to tolerate their presence there.

Interested in your thoughts:

I spoke to LAPD and went to the Carlos/Tamarind location yesterday for a brief look.

Would residents of Carlos/Tamarind say problems associated with encampments, drugs and noise are equally distributed among those camped near the entrance on Tamarind and the younger folks camped on Carlos? Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of the tents on the south side of Carlos. He was chased out, got punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn't feel safe.

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

> I'm just wondering if residents think the answer is more police presence, more rehab and housing, more intervention by social workers, all of the above, or something else.

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

> To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

> Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people, and loose dogs so that there's no way past them without walking in the street. Recently I've been followed by one of the men, seen another woman being followed/harassed, had another guy expose himself and start masturbating when I walked past, and have seen and heard regular violent attacks, from bloody beatings with weapons, taser threats, smashing glass, screams/shouting after a pepper spraying, and animal cruelty (beating and dragging the dogs) - all right outside my home. :(This felt like a safe area once but definitely not any more.

Are there more people living on the street?

Yes. Many more, and spreading into surrounding streets where there were zero tents only a few years ago.

Is there more trash?

Yes. I no longer invite friends over to visit because our street is often an absolute disgrace (and the bronson/carlos entrance is an open toilet, and on a hot day it makes people cover their mouths and want to vomit with the stench).

Is meth changing the situation for the worse?

I'm not sure. As I don't witness it firsthand, it's hard to say - there seems to be cycles of wasted/crazy-acting people who come and go.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?!

I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.

None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

All your observations, Steve, ring true. The homelessness here has gotten worse over the years. We have not been given any solid form of help or hope in the last two to three years when this horrible situation in our streets all began. We feel abandoned and hopeless to an unconceivable point!
We really think we need representation beginning at least from the Council level for some policy changes but we have none...

And what we get are mostly rhetorics.

Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of the tents on the south side of Carlos. He was chased out, got punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn't feel safe.

Interested in your thoughts:

I spoke to LAPD and went to the Carlos/Tamarind location yesterday for a brief look.
Would residents of Carlos/Tamarind say problems associated with encampments, drugs and noise are equally distributed among those camped near the entrance on Tamarind and the younger folks camped on Carlos? Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of the tents on the south side of Carlos. He was chased out, got punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn't feel safe.

Understandably, this is not the kind of scene anybody would want on the street they live on.
I'm just wondering if residents think the answer is more police presence, more rehab and housing, more intervention by social workers, all of the above, or something else.
To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?
Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?
Are there more people living on the street?
Is there more trash?
Is meth changing the situation for the worse?

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

Check out if your registration is active and accurate as well, as early as today.

We definitely need some serious policy changes and proactive leadership.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

So, they came, we thank them and they did NOTHING. Everything was lifted off the street but allowed to be stationed into the corner and the sidewalk.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?! I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.
None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place).

Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

Do you really allow these transients to stay right in front of our building, let alone enable them to do their "business" there? They're not really in a tent, but in a dirty make-shift one that looks more like "shanties" in some "really depressed areas". Our tenants pay too much rent, for our authorities to tolerate their presence there.

Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of the tents on the south side of Carlos. He was chased out, got punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn't feel safe.

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people, and loose dogs so that there's no way past them without walking in the street. Recently I've been followed by one of the men, seen another woman being followed/harassed, had another guy expose himself and start masturbating when I walked past, and have seen and heard regular violent attacks, from bloody beatings with weapons, taser threats, smashing glass, screams/shouting after a pepper spraying, and animal cruelty (beating and dragging the dogs) - all right outside my home. :(This felt like a safe area once but definitely not any more.

Are there more people living on the street?

Yes. Many more, and spreading into surrounding streets where there were zero tents only a few years ago.

Is there more trash?

Yes. I no longer invite friends over to visit because our street is often an absolute disgrace (and the bronson/carlos entrance is an open toilet, and on a hot day it makes people cover their mouths and want to vomit with the stench).

Is meth changing the situation for the worse?

I'm not sure. As I don't witness it firsthand, it's hard to say - there seems to be cycles of wasted/crazy-acting people who come and go.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

So, they came, we thank them and they did NOTHING. Everything was lifted off the street but allowed to be stationed into the corner and the sidewalk.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?!

I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.
None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Coincidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

Also note, the woman behind the large orange umbrella (near the entrance on Tamarind) has a baseball bat as a weapon, and I've seen her wielding it frequently (including this morning while the stabbing confrontation took place).

Beware.

In more positive news, the loud group who were spending every day partying/trashing/screaming on the corner outside Tamarind 1756 every day for the last few months have not been there for like 5 days straight??? We have been able to sleep and work -- and hear the birds again! I had forgotten what it's like to live with such peace. Amazing.

Thank you to anyone involved in moving this group away from our homes/windows. The fact I'm writing this while the police are outside due to a stabbing is ironic and shows there is still a LOT of work to do, but helping us residents who live here have any break from the 24/7 screaming/partying and profanity is something to be grateful for.

Do you really allow these transients to stay right in front of our building, let alone enable them to do their "business" there? They're not really in a tent, but in a dirty make-shift one that looks more like "shanties" in some "really depressed areas". Our tenants pay too much rent, for our authorities to tolerate their presence there.

Interested in your thoughts:

I spoke to LAPD and went to the Carlos/Tamarind location yesterday for a brief look.

Would residents of Carlos/Tamarind say problems associated with encampments, drugs and noise are equally distributed among those camped near the entrance on Tamarind and the younger folks camped on Carlos? Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of the tents on the south side of Carlos. He was chased out, got punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn’t feel safe.

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

> To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

> Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people, and loose dogs so that there's no way past them without walking in the street. Recently I've been followed by one of the men, seen another woman being followed/harassed, had another guy expose himself and start masturbating when I walked past, and have seen and heard regular violent attacks, from bloody beatings with weapons, taser threats, smashing glass, screams/shouting after a pepper spraying, and animal cruelty (beating and dragging the dogs) - all right outside my home. :(This felt like a safe area once but definitely not any more.

Are there more people living on the street?

Yes. Many more, and spreading into surrounding streets where there were zero tents only a few years ago.

Is there more trash?

Yes. I no longer invite friends over to visit because our street is often an absolute disgrace (and the bronson/carlos entrance is an open toilet, and on a hot day it makes people cover their mouths and want to vomit with the stench).

Is meth changing the situation for the worse?

I'm not sure. As I don't witness it firsthand, it's hard to say - there seems to be cycles of wasted/crazy-acting people who come and go.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

They clearly took down the no loitering signs that were posted behind the planters. That's why the police are not enforcing them to leave the end of the cul de sac. The signs need to be replaced immediately.

They're not really in a tent, but in a dirty make-shift one that looks more like "shanties" in some "really depressed areas". I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

> To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

> Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people, and loose dogs so that there's no way past them without walking in the street. Recently I've been followed by one of the men, seen another woman being followed/harassed, had another guy expose himself and start masturbating when I walked past, and have seen and heard regular violent attacks, from bloody beatings with weapons, taser threats, smashing glass, screams/shouting after a pepper spraying, and animal cruelty (beating and dragging the dogs) - all right outside my home. :(This felt like a safe area once but definitely not any more.

> Are there more people living on the street?

Yes. Many more, and spreading into surrounding streets where there were zero tents only a few years ago.

> Is there more trash?

Yes. I no longer invite friends over to visit because our street is often an absolute disgrace (and the bronson/carlos entrance is an open toilet, and on a hot day it makes people cover their mouths and want to vomit with the stench).

> Is meth changing the situation for the worse?

I'm not sure. As I don't witness it firsthand, it's hard to say - there seems to be cycles of wasted/crazy-acting people who come and go.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?! I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.
None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

That write up certainly points out the obvious. Unless action happens it's simply an article. We've all been hearing nothing but hot air from the City Of Los Angeles for years now -so again it's just a story that was written to suit whomever's agenda.

This isn't news to us, but seems like there is even more awareness of the city's issue:

If I'm being honest, I don't know much more we can do as LA residents. If anyone knows of more outreach we can do, maybe future elections that would impact this issue, this would probably be a great space to share it.

Please help us! We've sent you daily photos of feces and litter in the street, people urinating in public, people screaming and playing loud speakers outside our windows, and naked men walking outside our homes - but the only time we got a super fast response was when these people attached their structures to government property. ??

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

Wow... and the children can be seeing that. The kids that are going to school to church and the parents are parking on the parking lot. What's next?

So, they came, we thank them and they did NOTHING. Everything was lifted off the street but allowed to be stationed into the corner and the sidewalk.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?! I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.
None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

Also, sorry to send this, but this is what we have tlldeal with daily. This image is a huge, festering pile of human feces just meters from our apartments and next to our car parks. It's not the only one along our sidewalks.
The litter left outside is also bringing more rats and making them bold. For the first time ever, we had a rat just walk into our apartment through the open window recently, in the middle of the day.

Windows which we now have to keep closed (without aircon) most days, even or eapecially on hot days, as we run home businesses and the noise, constant partying and screaming of the n-word 30x a day outside the window makes it impossible to work.
Please come and help move these people (and their feces, trash and animals) away from our homes and businesses?
Bring hazmat suits.

Sad to say, the encampment next to us which is within his district should be given priority but is not. We feel neglected, abandoned and made to suffer even more each day. We seem to think that our area has been declared the destination for new transients.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

Subject: NEW ENCAMPMENT AT TAMARIND AVENUE RIGHT IN FRONT OF OUR BUILDING

For a long time now, we have been patiently waiting for the promised bridge housing to relocate the encampment on Carlos and Tamarind. Updates we receive from Council member O'Farrell are encouraging on paper but totally different from what's happening in our neighborhood. Sad to say, the encampment next to us which is within his district should be given priority but is not. We feel neglected, abandoned and made to suffer even more each day. We seem to think that our area has been declared the destination for new transients.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

Good afternoon,
While assigned to Hollywood's "Bridge Home" detail, we made contact with subject (Nagi Elhadary DOB: 11/27/1978) who has established a rather large homeless encampment right on the Hollywood Walk of Fame (Hollywood east of Cahuenga, on the north side). The subject was warned for 56.11 LAMC (Subject inside of a tent between 6am - 9pm). Nagi seems to have embedded himself on the Walk of Fame, and has multiple large bulky items, which is taking up approximately 3/4's of the width of the sidewalk.

Can you please have LAHSA representatives reach out to Nagi for any outreach, and please have the Rapid Response Team address this encampment before it grows much larger.

What do you make of this?

“Please check out what’s going on as we speak. There is a man in white shirt carrying a black plastic bag who visited the tent in the Cul de Sac and seems to be doing some ‘serious business’ with the transients.”

We reported this two days ago, and again yesterday, but NOTHING apparently has been done about it!

Seems like two different populations. A member of the latter group told me she tries to keep heavy duty drug users off her turf. While I was there, someone who was high and jumpy entered one of the tents on the south side of Carlos. He was chased out, got punched in the face and fell to the ground. When he got back to his feet, he was run off and told not to come back. One resident of the apartment building told me she is generally a live-and-let-live person but she doesn't feel safe.

I'm not sure, but the most established group on Carlos, directly across from the tamarind entrance, are the ones who drag all their stuff over to the Tamarind residences every daytime (after tents-down), including speakers to play their loud music, and then spend the day shrieking up and down the street, if not outright fighting with each other. I think the day you were here when they ran that guy off was, ironically, one of our quieter days. It seems quieter here this week then has been in months, poss due to this recent attention to the problems?

> I'm just wondering if residents think the answer is more police presence, more rehab and housing, more intervention by social workers, all of the above, or something else.

I think it has to be everything - the problem is way too big for any one solution to solve it. I'd never have thought just having homeless people around automatically needs policing, and I used to have a rule never to call LAPD unless it was an emergency (they have so much to do), but the last few years of living like this and seeing everything get worse has changed my view. Part of it is the social aspect - that these people, who of course are suffering themselves, seem to have utter disregard for everyone else around them. I know there are obvious reasons (they have to think of themselves first and cannot be kind to others until they fell safe and sheltered), but having reasons for shitty behavior doesn't make it acceptable or safe for anyone.

I think we should all be policed equally, so that LAPD should treat them in the same way they would any one of us if we walked over to the more gentrified neighborhood in the Hollywood foothills, stood outside some well-off family's beautiful yard, and simply screamed profanities, set up speakers and played loud music all day, threw trash, and food waste down, and used their property line as an open toilet. I don't think the LAPD would just shrug this off, and I don't think being homeless is an excuse for any of this either. They should not be harassed, but if the outreach and social workers can't also help them to be considerate and keep the peace with other people they share space with, then I guess yes, I guess the police must do it. Who else will? It's lame but true.

> To the extend you've had responses from city officials, what have you been told?

Not much - usually we just get repeated info about the regulations for when tents go up or down (which is not the issue). We had some proactive contact from Sergeant Gearney, who gave many of us a lot of hope, and her team was here regularly for a while and seemed to make a difference (because the homeless groups she had contact with were doing trash cleanups of their area and not partying directly outside people's apartments, and she also gave us some advice on how to make our streets less of a magnet for homeless), but there have been no neighborhood meetings by officials or real solutions offered that I know of.

> Also, how has this scene changed over the months and years?

It's gotten worse. When I moved in here four years ago, the area seemed nice and friendly, I could access the sidewalks freely and I felt safe. We had a few tents now and then, but sometimes nothing for months and rarely a whole encampment.

The last few months have been the worse, and almost unbearable (due to the constant noise, trash, profanity and feces). Every day I have to walk on the street (in moving traffic) to get around the homeless people who own the sidewalks directly outside our home. They fill the sidewalk with chairs, mattresses, trash, people, and loose dogs so that there's no way past them without walking in the street. Recently I've been followed by one of the men, seen another woman being followed/harassed, had another guy expose himself and start masturbating when I walked past, and have seen and heard regular violent attacks, from bloody beatings with weapons, taser threats, smashing glass, screams/shouting after a pepper spraying, and animal cruelty (beating and dragging the dogs) - all right outside my home. :(This felt like a safe area once but definitely not any more.

> Are there more people living on the street?

Yes. Many more, and spreading into surrounding streets where there were zero tents only a few years ago.

Is there more trash?

Yes. I no longer invite friends over to visit because our street is often an absolute disgrace (and the bronson/carlos entrance is an open toilet, and on a hot day it makes people cover their mouths and want to vomit with the stench).

Is meth changing the situation for the worse?

I'm not sure. As I don't witness it firsthand, it's hard to say - there seems to be cycles of wasted/crazy-acting people who come and go.

If I'm being honest, I don't know much more we can do as LA residents. If anyone knows of more outreach we can do, maybe future elections that would impact this issue, this would probably be a great space to share it.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

So, they came, we thank them and they did NOTHING. Everything was lifted off the street but allowed to be stationed into the corner and the sidewalk.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?! I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.
None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

Without rules, enforcement, and the City Of Los Angeles continuing to ignore the problems out there - you can expect the worst to come out there.

None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

Sad to say, the encampment next to us which is within his district should be given priority but is not. We feel neglected, abandoned and made to suffer even more each day. We seem to think that our area has been declared the destination for new transients.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

Good afternoon,
While assigned to Hollywood's "Bridge Home" detail, we made contact with subject (Nagi Elhadary DOB: 11/27/1978) who has established a rather large homeless encampment right on the Hollywood Walk of Fame (Hollywood east of Cahuenga, on the north side). The subject was warned for 56.11 LAMC (Subject inside of a tent between 6am - 9pm). Nagi seems to have embedded himself on the Walk of Fame, and has multiple large bulky items, which is taking up approximately 3/4's of the width of the sidewalk.

Can you please have LAHSA representatives reach out to Nagi for any outreach, and please have the Rapid Response Team address this encampment before it grows much larger.

Regards,

Police Officer III Gabriel Ruiz

Resource & Enforcement (CORE) Unit

For a long time now, we have been patiently waiting for the promised bridge housing to relocate the encampment on Carlos and Tamarind. Updates we receive from Council member O'Farrell are encouraging on paper but totally different from what's happening in our neighborhood. Sad to say, the encampment next to us which is within his district should be given priority but is not. We feel neglected, abandoned and made to suffer even more each day. We seem to think that our area has been declared the destination for new transients.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

Good morning Tony,
Yes, personal identifiable information may be redacted unless that information is germane to the underlying information of the document (ie. addresses on a petition needed to verify that the person signing is a stakeholder in that area). In your case, keeping identifying information found in a complaint would be perfectly appropriate to keep confidential.

There are very few residents on L Ron Hubbard Ave -- so the church will be able to decipher who this is. Most of the people who live on this street belong to the church. Do we have any protection in redacting this info for the public record?

Hi George,
I wrote it down for you.

After repeated calls to our housing investigator Brenda Davis, we finally spoke last week.

She admitted that the information she gave me on the initial call to go over the complaints of all 4 tenants in the building — that there is a "church exemption" that trumps the normal Ellis Act exemptions and allows a church to oust tenants in just 60 days with $0 relocation assistance — was indeed untrue.

Her excuse for providing me with such incorrect information...a quick song and dance about subsequent to my repeated queries seeking further information about this “church exemption" that she needed to clarify it with her manager, and that what she said only applied to a vacant apartment blah blah blah, and that now that I have my update…"let’s move on”.

And the reason she didn’t get back to me sooner was she needed to "clarify with her manager", she went on vacation, she was busy, and that my case wasn't a priority because we hadn't actually received an eviction notice. She let us hang with undeniable fear-raising information…that because the landlord wouldn't have to abide by the Ellis Act, that if we didn't accept their "cash for keys" offer — we could be evicted even quicker and with zero relocation assistance.

4 tenants relying on her word. The threat of eviction in of itself is frightening enough, and the thought she purposefully put into our heads about having the RSO 120 day time period and specified relocation amount protections not apply to us because the landlord is simply a church would force any reasonable person to seriously consider agreeing to a cash for keys offer. And we almost started to rely on her word, but for a random thought in my head to read more about it online. When I couldn't find what she told me online, I reached out to her again and again, without hearing back from her, and her not immediately correcting her devastating misinformation, and her trying to quickly gloss over it after a month of my relentless follow up calls and emails…"let's move on"???

The Ellis Act law is crystal clear. Brenda Davis is not new to her job. She is not confused. She probably didn't confer with her supervisor. She probably hoped I would go away if she just ignored me.

This is malfeasance. By a government worker. Obvious conjecture for motive to lie is some kind of financial payment with Scientology.

If it is corruption, this is obviously unacceptable. Brenda Davis should be fired. That elderly tenants in RSO buildings are being lied to a government employee whose job it is to specifically help them understand their rights??? And it needs to be investigated whether she is handling all of the other 55 units in RSO buildings on L Ron Hubbard Way, and whether she has lied to those tenants. And obviously whether there is Scientology wrongdoing. This could be the tip of the iceberg and a huge scandal...

Mind you, this is me trying to put all 4 tenants' outrage into words (minus the colorful language).

Please forward this to your supervisor Marisol Rodriguez, and advise as to what Councilman Mitch O'Farrell intends to do about this violation of people's trust.

And just so we are clear, my name and my building address should be kept anonymous from Scientology. There is real fear of reprisal. Please commit to this.

Thank you,

Michael

I also spoke to Luis yesterday, and he and an attorney can meet with us to go over our rights. We'll make an appointment and hopefully all 4 units will go together.

Thanks for pressing Brenda...will let you know what she says.

Essentially, the constituent wants ALL speaking notes provided to the Councilmember in 2018 and 2019. Per our previous conversation, I believe my including this in a previous request was erroneous, as these documents would be considered deliberative.

Assuming that is the case, how is this for responsive language:

"This request asks for documents that are part of the deliberative process, per Government Code Section 6254k. Therefore, the requested documents will be withheld. We are closing out this request."

Please advise. Thank you!

We seem to think that our area has been declared the destination for new transients.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

Hi Dan,
Yes, an exemption for deliberative process would absolutely be applicable for the terms of the request your office received. The language in your response is spot on. If you need any further affirmation or assistance, I am happy to assist.

best,
Frank

All 2018 and 2019 notes prepared for Mitch by staff like the one found in this emails:

NOTES for Thursday morning 4/19/18 - WeWork

Wed, Apr 18, 2018 at 9:25 PM
To: Councilmember Mitch O'Farrell <mitch.ofarrell@lacity.org>, Tony Arranaga <tony.arranaga@lacity.org>

Essentially, the constituent wants ALL speaking notes provided to the Councilmember in 2018 and 2019. Per our previous conversation, I believe my including this in a previous request was erroneous, as these documents would be considered deliberative.

Assuming that is the case, how is this for responsive language:

"This request asks for documents that are part of the deliberative process, per Government Code Section 6254k. Therefore, the requested documents will be withheld. We are closing out this request."

Please advise. Thank you!

2017_email_with_lasan_encampment_clean_sched.pdf

Hi Frank,

Another one (sorry!). Please see below. Adrian submitted this request in April 2019 and I had previously told him it would be completed by August 31, 2019. However, I'm wondering now if some of this request would be considered deliberative.

a) all emails from 2019 between CD13 staff and/or Mr. O'Farrell and Bladimir Campos

b) all emails in possession of CD13 containing HE schedules from LA San like in attached example with attachments in whatever format the attachments are in per the CPRA's requirement to provide electronic records in native format. Here it is the schedules I'm looking for so I only need one copy of each such email, in case they're sent to multiple staff.

I believe what he is looking for are emails between CD13 staff and LA Sanitation (Bladimir Campos) scheduling, or referring to scheduling of, CSLA (Clean Streets LA) days, as well as the schedules for those days. As you may know, on CSLA days, homeless encampments are cleaned and serviced, on an authorized schedule, following a period of unsuccessful outreach by service providers.

Are there any exemptions or withholding that can be requested of the above -- i.e. deliberative process? Obviously, CSLA cleanups are posted and visible to the public. Would the scheduling of those be covered in the deliberative process?

Thank you,

Maybe our authorities are afraid of them and maybe that is the only way to get them some support to finally protect us. I just can not believe that otherwise they would not do what it would be a proper thing to do and what they are supposed to do.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

So, they came, we thank them and they did NOTHING. Everything was lifted off the street but allowed to be stationed into the corner and the sidewalk.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?! I am assuming they never say anything like that.

streets.
None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

We seem to think that our area has been declared the destination for new transients.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

This isn't news to us, but seems like there is even more awareness of the city's issue: https://www.latimes.com/california/story/2019-08-27/homeless-audit-lahsa-outreach-performance

If I'm being honest, I don't know much more we can do as LA residents. If anyone knows of more outreach we can do, maybe future elections that would impact this issue, this would probably be a great space to share it.

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

So, they came, we thank them and they did NOTHING. Everything was lifted off the street but allowed to be stationed into the corner and the sidewalk.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?!

I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.

We seem to think that our area has been declared the destination for new transients.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. Please help us! We've sent you daily photos of feces and litter in the street, people urinating in public, people screaming and playing loud speakers outside our windows, and naked men walking outside our homes - but the only time we got a super fast response was when these people attached their structures to government property. ??

Neighbors, do you think we could get together to create an instagram account to share all these photos of the "Real Hollywood" and tag all the big corporates, tourist outlets and businesses in every photo and video of what's happening here. It seems like government representatives and police will actually show up in areas where there are big $$ businesses being affected but not when it's just decent local people asking to live without an open sewer and 24/7 party outside their front gate. Maybe we can help to show the tourists to Hollywood what it's really like here and ask the question of where all the big companies and industries are putting their profits and efforts at 'social good' if not to help their own neighborhood. It's like base level community effort.

Soon, we will have to beg them to please let us get to or from our parking lot and into the building from the street.
Young, strong people sitting or laying down the whole day long and waisting their strength and youth.

I truly do not understand how is all that allowed?!
I am a girl who works so hard to pay my rent and contribute to this society, as much as I can.
And I, or any of us just don't matter.

So, they came, we thank them and they did NOTHING. Everything was lifted off the street but allowed to be stationed into the corner and the sidewalk.

If authority says to me, 'You can not be here, on this very street, or in front of those windows, period. If I see you again, you will be arrested and transferred.' What do you think I would do?!
I am assuming they never say anything like that.

Unfortunately, it looks like, 'It's better to let them be here on those streets that are next to the freeway because those streets don't really count. As long as they are not on major streets.
None of this should be happening, but we are trapped with nowhere to go but to jump on the freeway in case of emergency. This is slowly getting totally out of control.

We seem to think that our area has been declared the destination for new transients.

Just four days ago, the little corner in the cul-de-sac in front of our building was occupied by a group of people without regard to the planters which we have been trying to care for over the years. I have attached pictures taken yesterday of the new tents between planters which have been damaged or used as support for their tents. Patrol cars were observed in the cul-de-sac yesterday but judging by what went after their visit, another tent went up on the sidewalk sometime later. We wonder if that's the confirmation of our suspicion that they were directed to camp out in that corner.

Last night, loud music and conversation could be heard coming from that corner. Co-incidentally, our locks to secure our electrical outlet and water pipes in front of our building were gone missing. Who else could we blame for it? Are these just a sample of what we can expect from this new encampment? These transients are a threat to our security and safety but being ignored by the authorities. Who else can we turn to? It's one thing to accept responsibility for the problem of homelessness in the city, doing something to address and resolve it is another. The longer you allow this to go unchecked and get out of control the more our City Officials should consider resigning to give others the chance to solve the problem they so allowed to be created.

Pursuant to my rights under the California Public Records Act (Government Code Section 6250 et seq.), I would like to inspect the following, which I understand to be held by your office:

Any emails involving staff members of Councilmember Mitch O'Farrell, and the Councilmember himself, relating to homeless encampment clean-ups, or service days (whatever your office is calling them now). You can exclude any emails with the LAPD, to make this easier. I'm interested particularly in how your office communicates internally about these clean-ups, otherwise known as "sweeps." Please include any emails sent from one staff member to another, or emails between a staff member and a constituent. Please include emails discussing how to communicate about these clean-ups with the general public and the media. Please include emails involving Councilmember O'Farrell's private email: mitchof13@gmail.com.

If you determine that any or all or the information qualifies for an exemption from disclosure, we ask you to note whether, as is normally the case under the CPRA, the exemption is discretionary, and if so whether it is necessary in this case to exercise your discretion to withhold the information.

If you determine that some but not all of the information is exempt from disclosure and that you intend to withhold it, I ask that you redact it for the time being and make the rest available as requested. In any event, please provide a signed notification citing the legal authorities on which you rely if you determine that any or all of the information is exempt and will not be disclosed.

I ask for a determination on this request within 10 days of your receipt of it, and an even prompter reply if you can make that determination without having to review the record[s] in question.

Subject: ATTORNEY CLIENT PRIVILEGE - Request 19-4353

Hi Frank,

We received this CPRA request:

All 2018 and 2019 notes prepared for Mitch by staff like the one found in this emails:

NOTES for Thursday morning 4/19/18 - WeWork
Dan Halden <daniel.halden@lacity.org>
Wed, Apr 18, 2018 at 9:25 PM
To: Councilmember Mitch O'Farrell <mitch.ofarrell@lacity.org>, Tony Arranaga <tony.arranaga@lacity.org>

Essentially, the constituent wants ALL speaking notes provided to the Councilmember in 2018 and 2019. Per our previous conversation, I believe my including this in a previous request was erroneous, as these documents would be considered deliberative.

Assuming that is the case, how is this for responsive language:

"This request asks for documents that are part of the deliberative process, per Government Code Section 6254k. Therefore, the requested documents will be withheld. We are closing out this request."

Please advise. Thank you!

Hi Tony,
You have a couple options with this request. You can ask the requester to provide more focused search terms related to "cleanups" or you can make that determination yourself based on terms that you believe are most appropriate or applicable. I would imagine the number of documents will be voluminous either way. Subject: Question re: CPRA request #19-4659

Hi Frank-
We have a request to provide documents for this topic. It seems broad -- do you think it's reasonable to ask the requester to narrow the search parameters?

Tony

Pursuant to my rights under the California Public Records Act (Government Code Section 6250 et seq.), I would like to inspect the following, which I understand to be held by your office:

Any emails involving staff members of Councilmember Mitch O'Farrell, and the Councilmember himself, relating to homeless encampment clean-ups, or service days (whatever your office is calling them now). You can exclude any emails with the LAPD, to make this easier. I'm interested particularly in how your office communicates internally about these clean-ups, otherwise known as "sweeps." Please include any emails sent from one staff member to another, or emails between a staff member and a constituent. Please include emails discussing how to communicate about these clean-ups with the general public and the media. Please include emails involving Councilmember O'Farrell's private email: mitchof13@gmail.com.

If you determine that any or all or the information qualifies for an exemption from disclosure, we ask you to note whether, as is normally the case under the CPRA, the exemption is discretionary, and if so whether it is necessary in this case to exercise your discretion to withhold the information.

If you determine that some but not all of the information is exempt from disclosure and that you intend to withhold it, I ask that you redact it for the time being and make the rest available as requested. In any event, please provide a signed notification citing the legal authorities on which you rely if you determine that any or all of the information is exempt and will not be disclosed.

I ask for a determination on this request within 10 days of your receipt of it, and an even prompter reply if you can make that determination without having to review the record[s] in question.

All Residents, 1756 and 1762 Tamarind Avenue:

LADOT Parking Permits Division has informed us that our Preferential Parking petition for Tamarind Avenue has been approved. Street signs have been ordered and are expected to be completed in 4-6 weeks and installed within 2-3 weeks. About a month from now, expect a notice from LADOT explaining the process on how to open an account and purchase permits. The above times are estimates so let's allow one or two weeks give or take. Also, please take note that the notice will be addressed to 'Current Resident' so be sure you don't discard it like any other mailers offering products or services.

At this point, we would like to thank everyone, especially Brian Agsten, who participated and contributed his or her time and effort for the completion of this project. We look forward to the great reward and benefits it will bring to both our residents and neighborhood.

Thank you.

Hi,

Thanks for your help.

Per my rights under the California Public Records Act, please prove all email correspondence with any staff in the mayor's office, including Greg Good and Christina Miller, that mention Garcetti's "Bridge Home" shelter program or variation on that name, for the following time period: April 1, 2018 to Jul 2, 2019.

Please include any correspondence between your office and the mayor's office on discussions about sites for the shelters, progress on construction and any other issues related to the Bridge Home program.

Thanks. I can be reached at: 818-798-8011 if you have any questions.

Best,
Dakota

You don't necessarily need to start printing out and redacting just yet; please do a search and let me know if anything comes up. If anything DOES come up, please give me a ballpark of how many emails. An estimate is fine.

Good morning, Mr. Arranaga.

I'm working on a story about CPRA compliance in the City of Los Angeles and am hoping to get a quote from your office. Here's the background:

1. The CPRA requires public agencies to supply copies of electronic records in native electronic format.

2. In February 2015 Dan Halden told me that the City's Gmail system prevented users from doing this and that the only means available to the City for CPRA production of emails was to print them on paper. See attached copy of his email.

3. At the time this was not true for Gmail in general, and I have since learned that it is specifically also not true for City Gmail. At present City users are perfectly able to export emails in MBOX format just as all Gmail users have been able to do for many years. For instance, CD12 fulfills CPRA requests for email by having each staff member export emails as MBOX from their Gmail accounts. See, just for instance, the attached instructions prepared by CD12 staffer Colin Sweeney.

So my questions are:

a. What steps did Mr. Halden take to verify his 2015 statement about City Gmail export capabilities?

b. Was his statement in fact true when he made it?

c. What is CD13's current process for producing emails in electronic format in response to CPRA requests?

I am not exactly on deadline with this, Mr. Arranaga, but I would appreciate a fairly prompt response. I won't publish before Saturday morning, if you want to get a quote in.

Thanks for your time, Mr. Arranaga!

Adrian

Dear Mr. Riskin,

The City's Google-based email system prevents the end user from exporting electronic copies of emails, nor does the system allow for emails to be forwarded as attachments. The only way to process your request was to print paper copies.

See you on Wednesday.

We have received a Public records request to conduct a search of all email accounts and devices for communication relating to a few issues.

To make it easier for everyone follow these steps exactly (NOTE: There are two parts requiring you to capture the emails as well as attachments)

PART 1:

1. In your gmail search bar, copy and paste the full search command below:

{"transient" "zombie" "zombies" "AB516" "Fern White" "Peskin" "blazi" from:36253@lapd.lacity.org to:36253@lapd.lacity.org from:34218@lapd.lacity.org to:34218@lapd.lacity.org from:34920@lapd.lacity.org to:34920@lapd.lacity.org}

2. In box at upper left click to select all

3. You've only selected everything on this page you need to continue to select or deselect all items dated in 2019. ONLY SELECT ITEMS FROM 2019

4. After entire search is selected click on the label icon at the top of the window

5. Create new label titled "Adrian Variety PRA - (Your name)"

6. All searches should be moved to that label which will appear in file column to the left.

7. In upper right corner Click the 9 tiled box. Then Click "Account"

8. To the left of the new page, click "Data and Personalization"

9. Scroll slightly and click "Download Your Data"

10. On the new page click "Select none"

11. Then scroll down to Mail in the alphabetized list and switch to on.

12. In drop down from Mail Choose "Select Labels" and then select your "Adrian Variety PRA - (Your Name)" -- make sure all other items are DESELECTED

13. At the bottom of the page click "Next."

14. Choose your preferred delivery method (Drive or email-- I chose email) , and click on "Create archive."

15. When the archive is created it will be emailed to you as a zip file or placed in your drive.

16. Download final zip file to your desktop and attach and send to me as a REPLY TO THIS EMAIL

PART II

1. On your desktop right click to create a new folder; name it "Adrian Variety PDFs - (Your Name)"

2. Return to your gmail page

3. Go into the label/folder for Sunshine Canyon PRA.

4. Emails with attachments will be denoted with a paper clip on the right side. Individually enter those emails and open the attachments.

5. Print the attachments as pdfs and save to your " Adrian Variety PDFs - (Your Name) PDFs" Folder

6. When all attachments have been saved to your desktop folder, zip the file and send to me.

We've also called Non-Emergency several times and we won't stop until the cops or the outreach workers do something for this guy. (For heads up, he's a black skinny guy who's almost always shirtless).
Sympathy goes to him for being a mentally unstable person but he has been disrupting our lives now, every single day (and night). He should be in a mental institution, not in a tent in front of our residence.
We still hope Mr. Sean Starkey, Sgt. Rubalcava and co., in coordination with the outreach workers, clear the whole stretch of the street of tents just like how Sgt. Geaney and co. proactively did it...

Dear Mr. Sean Starkey,

Now that Mr. Dan Halden is no longer the Deputy Field Officer here, and during our first meeting with you, you said you would be following up our application for the Preferential Parking District Permit, our residents would like to know the status of said application. We started this project more than a year ago, painstakingly gathering signatures from residents. Formal application was filed September of 2018. We were promised June of 2019. It's now almost end of July and we have not had a word from Felix, the person in charge, nor from you.

Just a heads up to everyone, there also seems to be dangerous driving going on. Last week I had to dodge out of the way after a car sped off after the driver was arguing loudly with someone at the homeless encampments. That someone chased & screamed after the car, while the car was speeding & swerving away.
So we can't use the sidewalk, but also the homeless community is factoring in to dangerous driving on the street.

I wasn't going to mention it, but adding it in to things to watch out for. It definitely doesn't compare to Jordan's story (sorry you had to go through that).

Laws do not exist anymore. The LAPD is not respected, what they say does not matter.
They know they will not be arrested if they brake a law. Everything is in their hands and they want us to be afraid to walk on the streets or even drive. Nothing is safe here anymore. They know they can do whatever they want.
Even the mentally ill people have their freedom to do what they want.

Let alone us, little people who work hard and try everything to live their lives as responsible, honest and fair citizens. WE DO NOT MATTER AT ALL!

The answer from the LAPD is unbelievable when Matthew called about the mentally ill, swearing guy in front of our building, 'Called emergency line, who told me I was not the first to call.' Is this what we can expect from them?
That is really sad too.

Everything points out that we are on our own. This beautiful city is going downhill every day. Sad and scary.

Blessings to All!

It's really good to have this community of neighbors keeping an eye out and informing each other, especially as it seems that all the proactive work being done by Seargant Gearny and her team last year has stopped and these streets are getting even worse now. The LAPD have not created a presence here, beyond enforcing tents-down time along the wall, which only sends the homeless to sit outside our residences, block our access, and get into more confrontations with residents.

So it seems we're on our own until someone is killed or injured (either from a confrontation or hit by a car as we can't use the sidewalk anymore), but at least we'll have these emails showing how long we've reported problems and begged for support.

Re neighborhood watch: For those who live in the Tamarind cul-de-sac, please be wary. There seems to be an unstable/agitated man (skinny black guy) living in one of the tents there. I saw him wandering in circles at night, gesturing and talking in an aggressive way to no one. When a neighbor drove into the cul-de-sac looking for a park, he scurried to crouch down and hide between the parked cars.

Please be wary when coming/going from your home, as it seems we have not only the abusive/violent group who fly into a rage every afternoon like clockwork, but also some seriously paranoid and suspicious people who could be hiding and/or see you as a threat. Be careful. :((

Cut to 15 min later and he finally gives up and walks away. Probably figured maybe the police would show up soon.

Everyone,
I recently moved out of the 1762 because I was robbed at gun point walking home from a friend's house. Granted it was 4am, but this was a pre-meditated strike. It was three men in total. All wearing mono-chromatic, matching sweat suits. Hoods pulled down to cover their hair, face warming gaiters to cover their face. Most likely members of a nearby neighborhood gang.

I was walking north on Bronson, south of Hollywood Blvd. At the corner of Carlton Way and Bronson. A man jumped out from behind a corner and put a shotgun to my face, demanding my wallet. Then, another came up behind me, put a pistol to the back of my head, and demanded my cell phone. Once, I gave up my items, a third man drove up around the corner in a get-a-away car, and they drove off.

I walked over the fire station around the corner to ask for help, and some bleary eyed LAFD guy told me I had to go to the police for that. THANKS BRO.

The next day, I filed a police report. I know full well they won't be able to find them. LAPD is spread so thin. They are severely understaffed. They are exhausted. There is more crazy violent crime out there than what is actually happening on Carlos and Tamarind. But they are related, and we are being run over.

All you have to do is follow the money. Hollywood is being redeveloped. The homeless are being backed into a literal corner. The church is trying to have an ordinance not allowing them within 500 feet. The buildings on our block are old. There are roaches and black mold in the walls. As long as they stay way, nothing will change.

My suggestion, be more than careful out there. Get out if you can. It's only going to get worse. Someone could die. Even then, you would just be another statistic in a stack of paper. Maybe you have people who care, maybe you don't. This city can be a lonely place.

Hopefully, a bigger Earthquake doesn't happen. You know the fault line ends right along Yucca, near the overpass on Gower, right? LA removed the ordinance limiting building height. The BIG ONE is coming.

Get out of there ASAP.

They are violent, fight amongst themselves, and have even less reservations about engaging those outside their “community”.

A responding officer said: Keep calling, eventually they’ll be cited. And when they don’t show up in court, they get issued a warrant. And eventually we will run their IDs, see the outstanding warrant and we can arrest them.

But these responding officers didn’t cite them (even though the occupiers said they’d move and stop blocking the sidewalks but stayed put). No officers do. So warrants never get issued. And police ultimately don’t bother to run their IDs anyway. Most responders to calls don’t even get out of their vehicles.

One or both may have said: That's why it's important we communicate this to local representatives to change the laws. But, I asked, what difference would new laws make if you don't enforce the laws we already have?

I'm being targeted for harassment by the encampment occupiers because I'm standing up for myself and asking police to enforce the law; because I'm intolerant of their partying, hollering, smoking, vulgarity, overtaking the sidewalks and leaving food and trash literally right outside our home. Let them hang out under the shady trees of the non-residential buildings or parking lots in the area. Or inside their tents.
But ensure us taxpaying, rent paying residents have the safety and acceptable limited noise-levels we also deserve.

I AM REQUESTING POLICE DO A NARCOTICS INVESTIGATION (their due diligence, for 30 days) AND SUBSEQUENT REPORT ON THESE STREETS AT CARLOS AND TAMARIND. These encampment occupiers are up and alert day and night, which is unnatural, and vehicles swing by (cars, bikes, scooters) seemingly to conduct business transactions 7 days/week, 24 hours/day. Note the attached two videos recorded last night (which is a Monday)—taken 1 hour apart (1130pm-1230am)—wherein:
- a male continuously walks in circles on the sidewalk and street in front of our residence (this began and continued beyond the hour duration captured on these clips)
- at least two people are active inside the tents at the end while at least one other moves between the tents 3 or 4 spaces to the left and those at the end.

NEIGHBORS: In the meantime, I am begging all of you and anyone who empathizes with our situation to register to vote so we can vote out every elected official who is overseeing our community. Here's a link to ensure you are able to vote when that time comes:
https://registertovote.ca.gov/

Vote against Garcetti, Dan Halden, Sean Starky, and any other "official" on these emails and/or those who put or kept them in positions of power.

With any due respect, this response was, at best, inadequate and, at worst, insulting. The request was not to "force relocate"; Rather, I read it as asking the police to uphold the law. There are laws that can be enforced, right?

Once again, in your [Shannon Geany's] words, "Carlos/Tamarind remains as Hollywood's largest and most entrenched encampment".

We see you occasionally break up other transient tent communities (on El Centro, on Vine, on Highland, off Franklin, etc...), yet the disregard for our street continues and escalates. You pick and choose when and where to follow and/or enforce the law. Even this morning police were present as crews cleaned--and transients laid on sidewalks--but the police enforced no laws in regards to taking down tents or making sidewalks available for residents (many of whom are elderly). The transients' occupied territory grows and you do nothing.

Some of these same people have been here over 2 years. They keep their tents set up all day because police only enforce those laws when it serves private interest, like local "church" events. And the transients know this, and know you mostly otherwise won't be coming around or engaging them.

Now they hang out under our shady trees immediately outside of our residence on the North side of Carlos—daily, even though their tents are still up (as has been permitted for so long) on the South side of Carlos—Completely taking over and blocking all sidewalks. No resident wants to be caught taking pictures of them, but I've attached some images of them/the trash left in their wake only a few feet from where we sleep/eat/live. All while their empty tents remain up around the surrounding walkways.

Also, now that neither sidewalk is available, the residents are forced to walk in the street to avoid being engaged, muttered to, or have dogs off leashes barking and following them. And the transients track us. They watch us, what we drive, when we come and go. And they discuss it openly. Last weekend I watched a homeless man enter the code for our front door, walk through the hallway out the back, and sort through the recyclables in the city containers BEHIND our locked gates.

They play music and eat and drink and smoke and scream and curse and sleep ALL DAY within two yards of where we live. They bring folding chairs--and wooden chairs!--and blankets and pillows. They occupy the residential side of the street and don't go back to their tents until after dinner when the Salvation Army feeds them, leaving their trash behind.

Is the extent of police contribution "overseeing clean-up crews", during sporadic cleanup days only, so that "another city worker" has to pick up after this disrespectful hoard? If that's the case, at least turn your heads right and left to look to the surrounding sidewalks & Tamarind Avenue instead of just focusing on the row of tents on the South side of Carlos... Because the vagrant occupiers (a "transient" would eventually go somewhere else) and their trash are everywhere.

Today the occupation on the North side of Carlos and subsequent yelling (screaming to others in their encampment way down the street, again, while police were present) immediately outside of our windows began around 8am. Sunday it started before 10am and went on into the night. I work in order to be able to afford to take care of my responsibilities--they don't and don't want to--but I deserve to be awaken with ongoing screaming 4-5 feet outside the perimeter of our home? Where's the incentive in paying taxes? What's the incentive of being a productive member of society if you force/abandon us to be on the occupiers' schedule?

I called the non-emergency police—I have incident report #s—all weekend and nothing was done.

There is no public sanitation in the area. Should I be comfortable with them dumping feces in the storm drains just five feet from our building, our bedrooms? Along with the food they bring over and leave out all day, the rats they attract are being drawn to our part of the street. Do we deserve rats, fleas, typhus?

I hope and pray that karma finds you and your children and pays you back for the disregard and apathy you've shown us legal, legitimate and taxpaying Angelinos. You could do more but you don't. They don't respect your authority. We hear them laugh at you before and after you leave. And you enable their behavior and give them a pass why?...

Because you hate paperwork?

There are laws about setting up chairs on sidewalks, right? About laying down and also, in general, blocking sidewalks? What about the out of state vehicles that don't register or renew or their tags? They don't smog check. They don't get tickets or towed either. They pollute, and violate other laws by sleeping in/living out of their vehicles so close to a children's school. But you don't police them. You make it easy for them to stay put, and invite more to join them in the area.

Don't blame the lawmakers (though they surely deserve their share) when you don't even enforce the laws that are, have been and remain on the books. Own your "as long as it's not happening in front of my home" attitude. But, in my opinion, your neglect is as criminal as the vagrants taking advantage of our good (albeit too passive) nature.

That guy lives in a little tent in front of our house. Yesterday I waited about 15 min., while he was performing in front the entrance to our parking structure. Would not move.
At one point he charged towards my vehicle, but stopped slightly before, did not do any damage.

Laws do not exist anymore. The LAPD is not respected, what they say does not matter.
They know they will not be arrested if they brake a law. Everything is in their hands and they want us to be afraid to walk on the streets or even drive. Nothing is safe here anymore. They know they can do whatever they want.
Even the mentally ill people have their freedom to do what they want.

Let alone us, little people who work hard and try everything to live their lives as responsible, honest and fair citizens. WE DO NOT MATTER AT ALL!

The answer from the LAPD is unbelievable when Matthew called about the mentally ill, swearing guy in front of our building, 'Called emergency line, who told me I was not the first to call.' Is this what we can expect from them?
That is really sad too.

Everything points out that we are on our own. This beautiful city is going downhill every day. Sad and scary.

Blessings to All!

It's really good to have this community of neighbors keeping an eye out and informing each other, especially as it seems that all the proactive work being done by Seargant Gearny and her team last year has stopped and these streets are getting even worse now. The LAPD have not created a presence here, beyond enforcing tents-down time along the wall, which only sends the homeless to sit outside our residences, block our access, and get into more confrontations with residents.

So it seems we're on our own until someone is killed or injured (either from a confrontation or hit by a car as we can't use the sidewalk anymore), but at least we'll have these emails showing how long we've reported problems and begged for support.

Re neighborhood watch: For those who live in the Tamarind cul-de-sac, please be wary. There seems to be an unstable/agitated man (skinny black guy) living in one of the tents there. I saw him wandering in circles at night, gesturing and talking in an aggressive way to no one. When a neighbor drove into the cul-de-sac looking for a park, he scurried to crouch down and hide between the parked cars.

Please be wary when coming/going from your home, as it seems we have not only the abusive/violent group who fly into a rage every afternoon like clockwork, but also some seriously paranoid and suspicious people who could be hiding and/or see you as a threat. Be careful. :((

These encampme nt occupiers are up and alert day and night, which is unnatural, and vehicles swinging by (cars, bikes, scooters) seemingly to conduct business transactions 7 da ys/week, 24 hours/day. Note the attached two videos recorded last night (which is a Monday)—taken 1 hour apart (1130 pm-1230 am)—wherein:

- a male continuously walks in circles on the sidewalk and street in front of our residence (this began and continued beyond the hour duration captured on these clips)

- at least two people are active inside the tents at the end while at least one other moves between the tents 3 or 4 spaces to the left and those at the end.

With any due respect, this response was, at best, inadequate and, at worst, insulting. The request was not to "force relocate"; Rather, I read it as asking the police to uphold the law. There are laws that can be enforced, right?

Once again, in your [Shannon Geany's] words, "Carlos/Tamarind remains as Hollywood's largest and most entrenched encampment".

We see you occasionally break up other transient tent communities (on El Centro, on Vine, on Highland, off Franklin, etc...), yet the disregard for our street continues and escalates. You pick and choose when and where to follow and/or enforce the law. Even this morning police were present as crews cleaned--and transients laid on sidewalks--but the police enforced no laws in regards to taking down tents or making sidewalks available for residents (many of whom are elderly). The transients' occupied territory grows and you do nothing.

Some of these same people have been here over 2 years. They keep their tents set up all day because police only enforce those laws when it serves private interest, like local "church" events. And the transients know this, and know you mostly otherwise won't be coming around or engaging them.

Now they hang out under our shady trees immediately outside of our residence on the North side of Carlos—daily, even though their tents are still up (as has been permitted for so long) on the South side of Carlos—Completely taking over and blocking all sidewalks. No resident wants to be caught taking pictures of them, but I've attached some images of them/the trash left in their wake only a few feet from where we sleep/eat/live. All while their empty tents remain up around the surrounding walkways.

Also, now that neither sidewalk is available, the residents are forced to walk in the street to avoid being engaged, muttered to, or have dogs off leashes barking and following them. And the transients track us. They watch us, what we drive, when we come and go. And they discuss it openly. Last weekend I watched a homeless man enter the code for our front door, walk through the hallway out the back, and sort through the recyclables in the city containers BEHIND our locked gates.

They play music and eat and drink and smoke and scream and curse and sleep ALL DAY within two yards of where we live. They bring folding chairs--and wooden chairs!--and blankets and pillows. They occupy the residential side of the street and don't go back to their tents until after dinner when the Salvation Army feeds them, leaving their trash behind.

Is the extent of police contribution "overseeing clean-up crews", during sporadic cleanup days only, so that "another city worker" has to pick up after this disrespectful hoard? If that's the case, at least turn your heads right and left to look to the surrounding sidewalks & Tamarind Avenue instead of just focusing on the row of tents on the South side of Carlos... Because the vagrant occupiers (a "transient" would eventually go somewhere else) and their trash are everywhere.

Today the occupation on the North side of Carlos and subsequent yelling (screaming to others in their encampment way down the street, again, while police were present) immediately outside of our windows began around 8am. Sunday it started before 10am and went on into the night. I work in order to be able to afford to take care of my responsibilities--they don't and don't want to--but I deserve to be awaken with ongoing screaming 4-5 feet outside the perimeter of our home? Where's the incentive in paying taxes? What's the incentive of being a productive member of society if you force/abandon us to be on the occupiers' schedule?

I called the non-emergency police—I have incident report #s—all weekend and nothing was done.

There is no public sanitation in the area. Should I be comfortable with them dumping feces in the storm drains just five feet from our building, our bedrooms? Along with the food they bring over and leave out all day, the rats they attract are being drawn to our part of the street. Do we deserve rats, fleas, typhus?

I hope and pray that karma finds you and your children and pays you back for the disregard and apathy you've shown us legal, legitimate and taxpaying Angelinos. You could do more but you don't. They don't respect your authority. We hear them laugh at you before and after you leave. And you enable their behavior and give them a pass why?... Because you hate paperwork?

There are laws about setting up chairs on sidewalks, right? About laying down and also, in general, blocking sidewalks? What about the out of state vehicles that don't register or renew or their tags? They don't smog check. They don't get tickets or towed either. They pollute, and violate other laws by sleeping in/living out of their vehicles so close to a children's school. But you don't police them. You make it easy for them to stay put, and invite more to join them in the area.

Don't blame the lawmakers (though they surely deserve their share) when you don't even enforce the laws that are, have been and remain on the books. Own your "as long as it's not happening in front of my home" attitude. But, in my opinion, your neglect is as criminal as the vagrants taking advantage of our good (albeit too passive) nature.

Just a heads up to everyone, I've seen that same guy everyday now. Yesterday he was yelling at me while I was trying to parallel park so I decided to park a few blocks away. He's definitely looking for trouble for whatever reason and he's around this morning as of 6:45am so just be careful. The non-emergency line does not seem to be effective but I made a call anyways.

Now that Mr. Dan Halden is no longer the Deputy Field Officer here, and during our first meeting with you, you said you would be following up our application for the Preferential Parking District Permit, our residents would like to know the status of said application. We started this project more than a year ago, painstakingly gathering signatures from residents. Formal application was filed September of 2018. We were promised June of 2019. It's now almost end of July and we have not had a word from Felix, the person in charge, nor from you.

Laws do not exist anymore. The LAPD is not respected, what they say does not matter.
They know they will not be arrested if they brake a law. Everything is in their hands and they want us to be afraid to walk on the streets or even drive. Nothing is safe here anymore. They know they can do whatever they want.
Even the mentally ill people have their freedom to do what they want.

Let alone us, little people who work hard and try everything to live their lives as responsible, honest and fair citizens. WE DO NOT MATTER AT ALL!

The answer from the LAPD is unbelievable when Matthew called about the mentally ill, swearing guy in front of our building, 'Called emergency line, who told me I was not the first to call.' Is this what we can expect from them?
That is really sad too.

Everything points out that we are on our own. This beautiful city is going downhill every day. Sad and scary.

Blessings to All!

going to do more - they area has only worsened. Some of the tenants have met up with The LAPD and city officials and they've lied to us time after time.
Laws were created for a reason. No one - regardless of their situation- should be able to shoot up, drink alcohol, litter, damage property, urinate and defecate - all in public.

Thanks so much for letting us know about both of these situations, and so sorry to hear about your experience, Jordon. :((That's terrifying, though not surprising when you see what's happening out there this summer.

It's really good to have this community of neighbors keeping an eye out and informing each other, especially as it seems that all the proactive work being done by Seargant Gearny and her team last year has stopped and these streets are getting even worse now. The LAPD have not created a presence here, beyond enforcing tents-down time along the wall, which only sends the homeless to sit outside our residences, block our access, and get into more confrontations with residents.

So it seems we're on our own until someone is killed or injured (either from a confrontation or hit by a car as we can't use the sidewalk anymore), but at least we'll have these emails showing how long we've reported problems and begged for support.

Re neighborhood watch: For those who live in the Tamarind cul-de-sac, please be wary. There seems to be an unstable/agitated man (skinny black guy) living in one of the tents there. I saw him wandering in circles at night, gesturing and talking in an aggressive way to no one. When a neighbor drove into the cul-de-sac looking for a park, he scurried to crouch down and hide between the parked cars.

Please be wary when coming/going from your home, as it seems we have not only the abusive/violent group who fly into a rage every afternoon like clockwork, but also some seriously paranoid and suspicious people who could be hiding and/or see you as a threat. Be careful. :((

Called emergency line, who told me I was not the first to call. Cut to 15 min later and he finally gives up and walks away. Probably figured maybe the police would show up soon.

Watch out for this guy. Clearly unstable and I've seen him pacing around our block in random directions several times over the past few weeks.

All wearing mono-chromatic, matching sweat suits. Hoods pulled down to cover their hair, face warming gaiters to cover their face. Most likely members of a nearby neighborhood gang.

I was walking north on Bronson, south of Hollywood Blvd. At the corner of Carlton Way and Bronson. A man jumped out from behind a corner and put a shotgun to my face, demanding my wallet. Then, another came up behind me, put a pistol to the back of my head, and demanded my cell phone. Once, I gave up my items, a third man drove up around the corner in a get-a-away car, and they drove off.

I walked over the fire station around the corner to ask for help, and some bleary eyed LAFD guy told me I had to go to the police for that. THANKS BRO.

The next day, I filed a police report. I know full well they won't be able to find them. LAPD is spread so thin. They are severely understaffed. They are exhausted. There is more crazy violent crime out there than what is actually happening on Carlos and Tamarind. But they are related, and we are being run over.

All you have to do is follow the money. Hollywood is being redeveloped. The homeless are being backed into a literal corner. The church is trying to have an ordinance not allowing them within 500 feet. The buildings on our block are old. There are roaches and black mold in the walls. As long as they stay way, nothing will change.

My suggestion, be more than careful out there. Get out if you can. It's only going to get worse. Someone could die. Even then, you would just be another statistic in a stack of paper. Maybe you have people who care, maybe you don't. This city can be a lonely place.

Hopefully, a bigger Earthquake doesn't happen. You know the fault line ends right along Yucca, near the overpass on Gower, right? LA removed the ordinance limiting building height. The BIG ONE is coming.

Get out of there ASAP.

Along with the verbal harassment (and objects thrown at some of us) we are all experiencing, they're literally using terroristic tactics and vandalizing property to attempt to drive us away or into silence. They are violent, fight amongst themselves, and have even less reservations about engaging those outside their "community".

A responding officer said: Keep calling, eventually they'll be cited. And when they don't show up in court, they get issued a warrant. And eventually we will run their IDs, see the outstanding warrant and we can arrest them.

But these responding officers didn't cite them (even though the occupiers said they'd move and stop blocking the sidewalks but stayed put). No officers do. So warrants never get issued. And police ultimately don't bother to run their IDs anyway. Most responders to calls don't even get out of their vehicles.

One or both may have said: That's why it's important we communicate this to local representatives to change the laws. But, I asked, what difference would new laws make if you don't enforce the laws we already have?

I'm being targeted for harassment by the encampment occupiers because I'm standing up for myself and asking police to enforce the law; because I'm intolerant of their partying, hollering, smoking, vulgarity, overtaking the sidewalks and leaving food and trash literally right outside our home. Let them hang out under the shady trees of the non-residential buildings or parking lots in the area. Or inside their tents.
But ensure us taxpaying, rent paying residents have the safety and acceptable limited noise-levels we also deserve.

I AM REQUESTING POLICE DO A NARCOTICS INVESTIGATION (their due diligence, for 30 days) AND SUBSEQUENT REPORT ON THESE STREETS AT CARLOS AND TAMARIND. These encampment occupiers are up and alert day and night, which is unnatural, and vehicles swing by (cars, bikes, scooters) seemingly to conduct business transactions 7 days/week, 24 hours/day. Note the attached two videos recorded last night (which is a Monday)—taken 1 hour apart (1130pm-1230am)—wherein:

- a male continuously walks in circles on the sidewalk and street in front of our residence (this began and continued beyond the hour duration captured on these clips)
- at least two people are active inside the tents at the end while at least one other moves between the tents 3 or 4 spaces to the left and those at the end.

Some of these same people have been here over 2 years. They keep their tents set up all day because police only enforce those laws when it serves private interest, like local "church" events. And the transients know this, and know you mostly otherwise won't be coming around or engaging them.

Now they hang out under our shady trees immediately outside of our residence on the North side of Carlos—daily, even though their tents are still up (as has been permitted for so long) on the South side of Carlos—Completely taking over and blocking all sidewalks. No resident wants to be caught taking pictures of them, but I've attached some images of them/the trash left in their wake only a few feet from where we sleep/eat/live. All while their empty tents remain up around the surrounding walkways.

Also, now that neither sidewalk is available, the residents are forced to walk in the street to avoid being engaged, muttered to, or have dogs off leashes barking and following them. And the transients track us. They watch us, what we drive, when we come and go. And they discuss it openly. Last weekend I watched a homeless man enter the code for our front door, walk through the hallway out the back, and sort through the recyclables in the city containers BEHIND our locked gates.

They play music and eat and drink and smoke and scream and curse and sleep ALL DAY within two yards of where we live. They bring folding chairs--and wooden chairs!--and blankets and pillows. They occupy the residential side of the street and don't go back to their tents until after dinner when the Salvation Army feeds them, leaving their trash behind.

Is the extent of police contribution "overseeing clean-up crews", during sporadic cleanup days only, so that "another city worker" has to pick up after this disrespectful hoard? If that's the case, at least turn your heads right and left to look to the surrounding sidewalks & Tamarind Avenue instead of just focusing on the row of tents on the South side of Carlos... Because the vagrant occupiers (a "transient" would eventually go somewhere else) and their trash are everywhere.

Today the occupation on the North side of Carlos and subsequent yelling (screaming to others in their encampment way down the street, again, while police were present) immediately outside of our windows began around 8am. Sunday it started before 10am and went on into the night. I work in order to be able to afford to take care of my responsibilities--they don't and don't want to--but I deserve to be awaken with ongoing screaming 4-5 feet outside the perimeter of our home? Where's the incentive in paying taxes? What's the incentive of being a productive member of society if you force/abandon us to be on the occupiers' schedule?

I called the non-emergency police—I have incident report #s—all weekend and nothing was done.

There is no public sanitation in the area. Should I be comfortable with them dumping feces in the storm drains just five feet from our building, our bedrooms? Along with the food they bring over and leave out all day, the rats they attract are being drawn to our part of the street. Do we deserve rats, fleas, typhus?

I hope and pray that karma finds you and your children and pays you back for the disregard and apathy you've shown us legal, legitimate and taxpaying Angelinos. You could do more but you don't. They don't respect your authority. We hear them laugh at you before and after you leave. And you enable their behavior and give them a pass why?... Because you hate paperwork?

There are laws about setting up chairs on sidewalks, right? About laying down and also, in general, blocking sidewalks? What about the out of state vehicles that don't register or renew or their tags? They don't smog check. They don't get tickets or towed either. They pollute, and violate other laws by sleeping in/living out of their vehicles so close to a children's school. But you don't police them. You make it easy for them to stay put, and invite more to join them in the area.

Don't blame the lawmakers (though they surely deserve their share) when you don't even enforce the laws that are, have been and remain on the books. Own your "as long as it's not happening in front of my home" attitude. But, in my opinion, your neglect is as criminal as the vagrants taking advantage of our good (albeit too passive) nature.

Notes	Ninja Here1 Came into the store with Will as my server, form yesterdays shift we adjust start times to earlier. It definelty wasn't as busy as yesterday, but it was an added help to have everyone earlier. We did start getting a bit busy around 9, Steven helped watch the front while I helped will until Dylan cam on and ran a 2 floor. Once bartender got in I break Will. Nick came on at 11, broke Marc at the bar. Cut Dylan by 1pm, Will by 2pm as well as host, Steven. Marc was cut by 2:30-3. Nick stayed on and was cut by 5pm when Charles got in. Overall steadt day. 2 large production orders that came in at same time that went out by kitchen seamlessly. Great jobeveryone Got to order smallwears and things needed for restaurant as well as tidy bit the office . That's pretty much it. Overall steady and chill table

Notes	Got here on a steady restaurant, I had Joey as my bartender, Adlai and Charles as my servers and Cheryl as my host. I didn't brake Charles and Chery cause they leave early. Joey and Adlai took their brakes before the later night crew got here.\ My late night crew were Nicole as my bartender, I got Saquan, Mariela and Mathew as my servers and Azeen as my Host. It was a steady night, we didn't have any incident. FOH and BOH did really good job. We are having some issues with the bartenders reports: the cash report doesn't match with the credits and cash sales with Joey and Nicole we did the diference between the credit and cash but the reports say another quantity. Joaquin is out, Miss Blanca is here

Notes	It's Blanca with my nightly report, no issues here, smooth night and it was my first time meeting Saquan, he is doing great, everyone took their breaks before I got there, did some early cuts since it was a bit slow, also Matt wasn't feeling well, Azeem did end up paying out of pocket a couple bucks not sure if he gave wrong change but no big deal. I made a mistake and didn't close out gourmet runner wit him and there was a ticket open for a chicken Dijon ….. didn't see any cash for it or card payment pending so I need to find out from him when he gets back to me if it was a canceled order or whatnot…. For now its under the transfer server. Other than that everthing's great and everyone have a nice day!

You don't necessarily need to start printing out and redacting just yet; please do a search and let me know if anything comes up. If anything DOES come up, please give me a ballpark of how many emails. An estimate is fine.

RE: PPD PERMIT

Dear Mr. Sean Starkey,
Now that Mr. Dan Halden is no longer the Deputy Field Officer here, and during our first meeting with you, you said you would be following up our application for the Preferential Parking District Permit, our residents would like to know the status of said application. We started this project more than a year ago, painstakingly gathering signatures from residents. Formal application was filed September of 2018. We were promised June of 2019. It's now almost end of July and we have not had a word from Felix, the person in charge, nor from you.

I wasn't going to mention it, but adding it in to things to watch out for. It definitely doesn't compare to Jordan's story (sorry you had to go through that).

Laws do not exist anymore. The LAPD is not respected, what they say does not matter.
They know they will not be arrested if they brake a law. Everything is in their hands and they want us to be afraid to walk on the streets or even drive. Nothing is safe here anymore. They know they can do whatever they want.
Even the mentally ill people have their freedom to do what they want.

Let alone us, little people who work hard and try everything to live their lives as responsible, honest and fair citizens. WE DO NOT MATTER AT ALL!

The answer from the LAPD is unbelievable when Matthew called about the mentally ill, swearing guy in front of our building, 'Called emergency line, who told me I was not the first to call.' Is this what we can expect from them?
That is really sad too.

Everything points out that we are on our own. This beautiful city is going downhill every day. Sad and scary.

Blessings to All!

It's pretty clear that the LAPD and our elected officials are going to do nothing. Even after The City Of LA has done press saying they are going to do more - they area has only worsened. Some of the tenants have met up with The LAPD and city officials and they've lied to us time after time. Laws were created for a reason. No one - regardless of their situation- should be able to shoot up, drink alcohol, litter, damage property, urinate and defecate - all in public.

> Thanks so much for letting us know about both of these situations, and so sorry to hear about your experience, Jordon. :((That's terrifying, though not surprising when you see what's happening out there this summer.

It's really good to have this community of neighbors keeping an eye out and informing each other, especially as it seems that all the proactive work being done by Seargant Gearny and her team last year has stopped and these streets are getting even worse now. The LAPD have not created a presence here, beyond enforcing tents-down time along the wall, which only sends the homeless to sit outside our residences, block our access, and get into more confrontations with residents.

So it seems we're on our own until someone is killed or injured (either from a confrontation or hit by a car as we can't use the sidewalk anymore), but at least we'll have these emails showing how long we've reported problems and begged for support.

Re neighborhood watch: For those who live in the Tamarind cul-de-sac, please be wary. There seems to be an unstable/agitated man (skinny black guy) living in one of the tents there. I saw him wandering in circles at night, gesturing and talking in an aggressive way to no one. When a neighbor drove into the cul-de-sac looking for a park, he scurried to crouch down and hide between the parked cars.

Please be wary when coming/going from your home, as it seems we have not only the abusive/violent group who fly into a rage every afternoon like clockwork, but also some seriously paranoid and suspicious people who could be hiding and/or see you as a threat. Be careful. :((

Watch out for this guy. Clearly unstable and I've seen him pacing around our block in random directions several times over the past few weeks.

Everyone,
I recently moved out of the 1762 because I was robbed at gun point walking home from a friend's house. Granted it was 4am, but this was a pre-meditated strike. It was three men in total. All wearing mono-chromatic, matching sweat suits. Hoods pulled down to cover their hair, face warming gaiters to cover their face. Most likely members of a nearby neighborhood gang.

I was walking north on Bronson, south of Hollywood Blvd. At the corner of Carlton Way and Bronson. A man jumped out from behind a corner and put a shotgun to my face, demanding my wallet. Then, another came up behind me, put a pistol to the back of my head, and demanded my cell phone. Once, I gave up my items, a third man drove up around the corner in a get-a-away car, and they drove off.

I walked over the fire station around the corner to ask for help, and some bleary eyed LAFD guy told me I had to go to the police for that. THANKS BRO.

The next day, I filed a police report. I know full well they won't be able to find them. LAPD is spread so thin. They are severely understaffed. They are exhausted. There is more crazy violent crime out there than what is actually happening on Carlos and Tamarind. But they are related, and we are being run over.

All you have to do is follow the money. Hollywood is being redeveloped. The homeless are being backed into a literal corner. The church is trying to have an ordinance not allowing them within 500 feet. The buildings on our block are old. There are roaches and black mold in the walls. As long as they stay way, nothing will change.

My suggestion, be more than careful out there. Get out if you can. It's only going to get worse. Someone could die. Even then, you would just be another statistic in a stack of paper. Maybe you have people who care, maybe you don't. This city can be a lonely place.

Hopefully, a bigger Earthquake doesn't happen. You know the fault line ends right along Yucca, near the overpass on Gower, right? LA removed the ordinance limiting building height. The BIG ONE is coming.

Get out of there ASAP.

I have a hypothetical question for the LAPD. If we were to collect all the trash, human feces and used paper in our street and take it over to some nice homes in the more well-off Franklin area, and we spread it all along their lawns and then, every single afternoon like clockwork, we stood directly outside their open windows where the residents were trying to work/sleep and just blasted loud music for hours while screaming abuse, are there any laws or regulations that would enable you to act on this?

Can you tell us they are so we can reference them when we call asking you to keep the peace in this less-well-off area as well? Why do we have to walk across the freeway to see how it could be?

Yes we call the non-emergency number asking for help all the time.
What should we expect you to actually change about the situation when we do this? Anything?

However, the damage was minor enough for my insurance to not have to pay for it, but major enough for it to be noticeable.

PS - the police did show up for this incident but I'm still going to have to pay for the damage since the person at fault does not have car insurance.

This is the second weekend that I called for a police response, only to find my car has again been intentionally scratched or "keyed" overnight.

Along with the verbal harassment (and objects thrown at some of us) we are all experiencing, they're literally using terroristic tactics and vandalizing property to attempt to drive us away or into silence. They are violent, fight amongst themselves, and have even less reservations about engaging those outside their "community".

A responding officer said: Keep calling, eventually they'll be cited. And when they don't show up in court, they get issued a warrant. And eventually we will run their IDs, see the outstanding warrant and we can arrest them.

But these responding officers didn't cite them (even though the occupiers said they'd move and stop blocking the sidewalks but stayed put). No officers do. So warrants never get issued. And police ultimately don't bother to run their IDs anyway. Most responders to calls don't even get out of their vehicles.

One or both may have said: That's why it's important we communicate this to local representatives to change the laws. But, I asked, what difference would new laws make if you don't enforce the laws we already have?

I'm being targeted for harassment by the encampment occupiers because I'm standing up for myself and asking police to enforce the law; because I'm intolerant of their partying, hollering, smoking, vulgarity, overtaking the sidewalks and leaving food and trash literally right outside our home. Let them hang out under the shady trees of the non-residential buildings or parking lots in the area. Or inside their tents.

But ensure us taxpaying, rent paying residents have the safety and acceptable limited noise-levels we also deserve.

I AM REQUESTING POLICE DO A NARCOTICS INVESTIGATION (their due diligence, for 30 days) AND SUBSEQUENT REPORT ON THESE STREETS AT CARLOS AND TAMARIND. These encampment occupiers are up and alert day and night, which is unnatural, and vehicles swing by (cars, bikes, scooters) seemingly to conduct business transactions 7 days/week, 24 hours/day. Note the attached two videos recorded last night (which is a Monday)—taken 1 hour apart (1130pm-1230am)—wherein:

- a male continuously walks in circles on the sidewalk and street in front of our residence (this began and continued beyond the hour duration captured on these clips)
- at least two people are active inside the tents at the end while at least one other moves between the tents 3 or 4 spaces to the left and those at the end.

NEIGHBORS: In the meantime, I am begging all of you and anyone who empathizes with our situation to register to vote so we can vote out every elected official who is overseeing our community. Here's a link to ensure you are able to vote when that time comes:

https://registertovote.ca.gov/

Vote against Garcetti, Dan Halden, Sean Starky, and any other "official" on these emails and/or those who put or kept them in positions of power.

Regards,
Greg Bass

They continue to leave food and other trash behind, unwanted clothing hanging on our fence, poison and broken glass spread around our home. This will be ground zero for the Angeles Plague (Is that the plan?)

“Law enforcement” rolls by but do not engage the “voluntarily homeless”; police have given them the run of our streets, and local politicians are OK with it.

They're occupying all surrounding sidewalks while their tents remain up; cooking up vittles over raging open fires on the lawn and under the trees (see photos). The earthquake was less troubling than streets around our homes.

POLICE— Police our area. If you're "reaching out" to the encampment, what are you asking of them?
POLITICIANS— These are not LA citizens who lost their homes because their rents went up or they lost their jobs. These are opportunists (many who came from out of state for the sole purpose of) capitalizing on your collective inaction/ineptitude/passivity and taking advantage of same AND our resources. Lawmakers visiting the immigrant detainment centers spoke of overwhelming smells of body odor, urine and feces... But that describes our neighborhood ALL DAY EVERY DAY... All due to your selective governing and inhumanity towards those of us who legally live here.

With any due respect, this response was, at best, inadequate and, at worst, insulting. The request was not to "force relocate"; Rather, I read it as asking the police to uphold the law. There are laws that can be enforced, right?

Once again, in your [Shannon Geany's] words, "Carlos/Tamarind remains as Hollywood's largest and most entrenched encampment".

We see you occasionally break up other transient tent communities (on El Centro, on Vine, on Highland, off Franklin, etc...), yet the disregard for our street continues and escalates. You pick and choose when and where to follow and/or enforce the law. Even this morning police were present as crews cleaned--and transients laid on sidewalks--but the police enforced no laws in regards to taking down tents or making sidewalks available for residents (many of whom are elderly). The transients' occupied territory grows and you do nothing.

Some of these same people have been here over 2 years. They keep their tents set up all day because police only enforce those laws when it serves private interest, like local "church" events. And the transients know this, and know you mostly otherwise won't be coming around or engaging them.

Now they hang out under our shady trees immediately outside of our residence on the North side of Carlos—daily, even though their tents are still up (as has been permitted for so long) on the South side of Carlos—Completely taking over and blocking all sidewalks. No resident wants to be caught taking pictures of them, but I've attached some images of them/the trash left in their wake only a few feet from where we sleep/eat/live. All while their empty tents remain up around the surrounding walkways.

Also, now that neither sidewalk is available, the residents are forced to walk in the street to avoid being engaged, muttered to, or have dogs off leashes barking and following them. And the transients track us. They watch us, what we drive, when we come and go. And they discuss it openly. Last weekend I watched a homeless man enter the code for our front door, walk through the hallway out the back, and sort through the recyclables in the city containers BEHIND our locked gates.

They play music and eat and drink and smoke and scream and curse and sleep ALL DAY within two yards of where we live. They bring folding chairs--and wooden chairs!--and blankets and pillows. They occupy the residential side of the street and don't go back to their tents until after dinner when the Salvation Army feeds them, leaving their trash behind.

Is the extent of police contribution "overseeing clean-up crews", during sporadic cleanup days only, so that "another city worker" has to pick up after this disrespectful hoard? If that's the case, at least turn your heads right and left to look to the surrounding sidewalks & Tamarind Avenue instead of just focusing on the row of tents on the South side of Carlos... Because the vagrant occupiers (a "transient" would eventually go somewhere else) and their trash are everywhere.

Today the occupation on the North side of Carlos and subsequent yelling (screaming to others in their encampment way down the street, again, while police were present) immediately outside of our windows began around 8am. Sunday it started before 10am and went on into the night. I work in order to be able to afford to take care of my responsibilities--they don't and don't want to--but I deserve to be awaken with ongoing screaming 4-5 feet outside the perimeter of our home? Where's the incentive in paying taxes? What's the incentive of being a productive member of society if you force/abandon us to be on the occupiers' schedule?

I called the non-emergency police—I have incident report #s—all weekend and nothing was done.

There is no public sanitation in the area. Should I be comfortable with them dumping feces in the storm drains just five feet from our building, our bedrooms? Along with the food they bring over and leave out all day, the rats they attract are being drawn to our part of the street. Do we deserve rats, fleas, typhus?

I hope and pray that karma finds you and your children and pays you back for the disregard and apathy you've shown us legal, legitimate and taxpaying Angelinos. You could do more but you don't. They don't respect your authority. We hear them laugh at you before and after you leave. And you enable their behavior and give them a pass why?... Because you hate paperwork?

There are laws about setting up chairs on sidewalks, right? About laying down and also, in general, blocking sidewalks? What about the out of state vehicles that don't register or renew or their tags? They don't smog check. They don't get tickets or towed either. They pollute, and violate other laws by sleeping in/living out of their vehicles so close to a children's school. But you don't police them. You make it easy for them to stay put, and invite more to join them in the area.

Don't blame the lawmakers (though they surely deserve their share) when you don't even enforce the laws that are, have been and remain on the books. Own your "as long as it's not happening in front of my home" attitude. But, in my opinion, your neglect is as criminal as the vagrants taking advantage of our good (albeit too passive) nature.

That screaming guy is back at it right now. Wearing a light blue shirt today. I called non-emergency immediately. We'll see if they get here in time.
I'm sure extra calls would help, if you're able.

Dear Mr. Sean Starkey,
Now that Mr. Dan Halden is no longer the Deputy Field Officer here, and during our first meeting with you, you said you would be following up our application for the Preferential Parking District Permit, our residents would like to know the status of said application. We started this project more than a year ago, painstakingly gathering signatures from residents. Formal application was filed September of 2018. We were promised June of 2019. It's now almost end of July and we have not had a word from Felix, the person in charge, nor from you.

Just a heads up to everyone, there also seems to be dangerous driving going on. Last week I had to dodge out of the way after a car sped off after the driver was arguing loudly with someone at the homeless encampments. That someone chased & screamed after the car, while the car was speeding & swerving away.
So we can't use the sidewalk, but also the homeless community is factoring in to dangerous driving on the street.

I wasn't going to mention it, but adding it in to things to watch out for. It definitely doesn't compare to Jordan's story (sorry you had to go through that).

Laws do not exist anymore. The LAPD is not respected, what they say does not matter.
They know they will not be arrested if they brake a law. Everything is in their hands and they want us to be afraid to walk on the streets or even drive. Nothing is safe here anymore. They know they can do whatever they want.
Even the mentally ill people have their freedom to do what they want.

Let alone us, little people who work hard and try everything to live their lives as responsible, honest and fair citizens. WE DO NOT MATTER AT ALL!

The answer from the LAPD is unbelievable when Matthew called about the mentally ill, swearing guy in front of our building, 'Called emergency line, who told me I was not the first to call.' Is this what we can expect from them?
That is really sad too.

Everything points out that we are on our own. This beautiful city is going downhill every day. Sad and scary.

Blessings to All!

It's really good to have this community of neighbors keeping an eye out and informing each other, especially as it seems that all the proactive work being done by Seargant Gearny and her team last year has stopped and these streets are getting even worse now. The LAPD have not created a presence here, beyond enforcing tents-down time along the wall, which only sends the homeless to sit outside our residences, block our access, and get into more confrontations with residents.

So it seems we're on our own until someone is killed or injured (either from a confrontation or hit by a car as we can't use the sidewalk anymore), but at least we'll have these emails showing how long we've reported problems and begged for support.

Re neighborhood watch: For those who live in the Tamarind cul-de-sac, please be wary. There seems to be an unstable/agitated man (skinny black guy) living in one of the tents there. I saw him wandering in circles at night, gesturing and talking in an aggressive way to no one. When a neighbor drove into the cul-de-sac looking for a park, he scurried to crouch down and hide between the parked cars.

Please be wary when coming/going from your home, as it seems we have not only the abusive/violent group who fly into a rage every afternoon like clockwork, but also some seriously paranoid and suspicious people who could be hiding and/or see you as a threat. Be careful. :((

Watch out for this guy. Clearly unstable and I've seen him pacing around our block in random directions several times over the past few weeks.

All wearing mono-chromatic, matching sweat suits. Hoods pulled down to cover their hair, face warming gaiters to cover their face. Most likely members of a nearby neighborhood gang.

I was walking north on Bronson, south of Hollywood Blvd. At the corner of Carlton Way and Bronson. A man jumped out from behind a corner and put a shotgun to my face, demanding my wallet. Then, another came up behind me, put a pistol to the back of my head, and demanded my cell phone. Once, I gave up my items, a third man drove up around the corner in a get-a-away car, and they drove off.

I walked over the fire station around the corner to ask for help, and some bleary eyed LAFD guy told me I had to go to the police for that. THANKS BRO.

The next day, I filed a police report. I know full well they won't be able to find them. LAPD is spread so thin. They are severely understaffed. They are exhausted. There is more crazy violent crime out there than what is actually happening on Carlos and Tamarind. But they are related, and we are being run over.

All you have to do is follow the money. Hollywood is being redeveloped. The homeless are being backed into a literal corner. The church is trying to have an ordinance not allowing them within 500 feet. The buildings on our block are old. There are roaches and black mold in the walls. As long as they stay way, nothing will change.

My suggestion, be more than careful out there. Get out if you can. It's only going to get worse. Someone could die. Even then, you would just be another statistic in a stack of paper. Maybe you have people who care, maybe you don't. This city can be a lonely place.

Hopefully, a bigger Earthquake doesn't happen. You know the fault line ends right along Yucca, near the overpass on Gower, right? LA removed the ordinance limiting building height. The BIG ONE is coming.

Get out of there ASAP.

I have a hypothetical question for the LAPD. If we were to collect all the trash, human feces and used paper in our street and take it over to some nice homes in the more well-off Franklin area, and we spread it all along their lawns and then, every single afternoon like clockwork, we stood directly outside their open windows where the residents were trying to work/sleep and just blasted loud music for hours while screaming abuse, are there any laws or regulations that would enable you to act on this?

Can you tell us they are so we can reference them when we call asking you to keep the peace in this less-well-off area as well? Why do we have to walk across the freeway to see how it could be?

Yes we call the non-emergency number asking for help all the time.
What should we expect you to actually change about the situation when we do this? Anything?

literally using terroristic tactics and vandalizing property to attempt to drive us away or into silence. They are violent, fight amongst themselves, and have even less reservations about engaging those outside their "community".

A responding officer said: Keep calling, eventually they'll be cited. And when they don't show up in court, they get issued a warrant. And eventually we will run their IDs, see the outstanding warrant and we can arrest them.

But these responding officers didn't cite them (even though the occupiers said they'd move and stop blocking the sidewalks but stayed put). No officers do. So warrants never get issued. And police ultimately don't bother to run their IDs anyway. Most responders to calls don't even get out of their vehicles.

One or both may have said: That's why it's important we communicate this to local representatives to change the laws. But, I asked, what difference would new laws make if you don't enforce the laws we already have?

I'm being targeted for harassment by the encampment occupiers because I'm standing up for myself and asking police to enforce the law; because I'm intolerant of their partying, hollering, smoking, vulgarity, overtaking the sidewalks and leaving food and trash literally right outside our home. Let them hang out under the shady trees of the non-residential buildings or parking lots in the area. Or inside their tents.

But ensure us taxpaying, rent paying residents have the safety and acceptable limited noise-levels we also deserve.

I AM REQUESTING POLICE DO A NARCOTICS INVESTIGATION (their due diligence, for 30 days) AND SUBSEQUENT REPORT ON THESE STREETS AT CARLOS AND TAMARIND. These encampment occupiers are up and alert day and night, which is unnatural, and vehicles swing by (cars, bikes, scooters) seemingly to conduct business transactions 7 days/week, 24 hours/day. Note the attached two videos recorded last night (which is a Monday)—taken 1 hour apart (1130pm-1230am)—wherein:

- a male continuously walks in circles on the sidewalk and street in front of our residence (this began and continued beyond the hour duration captured on these clips)
- at least two people are active inside the tents at the end while at least one other moves between the tents 3 or 4 spaces to the left and those at the end.

NEIGHBORS: In the meantime, I am begging all of you and anyone who empathizes with our situation to register to vote so we can vote out every elected official who is overseeing our community. Here's a link to ensure you are able to vote when that time comes:

https://registertovote.ca.gov/

Vote against Garcetti, Dan Halden, Sean Starky, and any other "official" on these emails and/or those who put or kept them in positions of power.

They continue to leave food and other trash behind, unwanted clothing hanging on our fence, poison and broken glass spread around our home. This will be ground zero for the Angeles Plague (Is that the plan?)

“Law enforcement” rolls by but do not engage the “voluntarily homeless”; police have given them the run of our streets, and local politicians are OK with it.

POLICE— Police our area. If you're "reaching out" to the encampment, what are you asking of them?
POLITICIANS— These are not LA citizens who lost their homes because their rents went up or they lost their jobs. These are opportunists (many who came from out of state for the sole purpose of) capitalizing on your collective inaction/ineptitude/passivity and taking advantage of same AND our resources. Lawmakers visiting the immigrant detainment centers spoke of overwhelming smells of body odor, urine and feces... But that describes our neighborhood ALL DAY EVERY DAY... With any due respect, this response was, at best, inadequate and, at worst, insulting. The request was not to "force relocate"; Rather, I read it as asking the police to uphold the law. There are laws that can be enforced, right?

Once again, in your [Shannon Geany's] words, "Carlos/Tamarind remains as Hollywood's largest and most entrenched encampment".

We see you occasionally break up other transient tent communities (on El Centro, on Vine, on Highland, off Franklin, etc...), yet the disregard for our street continues and escalates. You pick and choose when and where to follow and/or enforce the law. Even this morning police were present as crews cleaned--and transients laid on sidewalks--but the police enforced no laws in regards to taking down tents or making sidewalks available for residents (many of whom are elderly). The transients' occupied territory grows and you do nothing.

Some of these same people have been here over 2 years. They keep their tents set up all day because police only enforce those laws when it serves private interest, like local "church" events. And the transients know this, and know you mostly otherwise won't be coming around or engaging them.

Now they hang out under our shady trees immediately outside of our residence on the North side of Carlos—daily, even though their tents are still up (as has been permitted for so long) on the South side of Carlos—Completely taking over and blocking all sidewalks. No resident wants to be caught taking pictures of them, but I've attached some images of them/the trash left in their wake only a few feet from where we sleep/eat/live. All while their empty tents remain up around the surrounding walkways.

Also, now that neither sidewalk is available, the residents are forced to walk in the street to avoid being engaged, muttered to, or have dogs off leashes barking and following them. And the transients track us. They watch us, what we drive, when we come and go. And they discuss it openly. Last weekend I watched a homeless man enter the code for our front door, walk through the hallway out the back, and sort through the recyclables in the city containers BEHIND our locked gates.

They play music and eat and drink and smoke and scream and curse and sleep ALL DAY within two yards of where we live. They bring folding chairs--and wooden chairs!--and blankets and pillows. They occupy the residential side of the street and don't go back to their tents until after dinner when the Salvation Army feeds them, leaving their trash behind.

Is the extent of police contribution "overseeing clean-up crews", during sporadic cleanup days only, so that "another city worker" has to pick up after this disrespectful hoard? If that's the case, at least turn your heads right and left to look to the surrounding sidewalks & Tamarind Avenue instead of just focusing on the row of tents on the South side of Carlos... Because the vagrant occupiers (a "transient" would eventually go somewhere else) and their trash are everywhere.

Today the occupation on the North side of Carlos and subsequent yelling (screaming to others in their encampment way down the street, again, while police were present) immediately outside of our windows began around 8am. Sunday it started before 10am and went on into the night. I work in order to be able to afford to take care of my responsibilities--they don't and don't want to--but I deserve to be awaken with ongoing screaming 4-5 feet outside the perimeter of our home? Where's the incentive in paying taxes? What's the incentive of being a productive member of society if you force/abandon us to be on the occupiers' schedule?

I called the non-emergency police—I have incident report #s—all weekend and nothing was done.

There is no public sanitation in the area. Should I be comfortable with them dumping feces in the storm drains just five feet from our building, our bedrooms? Along with the food they bring over and leave out all day, the rats they attract are being drawn to our part of the street. Do we deserve rats, fleas, typhus?

I hope and pray that karma finds you and your children and pays you back for the disregard and apathy you've shown us legal, legitimate and taxpaying Angelinos. You could do more but you don't. They don't respect your authority. We hear them laugh at you before and after you leave. And you enable their behavior and give them a pass why?... Because you hate paperwork?

There are laws about setting up chairs on sidewalks, right?

About laying down and also, in general, blocking sidewalks? What about the out of state vehicles that don't register or renew or their tags? They don't smog check. They don't get tickets or towed either. They pollute, and violate other laws by sleeping in/living out of their vehicles so close to a children's school. But you don't police them. You make it easy for them to stay put, and invite more to join them in the area.

Don't blame the lawmakers (though they surely deserve their share) when you don't even enforce the laws that are, have been and remain on the books. Own your "as long as it's not happening in front of my home" attitude. But, in my opinion, your neglect is as criminal as the vagrants taking advantage of our good (albeit too passive) nature.

Good morning,

As you may be aware, over the past several years, the City Attorney's Offices' practice around the California Public Records Act has increased -- both as to advice to and consultation with our clients and the litigation involving CPRA requests. To this end, we are adding dedicated resources to address this increase and assure consistency in our advice and litigation strategy.

Deputy City Attorney Bethelwel Wilson will be the lead on providing advice to elected officials and their offices. We are hoping to setup a time next week (July 22nd through July 26th) to visit your office and speak with you or another member of your staff who typically handles CPRA requests in order to introduce ourselves and to let you know about this new resource for your Council office.

I will follow up as to your availability. Thank you very much for your attention and we look forward to meeting with you very soon.

Frank Mateljan

Dear Mr. Sean Starkey,
Now that Mr. Dan Halden is no longer the Deputy Field Officer here, and during our first meeting with you, you said you would be following up our application for the Preferential Parking District Permit, our residents would like to know the status of said application. We started this project more than a year ago, painstakingly gathering signatures from residents. Formal application was filed September of 2018. We were promised June of 2019. It's now almost end of July and we have not had a word from Felix, the person in charge, nor from you.

I wasn't going to mention it, but adding it in to things to watch out for. It definitely doesn't compare to Jordan's story (sorry you had to go through that).

Laws do not exist anymore. The LAPD is not respected, what they say does not matter.
They know they will not be arrested if they brake a law. Everything is in their hands and they want us to be afraid to walk on the streets or even drive. Nothing is safe here anymore. They know they can do whatever they want.
Even the mentally ill people have their freedom to do what they want.

Let alone us, little people who work hard and try everything to live their lives as responsible, honest and fair citizens. WE DO NOT MATTER AT ALL!

The answer from the LAPD is unbelievable when Matthew called about the mentally ill, swearing guy in front of our building, 'Called emergency line, who told me I was not the first to call.' Is this what we can expect from them?
That is really sad too.

Everything points out that we are on our own. This beautiful city is going downhill every day. Sad and scary.

Blessings to All!

It's pretty clear that the LAPD and our elected officials are going to do nothing. Even after The City Of LA has done press saying they are going to do more - they area has only worsened. Some of the tenants have met up with The LAPD and city officials and they've lied to us time after time. Laws were created for a reason. No one - regardless of their situation- should be able to shoot up, drink alcohol, litter, damage property, urinate and defecate - all in public.

> Thanks so much for letting us know about both of these situations, and so sorry to hear about your experience, Jordon. :((That's terrifying, though not surprising when you see what's happening out there this summer.

It's really good to have this community of neighbors keeping an eye out and informing each other, especially as it seems that all the proactive work being done by Seargant Gearny and her team last year has stopped and these streets are getting even worse now. The LAPD have not created a presence here, beyond enforcing tents-down time along the wall, which only sends the homeless to sit outside our residences, block our access, and get into more confrontations with residents.

So it seems we're on our own until someone is killed or injured (either from a confrontation or hit by a car as we can't use the sidewalk anymore), but at least we'll have these emails showing how long we've reported problems and begged for support.

Re neighborhood watch: For those who live in the Tamarind cul-de-sac, please be wary. There seems to be an unstable/agitated man (skinny black guy) living in one of the tents there. I saw him wandering in circles at night, gesturing and talking in an aggressive way to no one. When a neighbor drove into the cul-de-sac looking for a park, he scurried to crouch down and hide between the parked cars.

Please be wary when coming/going from your home, as it seems we have not only the abusive/violent group who fly into a rage every afternoon like clockwork, but also some seriously paranoid and suspicious people who could be hiding and/or see you as a threat. Be careful. :((

Watch out for this guy. Clearly unstable and I've seen him pacing around our block in random directions several times over the past few weeks.

All wearing mono-chromatic, matching sweat suits. Hoods pulled down to cover their hair, face warming gaiters to cover their face. Most likely members of a nearby neighborhood gang.

I was walking north on Bronson, south of Hollywood Blvd. At the corner of Carlton Way and Bronson. A man jumped out from behind a corner and put a shotgun to my face, demanding my wallet. Then, another came up behind me, put a pistol to the back of my head, and demanded my cell phone. Once, I gave up my items, a third man drove up around the corner in a get-a-away car, and they drove off.

I walked over the fire station around the corner to ask for help, and some bleary eyed LAFD guy told me I had to go to the police for that. THANKS BRO.

The next day, I filed a police report. I know full well they won't be able to find them. LAPD is spread so thin. They are severely understaffed. They are exhausted. There is more crazy violent crime out there than what is actually happening on Carlos and Tamarind. But they are related, and we are being run over.

All you have to do is follow the money. Hollywood is being redeveloped. The homeless are being backed into a literal corner. The church is trying to have an ordinance not allowing them within 500 feet. The buildings on our block are old. There are roaches and black mold in the walls. As long as they stay way, nothing will change.

My suggestion, be more than careful out there. Get out if you can. It's only going to get worse. Someone could die. Even then, you would just be another statistic in a stack of paper. Maybe you have people who care, maybe you don't. This city can be a lonely place.

Hopefully, a bigger Earthquake doesn't happen. You know the fault line ends right along Yucca, near the overpass on Gower, right? LA removed the ordinance limiting building height. The BIG ONE is coming.

Get out of there ASAP.

I honestly feel like I'm going insane listening to their loud music and abusive screaming threats every single day directly outside our apartment windows.

I have a hypothetical question for the LAPD. If we were to collect all the trash, human feces and used paper in our street and take it over to some nice homes in the more well-off Franklin area, and we spread it all along their lawns and then, every single afternoon like clockwork, we stood directly outside their open windows where the residents were trying to work/sleep and just blasted loud music for hours while screaming abuse, are there any laws or regulations that would enable you to act on this?

Can you tell us they are so we can reference them when we call asking you to keep the peace in this less-well-off area as well? Why do we have to walk across the freeway to see how it could be?

Yes we call the non-emergency number asking for help all the time.
What should we expect you to actually change about the situation when we do this? Anything?

A responding officer said: Keep calling, eventually they'll be cited. And when they don't show up in court, they get issued a warrant. And eventually we will run their IDs, see the outstanding warrant and we can arrest them.

But these responding officers didn't cite them (even though the occupiers said they'd move and stop blocking the sidewalks but stayed put). No officers do. So warrants never get issued. And police ultimately don't bother to run their IDs anyway. Most responders to calls don't even get out of their vehicles.

One or both may have said: That's why it's important we communicate this to local representatives to change the laws. But, I asked, what difference would new laws make if you don't enforce the laws we already have?

I'm being targeted for harassment by the encampment occupiers because I'm standing up for myself and asking police to enforce the law; because I'm intolerant of their partying, hollering, smoking, vulgarity, overtaking the sidewalks and leaving food and trash literally right outside our home. Let them hang out under the shady trees of the non-residential buildings or parking lots in the area. Or inside their tents.
But ensure us taxpaying, rent paying residents have the safety and acceptable limited noise-levels we also deserve.

I AM REQUESTING POLICE DO A NARCOTICS INVESTIGATION (their due diligence, for 30 days) AND SUBSEQUENT REPORT ON THESE STREETS AT CARLOS AND TAMARIND. These encampment occupiers are up and alert day and night, which is unnatural, and vehicles swing by (cars, bikes, scooters) seemingly to conduct business transactions 7 days/week, 24 hours/day. Note the attached two videos recorded last night (which is a Monday)—taken 1 hour apart (1130pm-1230am)—wherein:

- a male continuously walks in circles on the sidewalk and street in front of our residence (this began and continued beyond the hour duration captured on these clips)
- at least two people are active inside the tents at the end while at least one other moves between the tents 3 or 4 spaces to the left and those at the end.

NEIGHBORS: In the meantime, I am begging all of you and anyone who empathizes with our situation to register to vote so we can vote out every elected official who is overseeing our community. Here's a link to ensure you are able to vote when that time comes:
https://registertovote.ca.gov/

Vote against Garcetti, Dan Halden, Sean Starky, and any other "official" on these emails and/or those who put or kept them in positions of power.

We may not have the bandwidth to complain every day (but don't get your hopes up that we will give up either).

Sure, today they may have set up shop outside our home at noon instead of 10am, but they have been going strong ALL DAY, EVERY DAY with the noise: music, cursing, yelling, dogs barking... Here's a fresh recording taken from INSIDE the apartment building just now:

<New Recording 4.m4a>

They continue to leave food and other trash behind, unwanted clothing hanging on our fence, poison and broken glass spread around our home. This will be ground zero for the Angeles Plague (Is that the plan?)

"Law enforcement" rolls by but do not engage the "voluntarily homeless"; police have given them the run of our streets, and local politicians are OK with it.

They're occupying all surrounding sidewalks while their tents remain up; cooking up vittles over raging open fires on the lawn and under the trees (see photos). The earthquake was less troubling than streets around our homes.

POLICE— Police our area. If you're "reaching out" to the encampment, what are you asking of them?
POLITICIANS— These are not LA citizens who lost their homes because their rents went up or they lost their jobs. These are opportunists (many who came from out of state for the sole purpose of) capitalizing on your collective inaction/ineptitude/passivity and taking advantage of same AND our resources. Lawmakers visiting the immigrant detainment centers spoke of overwhelming smells of body odor, urine and feces... But that describes our neighborhood ALL DAY EVERY DAY... All due to your selective governing and inhumanity towards those of us who legally live here.

With any due respect, this response was, at best, inadequate and, at worst, insulting. The request was not to "force relocate"; Rather, I read it as asking the police to uphold the law. There are laws that can be enforced, right?

Once again, in your [Shannon Geany's] words, "Carlos/Tamarind remains as Hollywood's largest and most entrenched encampment".

We see you occasionally break up other transient tent communities (on El Centro, on Vine, on Highland, off Franklin, etc...), yet the disregard for our street continues and escalates. You pick and choose when and where to follow and/or enforce the law. Even this morning police were present as crews cleaned--and transients laid on sidewalks--but the police enforced no laws in regards to taking down tents or making sidewalks available for residents (many of whom are elderly). The transients' occupied territory grows and you do nothing.

Some of these same people have been here over 2 years. They keep their tents set up all day because police only enforce those laws when it serves private interest, like local "church" events. And the transients know this, and know you mostly otherwise won't be coming around or engaging them.

Now they hang out under our shady trees immediately outside of our residence on the North side of Carlos—daily, even though their tents are still up (as has been permitted for so long) on the South side of Carlos—Completely taking over and blocking all sidewalks. No resident wants to be caught taking pictures of them, but I've attached some images of them/the trash left in their wake only a few feet from where we sleep/eat/live. All while their empty tents remain up around the surrounding walkways.

Also, now that neither sidewalk is available, the residents are forced to walk in the street to avoid being engaged, muttered to, or have dogs off leashes barking and following them. And the transients track us. They watch us, what we drive, when we come and go. And they discuss it openly. Last weekend I watched a homeless man enter the code for our front door, walk through the hallway out the back, and sort through the recyclables in the city containers BEHIND our locked gates.

They play music and eat and drink and smoke and scream and curse and sleep ALL DAY within two yards of where we live. They bring folding chairs--and wooden chairs!--and blankets and pillows. They occupy the residential side of the street and don't go back to their tents until after dinner when the Salvation Army feeds them, leaving their trash behind.

Is the extent of police contribution "overseeing clean-up crews", during sporadic cleanup days only, so that "another city worker" has to pick up after this disrespectful hoard? If that's the case, at least turn your heads right and left to look to the surrounding sidewalks & Tamarind Avenue instead of just focusing on the row of tents on the South side of Carlos... Because the vagrant occupiers (a "transient" would eventually go somewhere else) and their trash are everywhere.

Today the occupation on the North side of Carlos and subsequent yelling (screaming to others in their encampment way down the street, again, while police were present) immediately outside of our windows began around 8am. Sunday it started before 10am and went on into the night. I work in order to be able to afford to take care of my responsibilities--they don't and don't want to--but I deserve to be awaken with ongoing screaming 4-5 feet outside the perimeter of our home? Where's the incentive in paying taxes? What's the incentive of being a productive member of society if you force/abandon us to be on the occupiers' schedule?

I called the non-emergency police—I have incident report #s—all weekend and nothing was done.

There is no public sanitation in the area. Should I be comfortable with them dumping feces in the storm drains just five feet from our building, our bedrooms? Along with the food they bring over and leave out all day, the rats they attract are being drawn to our part of the street. Do we deserve rats, fleas, typhus?

I hope and pray that karma finds you and your children and pays you back for the disregard and apathy you've shown us legal, legitimate and taxpaying Angelinos. You could do more but you don't. They don't respect your authority. We hear them laugh at you before and after you leave. And you enable their behavior and give them a pass why?... Because you hate paperwork?

There are laws about setting up chairs on sidewalks, right? About laying down and also, in general, blocking sidewalks? What about the out of state vehicles that don't register or renew or their tags? They don't smog check. They don't get tickets or towed either. They pollute, and violate other laws by sleeping in/living out of their vehicles so close to a children's school. But you don't police them. You make it easy for them to stay put, and invite more to join them in the area.

Don't blame the lawmakers (though they surely deserve their share) when you don't even enforce the laws that are, have been and remain on the books. Own your "as long as it's not happening in front of my home" attitude. But, in my opinion, your neglect is as criminal as the vagrants taking advantage of our good (albeit too passive) nature.

Laws do not exist anymore. The LAPD is not respected, what they say does not matter.
They know they will not be arrested if they brake a law. Everything is in their hands and they want us to be afraid to walk on the streets or even drive. Nothing is safe here anymore. They know they can do whatever they want.
Even the mentally ill people have their freedom to do what they want.

Let alone us, little people who work hard and try everything to live their lives as responsible, honest and fair citizens. WE DO NOT MATTER AT ALL!

The answer from the LAPD is unbelievable when Matthew called about the mentally ill, swearing guy in front of our building, 'Called emergency line, who told me I was not the first to call.' Is this what we can expect from them?

That is really sad too.

Everything points out that we are on our own. This beautiful city is going downhill every day. Sad and scary.

It's really good to have this community of neighbors keeping an eye out and informing each other, especially as it seems that all the proactive work being done by Seargant Gearny and her team last year has stopped and these streets are getting even worse now. The LAPD have not created a presence here, beyond enforcing tents-down time along the wall, which only sends the homeless to sit outside our residences, block our access, and get into more confrontations with residents.

So it seems we're on our own until someone is killed or injured (either from a confrontation or hit by a car as we can't use the sidewalk anymore), but at least we'll have these emails showing how long we've reported problems and begged for support.

Re neighborhood watch: For those who live in the Tamarind cul-de-sac, please be wary. There seems to be an unstable/agitated man (skinny black guy) living in one of the tents there. I saw him wandering in circles at night, gesturing and talking in an aggressive way to no one. When a neighbor drove into the cul-de-sac looking for a park, he scurried to crouch down and hide between the parked cars.

Please be wary when coming/going from your home, as it seems we have not only the abusive/violent group who fly into a rage every afternoon like clockwork, but also some seriously paranoid and suspicious people who could be hiding and/or see you as a threat. Be careful. :((

All wearing mono-chromatic, matching sweat suits. Hoods pulled down to cover their hair, face warming gaiters to cover their face. Most likely members of a nearby neighborhood gang.

I was walking north on Bronson, south of Hollywood Blvd. At the corner of Carlton Way and Bronson. A man jumped out from behind a corner and put a shotgun to my face, demanding my wallet. Then, another came up behind me, put a pistol to the back of my head, and demanded my cell phone. Once, I gave up my items, a third man drove up around the corner in a get-a-away car, and they drove off.

I walked over the fire station around the corner to ask for help, and some bleary eyed LAFD guy told me I had to go to the police for that. THANKS BRO.

The next day, I filed a police report. I know full well they won't be able to find them. LAPD is spread so thin. They are severely understaffed. They are exhausted. There is more crazy violent crime out there than what is actually happening on Carlos and Tamarind. But they are related, and we are being run over.

All you have to do is follow the money. Hollywood is being redeveloped. The homeless are being backed into a literal corner. The church is trying to have an ordinance not allowing them within 500 feet. The buildings on our block are old. There are roaches and black mold in the walls. As long as they stay way, nothing will change.

My suggestion, be more than careful out there. Get out if you can. It's only going to get worse. Someone could die. Even then, you would just be another statistic in a stack of paper. Maybe you have people who care, maybe you don't. This city can be a lonely place.

Hopefully, a bigger Earthquake doesn't happen. You know the fault line ends right along Yucca, near the overpass on Gower, right? LA removed the ordinance limiting building height. The BIG ONE is coming.

Get out of there ASAP.

I have a hypothetical question for the LAPD. If we were to collect all the trash, human feces and used paper in our street and take it over to some nice homes in the more well-off Franklin area, and we spread it all along their lawns and then, every single afternoon like clockwork, we stood directly outside their open windows where the residents were trying to work/sleep and just blasted loud music for hours while screaming abuse, are there any laws or regulations that would enable you to act on this?

Can you tell us they are so we can reference them when we call asking you to keep the peace in this less-well-off area as well? Why do we have to walk across the freeway to see how it could be?

Yes we call the non-emergency number asking for help all the time.
What should we expect you to actually change about the situation when we do this? Anything?

This is the second weekend that I called for a police response, only to find my car has again been intentionally scratched or “keyed” overnight.

Along with the verbal harassment (and objects thrown at some of us) we are all experiencing, they’re literally using terroristic tactics and vandalizing property to attempt to drive us away or into silence. They are violent, fight amongst themselves, and have even less reservations about engaging those outside their “community”.

A responding officer said: Keep calling, eventually they’ll be cited. And when they don’t show up in court, they get issued a warrant. And eventually we will run their IDs, see the outstanding warrant and we can arrest them.

But these responding officers didn’t cite them (even though the occupiers said they’d move and stop blocking the sidewalks but stayed put). No officers do. So warrants never get issued. And police ultimately don’t bother to run their IDs anyway. Most responders to calls don’t even get out of their vehicles.

One or both may have said: That’s why it’s important we communicate this to local representatives to change the laws. But, I asked, what difference would new laws make if you don’t enforce the laws we already have?

I’m being targeted for harassment by the encampment occupiers because I’m standing up for myself and asking police to enforce the law; because I’m intolerant of their partying, hollering, smoking, vulgarity, overtaking the sidewalks and leaving food and trash literally right outside our home. Let them hang out under the shady trees of the non-residential buildings or parking lots in the area. Or inside their tents.
But ensure us taxpaying, rent paying residents have the safety and acceptable limited noise-levels we also deserve.

I AM REQUESTING POLICE DO A NARCOTICS INVESTIGATION (their due diligence, for 30 days) AND SUBSEQUENT REPORT ON THESE STREETS AT CARLOS AND TAMARIND. These encampment occupiers are up and alert day and night, which is unnatural, and vehicles swing by (cars, bikes, scooters) seemingly to conduct business transactions 7 days/week, 24 hours/day. Note the attached two videos recorded last night (which is a Monday)—taken 1 hour apart (1130pm-1230am)—wherein:

- a male continuously walks in circles on the sidewalk and street in front of our residence (this began and continued beyond the hour duration captured on these clips)
- at least two people are active inside the tents at the end while at least one other moves between the tents 3 or 4 spaces to the left and those at the end.

NEIGHBORS: In the meantime, I am begging all of you and anyone who empathizes with our situation to register to vote so we can vote out every elected official who is overseeing our community. Here's a link to ensure you are able to vote when that time comes:

https://registertovote.ca.gov/

Vote against Garcetti, Dan Halden, Sean Starky, and any other "official" on these emails and/or those who put or kept them in positions of power.

With any due respect, this response was, at best, inadequate and, at worst, insulting. The request was not to "force relocate"; Rather, I read it as asking the police to uphold the law. There are laws that can be enforced, right?

Once again, in your [Shannon Geany's] words, "Carlos/Tamarind remains as Hollywood's largest and most entrenched encampment".

We see you occasionally break up other transient tent communities (on El Centro, on Vine, on Highland, off Franklin, etc...), yet the disregard for our street continues and escalates. You pick and choose when and where to follow and/or enforce the law. Even this morning police were present as crews cleaned--and transients laid on sidewalks--but the police enforced no laws in regards to taking down tents or making sidewalks available for residents (many of whom are elderly). The transients' occupied territory grows and you do nothing.

Some of these same people have been here over 2 years. They keep their tents set up all day because police only enforce those laws when it serves private interest, like local "church" events. And the transients know this, and know you mostly otherwise won't be coming around or engaging them.

Now they hang out under our shady trees immediately outside of our residence on the North side of Carlos—daily, even though their tents are still up (as has been permitted for so long) on the South side of Carlos—Completely taking over and blocking all sidewalks. No resident wants to be caught taking pictures of them, but I've attached some images of them/the trash left in their wake only a few feet from where we sleep/eat/live. All while their empty tents remain up around the surrounding walkways.

Also, now that neither sidewalk is available, the residents are forced to walk in the street to avoid being engaged, muttered to, or have dogs off leashes barking and following them. And the transients track us. They watch us, what we drive, when we come and go. And they discuss it openly. Last weekend I watched a homeless man enter the code for our front door, walk through the hallway out the back, and sort through the recyclables in the city containers BEHIND our locked gates.

They play music and eat and drink and smoke and scream and curse and sleep ALL DAY within two yards of where we live. They bring folding chairs--and wooden chairs!--and blankets and pillows. They occupy the residential side of the street and don't go back to their tents until after dinner when the Salvation Army feeds them, leaving their trash behind.

Is the extent of police contribution "overseeing clean-up crews", during sporadic cleanup days only, so that "another city worker" has to pick up after this disrespectful hoard? If that's the case, at least turn your heads right and left to look to the surrounding sidewalks & Tamarind Avenue instead of just focusing on the row of tents on the South side of Carlos... Because the vagrant occupiers (a "transient" would eventually go somewhere else) and their trash are everywhere.

Today the occupation on the North side of Carlos and subsequent yelling (screaming to others in their encampment way down the street, again, while police were present) immediately outside of our windows began around 8am. Sunday it started before 10am and went on into the night. I work in order to be able to afford to take care of my responsibilities--they don't and don't want to--but I deserve to be awaken with ongoing screaming 4-5 feet outside the perimeter of our home? Where's the incentive in paying taxes? What's the incentive of being a productive member of society if you force/abandon us to be on the occupiers' schedule?

I called the non-emergency police—I have incident report #s—all weekend and nothing was done.

There is no public sanitation in the area. Should I be comfortable with them dumping feces in the storm drains just five feet from our building, our bedrooms? Along with the food they bring over and leave out all day, the rats they attract are being drawn to our part of the street. Do we deserve rats, fleas, typhus?

I hope and pray that karma finds you and your children and pays you back for the disregard and apathy you've shown us legal, legitimate and taxpaying Angelinos. You could do more but you don't. They don't respect your authority. We hear them laugh at you before and after you leave. And you enable their behavior and give them a pass why?... Because you hate paperwork?

There are laws about setting up chairs on sidewalks, right? About laying down and also, in general, blocking sidewalks? What about the out of state vehicles that don't register or renew or their tags? They don't smog check. They don't get tickets or towed either. They pollute, and violate other laws by sleeping in/living out of their vehicles so close to a children's school. But you don't police them. You make it easy for them to stay put, and invite more to join them in the area.

Don't blame the lawmakers (though they surely deserve their share) when you don't even enforce the laws that are, have been and remain on the books. Own your "as long as it's not happening in front of my home" attitude. But, in my opinion, your neglect is as criminal as the vagrants taking advantage of our good (albeit too passive) nature.

All you have to do is follow the money. Hollywood is being redeveloped. The homeless are being backed into a literal corner. As long as they stay way, nothing will change.

My suggestion, be more than careful out there. Get out if you can. It's only going to get worse. Someone could die. Even then, you would just be another statistic in a stack of paper. Maybe you have people who care, maybe you don't. This city can be a lonely place.

I have a hypothetical question for the LAPD. If we were to collect all the trash, human feces and used paper in our street and take it over to some nice homes in the more well-off Franklin area, and we spread it all along their lawns and then, every single afternoon like clockwork, we stood directly outside their open windows where the residents were trying to work/sleep and just blasted loud music for hours while screaming abuse, are there any laws or regulations that would enable you to act on this?

Can you tell us they are so we can reference them when we call asking you to keep the peace in this less-well-off area as well? Why do we have to walk across the freeway to see how it could be?

Yes we call the non-emergency number asking for help all the time.
What should we expect you to actually change about the situation when we do this? Anything?

With any due respect, this response was, at best, inadequate and, at worst, insulting. The request was not to "force relocate"; Rather, I read it as asking the polic e to uphold the law. There are laws that can be enforced, right?

Once again, in your [Shannon Geany's] words, "Carlos/Tamarind remains as Hollywood's largest and most entrenched encampment".

We see you occasionally break up other transient tent communities (on El Centro, on Vine, on Highland, off Franklin, etc...), yet the disregard for our street continues and escalates. You pick and choose when and where to follow and/or enforce the law. Even this morning police were present as crews cleaned—and transients laid on sidewalks—but the police enforced no laws in regards to taking down tents or making sidewalks available for residents (many of whom are elderly). The transients' occupied territory grows and you do nothing.

Some of these same people have been here over 2 years. They keep their tents set up all day because police only enforce those laws when it serves private interest, like local “church” events. And the transients know this, and know you mostly otherwise won’t be coming around or engaging them.

Now they hang out under our shady trees immediately outside of our residence on the North side of Carl os— daily, even though their tents are still up (as has been permitted for so long) on the South side of Carlos—Completely taking over and blocking all sidewalks. No resident wants to be caught taking pictures of them, but I've attached some images of them/the trash left in their wake only a few feet from where we sleep/eat/live. All while their empty tents remain up around the surrounding walkways.

Also, now that neither sidewalk is available, the residents are forced to walk in the street to avoid being engaged, muttered to, or have dogs off leas hes barking and following them. And the transients track us. They watch us, what we drive, when we come and go. And they discuss it openly. Last weekend I watched a homeless man enter the code for our front door, walk through the hallway out the back, and sort through the recy clables in the city containers BEHIND our locked gates.

They play music and eat and drink and smoke and scream and curse and sleep ALL DAY within two yards of where we live. They bring folding chairs-- and wooden chairs!-- and blankets and pillows. They occupy the resid ential side of the street and don't go back to their tents until after dinner when the Salvation Army feeds them, leaving their trash behind.

Is the extent of police contribution "overseeing clean-up crews", during sporadic cleanup days only, so that "another city worker" has to pick up after this disrespectful hoard? If that's the case, at least turn your heads right and left to look to the surrounding sidewalks & Tamarind Avenue instead of just focusing on the row of tents on the South side of Carlos... Because the vagrant occupiers (a "transient" would eventually go somewhere else) and their trash are everywhere.

Today the occupation on the North side of Carlos and subsequent yelling (screaming to others in their encampment way down the street, again, while police were present) immediately outside of our windows began around 8am

. Sunday it started before 10am and went on into the night. I work in order to be able to afford to take care of my responsibilities-- they don't and don't want to-- but I deserve to be awaken with ongoing screaming 4-5 feet outside the perimeter of our home? Where's the incentive in payi ng taxes? What's the incentive of being a productive member of society if you force/abandon us to be on the occupiers' schedule?

I called the non-emergency police—I have incident report #s—all weekend and nothing was done.

There is no public sanitation in the area

. Should I be comfortable with them dumping feces in the storm drains just five feet from our building, our bedrooms? Along with the food they bring over and leave out all day, the rats they attract are being drawn to our part of the street. Do we deserve rats, fleas, typhus?

I hope and pray that karma finds you and your children and pays you back for the disregard and apathy you’ve shown us legal, legitimate and taxpaying Angelinos. You could do more but you don’t. They don’t respect your authority. We hear them laugh at you before and after you leave. And you enable their behavior and give them a pass why?... Because you hate paperwork?

There are laws about setting up chairs on sidewalks, right? About laying down and also, in general, blocking sidewalks? What about the out of state vehicles that don't register or renew or their tags? They don't smog check. They don't get tickets or towed either. They pollute, and violate other laws by sleeping in/living out of their vehicles so close to a children's school. But you don't police them. You make it easy for them to stay put, and invit e more to join them in the area.

Don’t blame the lawmakers (though they surely deserve their share) when you don’t even enforce the laws that are, have been and remain on the books. Own your “as long as it’s not happening in front of my home” attitude. But, in my opinion, your neglect is as criminal as the vagrants taking advantage of our good (albeit too passive) nature.

Just a heads up to everyone, there also seems to be dangerous driving going on. Last week I had to dodge out of the way after a car sped off after the driver was arguing loudly with someone at the homeless encampments. That someone chased & screamed after the car, while the car was speeding & swerving away.
So we can't use the sidewalk, but also the homeless community is factoring in to dangerous driving on the street.

I wasn't going to mention it, but adding it in to things to watch out for. It definitely doesn't compare to Jordan's story (sorry you had to go through that).

Laws do not exist anymore. The LAPD is not respected, what they say does not matter.
They know they will not be arrested if they brake a law. Everything is in their hands and they want us to be afraid to walk on the streets or even drive. Nothing is safe here anymore. They know they can do whatever they want.
Even the mentally ill people have their freedom to do what they want.

Let alone us, little people who work hard and try everything to live their lives as responsible, honest and fair citizens. WE DO NOT MATTER AT ALL!

The answer from the LAPD is unbelievable when Matthew called about the mentally ill, swearing guy in front of our building, 'Called emergency line, who told me I was not the first to call.' Is this what we can expect from them?
That is really sad too.

Everything points out that we are on our own. This beautiful city is going downhill every day. Sad and scary.

Blessings to All!

It's really good to have this community of neighbors keeping an eye out and informing each other, especially as it seems that all the proactive work being done by Seargant Gearny and her team last year has stopped and these streets are getting even worse now. The LAPD have not created a presence here, beyond enforcing tents-down time along the wall, which only sends the homeless to sit outside our residences, block our access, and get into more confrontations with residents.

So it seems we're on our own until someone is killed or injured (either from a confrontation or hit by a car as we can't use the sidewalk anymore), but at least we'll have these emails showing how long we've reported problems and begged for support.

Re neighborhood watch: For those who live in the Tamarind cul-de-sac, please be wary. There seems to be an unstable/agitated man (skinny black guy) living in one of the tents there. I saw him wandering in circles at night, gesturing and talking in an aggressive way to no one. When a neighbor drove into the cul-de-sac looking for a park, he scurried to crouch down and hide between the parked cars.

Please be wary when coming/going from your home, as it seems we have not only the abusive/violent group who fly into a rage every afternoon like clockwork, but also some seriously paranoid and suspicious people who could be hiding and/or see you as a threat. Be careful. :((

All while their empty tents remain up around the surrounding walk ways.

Also, now that neither sidewalk is available, the residents are forced to walk in the street to avoid being engaged, muttered to, or have dogs off leashes barking and following them. And the transients track us. They watch us, what we drive, when we come and go. And they discuss it openly. Last weekend I watched a homeless man enter the code for our front door, walk through the hallway out the back, and sort through the recyclables in the city containers BEHIND our locked gates.

They play music and eat and drink and smoke and scream and curse and sleep ALL DAY within two yards of where we live. They bring folding chairs--and wooden chairs!--and blankets and pillows. Sad but so true.

Laws do not exist anymore. The LAPD is not respected, what they say does not matter.
They know they will not be arrested if they brake a law. Everything is in their hands and they want us to be afraid to walk on the streets or even drive. Nothing is safe here anymore. They know they can do whatever they want.
Even the mentally ill people have their freedom to do what they want.

Let alone us, little people who work hard and try everything to live their lives as responsible, honest and fair citizens. WE DO NOT MATTER AT ALL!

The answer from the LAPD is unbelievable when Matthew called about the mentally ill, swearing guy in front of our building, 'Called emergency line, who told me I was not the first to call.' Is this what we can expect from them?
That is really sad too.

Everything points out that we are on our own. This beautiful city is going downhill every day. Sad and scary.

Blessings to All!

Some of the tenants have met up with The LAPD and city officials and they've lied to us time after time.

Laws were created for a reason. No one - regardless of their situation- should be able to shoot up, drink alcohol, litter, damage property, urinate and defecate - all in public.

Thanks so much for letting us know about both of these situations, and so sorry to hear about your experience, Jordon. :((That's terrifying, though not surprising when you see what's happening out there this summer.

It's really good to have this community of neighbors keeping an eye out and informing each other, especially as it seems that all the proactive work being done by Seargant Gearny and her team last year has stopped and these streets are getting even worse now. The LAPD have not created a presence here, beyond enforcing tents-down time along the wall, which only sends the homeless to sit outside our residences, block our access, and get into more confrontations with residents.

So it seems we're on our own until someone is killed or injured (either from a confrontation or hit by a car as we can't use the sidewalk anymore), but at least we'll have these emails showing how long we've reported problems and begged for support.

Re neighborhood watch: For those who live in the Tamarind cul-de-sac, please be wary. There seems to be an unstable/agitated man (skinny black guy) living in one of the tents there. I saw him wandering in circles at night, gesturing and talking in an aggressive way to no one. When a neighbor drove into the cul-de-sac looking for a park, he scurried to crouch down and hide between the parked cars.

Please be wary when coming/going from your home, as it seems we have not only the abusive/violent group who fly into a rage every afternoon like clockwork, but also some seriously paranoid and suspicious people who could be hiding and/or see you as a threat. Be careful. :((

Watch out for this guy. Clearly unstable and I've seen him pacing around our block in random directions several times over the past few weeks.

Everyone,
I recently moved out of the 1762 because I was robbed at gun point walking home from a friend's house. Granted it was 4am, but this was a pre-meditated strike. It was three men in total. All wearing mono-chromatic, matching sweat suits. Hoods pulled down to cover their hair, face warming gaiters to cover their face. Most likely members of a nearby neighborhood gang.

I was walking north on Bronson, south of Hollywood Blvd. At the corner of Carlton Way and Bronson. A man jumped out from behind a corner and put a shotgun to my face, demanding my wallet. Then, another came up behind me, put a pistol to the back of my head, and demanded my cell phone. Once, I gave up my items, a third man drove up around the corner in a get-a-away car, and they drove off.

I walked over the fire station around the corner to ask for help, and some bleary eyed LAFD guy told me I had to go to the police for that. THANKS BRO.

The next day, I filed a police report. I know full well they won't be able to find them. LAPD is spread so thin. They are severely understaffed. They are exhausted. There is more crazy violent crime out there than what is actually happening on Carlos and Tamarind. But they are related, and we are being run over.

All you have to do is follow the money. Hollywood is being redeveloped. The homeless are being backed into a literal corner. The church is trying to have an ordinance not allowing them within 500 feet. The buildings on our block are old. There are roaches and black mold in the walls. As long as they stay way, nothing will change.

My suggestion, be more than careful out there. Get out if you can. It's only going to get worse. Someone could die. Even then, you would just be another statistic in a stack of paper. Maybe you have people who care, maybe you don't. This city can be a lonely place.

Hopefully, a bigger Earthquake doesn't happen. You know the fault line ends right along Yucca, near the overpass on Gower, right? LA removed the ordinance limiting building height. The BIG ONE is coming.

Get out of there ASAP.

I have a hypothetical question for the LAPD. If we were to collect all the trash, human feces and used paper in our street and take it over to some nice homes in the more well-off Franklin area, and we spread it all along their lawns and then, every single afternoon like clockwork, we stood directly outside their open windows where the residents were trying to work/sleep and just blasted loud music for hours while screaming abuse, are there any laws or regulations that would enable you to act on this?

Can you tell us they are so we can reference them when we call asking you to keep the peace in this less-well-off area as well? Why do we have to walk across the freeway to see how it could be?

Yes we call the non-emergency number asking for help all the time.
What should we expect you to actually change about the situation when we do this? Anything?

Along with the verbal harassment (and objects thrown at some of us) we are all experiencing, they're literally using terroristic tactics and vandalizing property to attempt to drive us away or into silence. They are violent, fight amongst themselves, and have even less reservations about engaging those outside their "community".

A responding officer said: Keep calling, eventually they'll be cited. And when they don't show up in court, they get issued a warrant. And eventually we will run their IDs, see the outstanding warrant and we can arrest them.

But these responding officers didn't cite them (even though the occupiers said they'd move and stop blocking the sidewalks but stayed put). No officers do. So warrants never get issued. And police ultimately don't bother to run their IDs anyway. Most responders to calls don't even get out of their vehicles.

One or both may have said: That's why it's important we communicate this to local representatives to change the laws. But, I asked, what difference would new laws make if you don't enforce the laws we already have?

I'm being targeted for harassment by the encampment occupiers because I'm standing up for myself and asking police to enforce the law; because I'm intolerant of their partying, hollering, smoking, vulgarity, overtaking the sidewalks and leaving food and trash literally right outside our home. Let them hang out under the shady trees of the non-residential buildings or parking lots in the area. Or inside their tents.

But ensure us taxpaying, rent paying residents have the safety and acceptable limited noise-levels we also deserve.

I AM REQUESTING POLICE DO A NARCOTICS INVESTIGATION (their due diligence, for 30 days) AND SUBSEQUENT REPORT ON THESE STREETS AT CARLOS AND TAMARIND. These encampment occupiers are up and alert day and night, which is unnatural, and vehicles swing by (cars, bikes, scooters) seemingly to conduct business transactions 7 days/week, 24 hours/day. Note the attached two videos recorded last night (which is a Monday)—taken 1 hour apart (1130pm-1230am)—wherein:

- a male continuously walks in circles on the sidewalk and street in front of our residence (this began and continued beyond the hour duration captured on these clips)
- at least two people are active inside the tents at the end while at least one other moves between the tents 3 or 4 spaces to the left and those at the end.

NEIGHBORS: In the meantime, I am begging all of you and anyone who empathizes with our situation to register to vote so we can vote out every elected official who is overseeing our community. Here's a link to ensure you are able to vote when that time comes:

https://registertovote.ca.gov/

Vote against Garcetti, Dan Halden, Sean Starky, and any other "official" on these emails and/or those who put or kept them in positions of power.

As Jordan mentioned:
"It's only going to get worse. Someone could die. Even then, you would just be another statistic in a stack of paper." Sad but so true.

Laws do not exist anymore. The LAPD is not respected, what they say does not matter.
They know they will not be arrested if they brake a law. Everything is in their hands and they want us to be afraid to walk on the streets or even drive. Nothing is safe here anymore. They know they can do whatever they want.
Even the mentally ill people have their freedom to do what they want.

Let alone us, little people who work hard and try everything to live their lives as responsible, honest and fair citizens. WE DO NOT MATTER AT ALL!

The answer from the LAPD is unbelievable when Matthew called about the mentally ill, swearing guy in front of our building, 'Called emergency line, who told me I was not the first to call.' Is this what we can expect from them?
That is really sad too.

Everything points out that we are on our own. This beautiful city is going downhill every day. Sad and scary.

Blessings to All!

Thanks so much for letting us know about both of these situations, and so sorry to hear about your experience, Jordon. :((That's terrifying, though not surprising when you see what's happening out there this summer.

It's really good to have this community of neighbors keeping an eye out and informing each other, especially as it seems that all the proactive work being done by Seargant Gearny and her team last year has stopped and these streets are getting even worse now. The LAPD have not created a presence here, beyond enforcing tents-down time along the wall, which only sends the homeless to sit outside our residences, block our access, and get into more confrontations with residents.

So it seems we're on our own until someone is killed or injured (either from a confrontation or hit by a car as we can't use the sidewalk anymore), but at least we'll have these emails showing how long we've reported problems and begged for support.

Re neighborhood watch: For those who live in the Tamarind cul-de-sac, please be wary. There seems to be an unstable/agitated man (skinny black guy) living in one of the tents there. I saw him wandering in circles at night, gesturing and talking in an aggressive way to no one. When a neighbor drove into the cul-de-sac looking for a park, he scurried to crouch down and hide between the parked cars.

Please be wary when coming/going from your home, as it seems we have not only the abusive/violent group who fly into a rage every afternoon like clockwork, but also some seriously paranoid and suspicious people who could be hiding and/or see you as a threat. Be careful. :((

Watch out for this guy. Clearly unstable and I've seen him pacing around our block in random directions several times over the past few weeks.

All wearing mono-chromatic, matching sweat suits. Hoods pulled down to cover their hair, face warming gaiters to cover their face. Most likely members of a nearby neighborhood gang.

I was walking north on Bronson, south of Hollywood Blvd. At the corner of Carlton Way and Bronson. A man jumped out from behind a corner and put a shotgun to my face, demanding my wallet. Then, another came up behind me, put a pistol to the back of my head, and demanded my cell phone. Once, I gave up my items, a third man drove up around the corner in a get-a-away car, and they drove off.

I walked over the fire station around the corner to ask for help, and some bleary eyed LAFD guy told me I had to go to the police for that. THANKS BRO.

The next day, I filed a police report. I know full well they won't be able to find them. LAPD is spread so thin. They are severely understaffed. They are exhausted. There is more crazy violent crime out there than what is actually happening on Carlos and Tamarind. But they are related, and we are being run over.

All you have to do is follow the money. Hollywood is being redeveloped. The homeless are being backed into a literal corner. The church is trying to have an ordinance not allowing them within 500 feet. The buildings on our block are old. There are roaches and black mold in the walls. As long as they stay way, nothing will change.

My suggestion, be more than careful out there. Get out if you can. It's only going to get worse. Someone could die. Even then, you would just be another statistic in a stack of paper. Maybe you have people who care, maybe you don't. This city can be a lonely place.

Hopefully, a bigger Earthquake doesn't happen. You know the fault line ends right along Yucca, near the overpass on Gower, right? LA removed the ordinance limiting building height. The BIG ONE is coming.

Get out of there ASAP.

I have a hypothetical question for the LAPD. If we were to collect all the trash, human feces and used paper in our street and take it over to some nice homes in the more well-off Franklin area, and we spread it all along their lawns and then, every single afternoon like clockwork, we stood directly outside their open windows where the residents were trying to work/sleep and just blasted loud music for hours while screaming abuse, are there any laws or regulations that would enable you to act on this?

Can you tell us they are so we can reference them when we call asking you to keep the peace in this less-well-off area as well? Why do we have to walk across the freeway to see how it could be?

Yes we call the non-emergency number asking for help all the time.
What should we expect you to actually change about the situation when we do this? Anything?

However, the damage was minor enough for my insurance to not have to pay for it, but major enough for it to be noticeable.

PS - the police did show up for this incident but I'm still going to have to pay for the damage since the person at fault does not have car insurance.

Along with the verbal harassment (and objects thrown at some of us) we are all experiencing, they're literally using terroristic tactics and vandalizing property to attempt to drive us away or into silence. They are violent, fight amongst themselves, and have even less reservations about engaging those outside their "community".

A responding officer said: Keep calling, eventually they'll be cited. And when they don't show up in court, they get issued a warrant. And eventually we will run their IDs, see the outstanding warrant and we can arrest them.

But these responding officers didn't cite them (even though the occupiers said they'd move and stop blocking the sidewalks but stayed put). No officers do. So warrants never get issued. And police ultimately don't bother to run their IDs anyway. Most responders to calls don't even get out of their vehicles.

One or both may have said: That's why it's important we communicate this to local representatives to change the laws. But, I asked, what difference would new laws make if you don't enforce the laws we already have?

I'm being targeted for harassment by the encampment occupiers because I'm standing up for myself and asking police to enforce the law; because I'm intolerant of their partying, hollering, smoking, vulgarity, overtaking the sidewalks and leaving food and trash literally right outside our home. Let them hang out under the shady trees of the non-residential buildings or parking lots in the area. Or inside their tents.
But ensure us taxpaying, rent paying residents have the safety and acceptable limited noise-levels we also deserve.

I AM REQUESTING POLICE DO A NARCOTICS INVESTIGATION (their due diligence, for 30 days) AND SUBSEQUENT REPORT ON THESE STREETS AT CARLOS AND TAMARIND. These encampment occupiers are up and alert day and night, which is unnatural, and vehicles swing by (cars, bikes, scooters) seemingly to conduct business transactions 7 days/week, 24 hours/day. Note the attached two videos recorded last night (which is a Monday)—taken 1 hour apart (1130pm-1230am)—wherein:

- a male continuously walks in circles on the sidewalk and street in front of our residence (this began and continued beyond the hour duration captured on these clips)
- at least two people are active inside the tents at the end while at least one other moves between the tents 3 or 4 spaces to the left and those at the end.

NEIGHBORS: In the meantime, I am begging all of you and anyone who empathizes with our situation to register to vote so we can vote out every elected official who is overseeing our community. Here's a link to ensure you are able to vote when that time comes:
https://registertovote.ca.gov/

Vote against Garcetti, Dan Halden, Sean Starky, and any other "official" on these emails and/or those who put or kept them in positions of power.

The earthquake was less troubling than streets around our homes.

POLICE— Police our area. If you're "reaching out" to the encampment, what are you asking of them? POLITICIANS— These are not LA citizens who lost their homes because their rents went up or they lost their jobs. These are opportunists (many who came from out of state for the sole purpose of) capitalizing on your collective inaction/ineptitude/passivity and taking advantage of same AND our resources.

Lawmakers visiting the immigrant detainment centers spoke of overwhelming smells of body odor, urine and feces... But that describes our neighborhood ALL DAY EVERY DAY... All due to your selective governing and inhumanity towards those of us who legally live here.

With any due respect, this response was, at best, inadequate and, at worst, insulting. The request was not to "force relocate"; Rather, I read it as asking the police to uphold the law. There are laws that can be enforced, right?

Once again, in your [Shannon Geany's] words, "Carlos/Tamarind remains as Hollywood's largest and most entrenched encampment".

We see you occasionally break up other transient tent communities (on El Centro, on Vine, on Highland, off Franklin, etc...), yet the disregard for our street continues and escalates. You pick and choose when and where to follow and/or enforce the law. Even this morning police were present as crews cleaned--and transients laid on sidewalks--but the police enforced no laws in regards to taking down tents or making sidewalks available for residents (many of whom are elderly). The transients' occupied territory grows and you do nothing.

Some of these same people have been here over 2 years. They keep their tents set up all day because police only enforce those laws when it serves private interest, like local "church" events. And the transients know this, and know you mostly otherwise won't be coming around or engaging them.

Now they hang out under our shady trees immediately outside of our residence on the North side of Carlos—daily, even though their tents are still up (as has been permitted for so long) on the South side of Carlos—Completely taking over and blocking all sidewalks. No resident wants to be caught taking pictures of them, but I've attached some images of them/the trash left in their wake only a few feet from where we sleep/eat/live. All while their empty tents remain up around the surrounding walkways.

Also, now that neither sidewalk is available, the residents are forced to walk in the street to avoid being engaged, muttered to, or have dogs off leashes barking and following them. And the transients track us. They watch us, what we drive, when we come and go. And they discuss it openly. Last weekend I watched a homeless man enter the code for our front door, walk through the hallway out the back, and sort through the recyclables in the city containers BEHIND our locked gates.

They play music and eat and drink and smoke and scream and curse and sleep ALL DAY within two yards of where we live. They bring folding chairs--and wooden chairs!--and blankets and pillows. They occupy the residential side of the street and don't go back to their tents until after dinner when the Salvation Army feeds them, leaving their trash behind.

Is the extent of police contribution "overseeing clean-up crews", during sporadic cleanup days only, so that "another city worker" has to pick up after this disrespectful hoard? If that's the case, at least turn your heads right and left to look to the surrounding sidewalks & Tamarind Avenue instead of just focusing on the row of tents on the South side of Carlos... Because the vagrant occupiers (a "transient" would eventually go somewhere else) and their trash are everywhere.

Today the occupation on the North side of Carlos and subsequent yelling (screaming to others in their encampment way down the street, again, while police were present) immediately outside of our windows began around 8am. Sunday it started before 10am and went on into the night. I work in order to be able to afford to take care of my responsibilities--they don't and don't want to--but I deserve to be awaken with ongoing screaming 4-5 feet outside the perimeter of our home? Where's the incentive in paying taxes? What's the incentive of being a productive member of society if you force/abandon us to be on the occupiers' schedule?

I called the non-emergency police—I have incident report #s—all weekend and nothing was done.

There is no public sanitation in the area. Should I be comfortable with them dumping feces in the storm drains just five feet from our building, our bedrooms? Along with the food they bring over and leave out all day, the rats they attract are being drawn to our part of the street. Do we deserve rats, fleas, typhus?

I hope and pray that karma finds you and your children and pays you back for the disregard and apathy you've shown us legal, legitimate and taxpaying Angelinos. You could do more but you don't. They don't respect your authority. We hear them laugh at you before and after you leave. And you enable their behavior and give them a pass why?... Because you hate paperwork?

There are laws about setting up chairs on sidewalks, right? About laying down and also, in general, blocking sidewalks? What about the out of state vehicles that don't register or renew or their tags? They don't smog check. They don't get tickets or towed either. They pollute, and violate other laws by sleeping in/living out of their vehicles so close to a children's school. But you don't police them. You make it easy for them to stay put, and invite more to join them in the area.

Don't blame the lawmakers (though they surely deserve their share) when you don't even enforce the laws that are, have been and remain on the books. Own your "as long as it's not happening in front of my home" attitude. But, in my opinion, your neglect is as criminal as the vagrants taking advantage of our good (albeit too passive) nature.

Called emergency line, who told me I was not the first to call. Cut to 15 min later and he finally gives up and walks away. Probably figured maybe the police would show up soon.

Watch out for this guy. Clearly unstable and I've seen him pacing around our block in random directions several times over the past few weeks.

I was walking north on Bronson, south of Hollywood Blvd. At the corner of Carlton Way and Bronson. A man jumped out from behind a corner and put a shotgun to my face, demanding my wallet. Then, another came up behind me, put a pistol to the back of my head, and demanded my cell phone. Once, I gave up my items, a third man drove up around the corner in a get-a-away car, and they drove off.

I walked over the fire station around the corner to ask for help, and some bleary eyed LAFD guy told me I had to go to the police for that. THANKS BRO.

The next day, I filed a police report. I know full well they won't be able to find them. LAPD is spread so thin. They are severely understaffed. They are exhausted. There is more crazy violent crime out there than what is actually happening on Carlos and Tamarind. But they are related, and we are being run over.

All you have to do is follow the money. Hollywood is being redeveloped. The homeless are being backed into a literal corner. The church is trying to have an ordinance not allowing them within 500 feet. The buildings on our block are old. There are roaches and black mold in the walls. As long as they stay way, nothing will change.

My suggestion, be more than careful out there. Get out if you can. It's only going to get worse. Someone could die. Even then, you would just be another statistic in a stack of paper. Maybe you have people who care, maybe you don't. This city can be a lonely place.

Hopefully, a bigger Earthquake doesn't happen. You know the fault line ends right along Yucca, near the overpass on Gower, right? LA removed the ordinance limiting building height. The BIG ONE is coming.

Get out of there ASAP.

Along with the verbal harassment (and objects thrown at some of us) we are all experiencing, they're literally using terroristic tactics and vandalizing property to attempt to drive us away or into silence. They are violent, fight amongst themselves, and have even less reservations about engaging those outside their "community".

A responding officer said: Keep calling, eventually they'll be cited. And when they don't show up in court, they get issued a warrant. And eventually we will run their IDs, see the outstanding warrant and we can arrest them.

But these responding officers didn't cite them (even though the occupiers said they'd move and stop blocking the sidewalks but stayed put). No officers do. So warrants never get issued. And police ultimately don't bother to run their IDs anyway. Most responders to calls don't even get out of their vehicles.

One or both may have said: That's why it's important we communicate this to local representatives to change the laws. But, I asked, what difference would new laws make if you don't enforce the laws we already have?

I'm being targeted for harassment by the encampment occupiers because I'm standing up for myself and asking police to enforce the law; because I'm intolerant of their partying, hollering, smoking, vulgarity, overtaking the sidewalks and leaving food and trash literally right outside our home. Let them hang out under the shady trees of the non-residential buildings or parking lots in the area. Or inside their tents.
But ensure us taxpaying, rent paying residents have the safety and acceptable limited noise-levels we also deserve.

I AM REQUESTING POLICE DO A NARCOTICS INVESTIGATION (their due diligence, for 30 days) AND SUBSEQUENT REPORT ON THESE STREETS AT CARLOS AND TAMARIND. These encampment occupiers are up and alert day and night, which is unnatural, and vehicles swing by (cars, bikes, scooters) seemingly to conduct business transactions 7 days/week, 24 hours/day. Note the attached two videos recorded last night (which is a Monday)—taken 1 hour apart (1130pm-1230am)—wherein:
- a male continuously walks in circles on the sidewalk and street in front of our residence (this began and continued beyond the hour duration captured on these clips)
- at least two people are active inside the tents at the end while at least one other moves between the tents 3 or 4 spaces to the left and those at the end.

With any due respect, this response was, at best, inadequate and, at worst, insulting. The request was not to "force relocate"; Rather, I read it as asking the police to uphold the law. There are laws that can be enforced, right?

Once again, in your [Shannon Geany's] words, "Carlos/Tamarind remains as Hollywood's largest and most entrenched encampment".

We see you occasionally break up other transient tent communities (on El Centro, on Vine, on Highland, off Franklin, etc...), yet the disregard for our street continues and escalates. You pick and choose when and where to follow and/or enforce the law. Even this morning police were present as crews cleaned--and transients laid on sidewalks--but the police enforced no laws in regards to taking down tents or making sidewalks available for residents (many of whom are elderly). The transients' occupied territory grows and you do nothing.

Some of these same people have been here over 2 years. They keep their tents set up all day because police only enforce those laws when it serves private interest, like local "church" events. And the transients know this, and know you mostly otherwise won't be coming around or engaging them.

Now they hang out under our shady trees immediately outside of our residence on the North side of Carlos—daily, even though their tents are still up (as has been permitted for so long) on the South side of Carlos—Completely taking over and blocking all sidewalks. No resident wants to be caught taking pictures of them, but I've attached some images of them/the trash left in their wake only a few feet from where we sleep/eat/live. All while their empty tents remain up around the surrounding walkways.

Also, now that neither sidewalk is available, the residents are forced to walk in the street to avoid being engaged, muttered to, or have dogs off leashes barking and following them. And the transients track us. They watch us, what we drive, when we come and go. And they discuss it openly. Last weekend I watched a homeless man enter the code for our front door, walk through the hallway out the back, and sort through the recyclables in the city containers BEHIND our locked gates.

They play music and eat and drink and smoke and scream and curse and sleep ALL DAY within two yards of where we live. They bring folding chairs--and wooden chairs!--and blankets and pillows. They occupy the residential side of the street and don't go back to their tents until after dinner when the Salvation Army feeds them, leaving their trash behind.

Is the extent of police contribution "overseeing clean-up crews", during sporadic cleanup days only, so that "another city worker" has to pick up after this disrespectful hoard? If that's the case, at least turn your heads right and left to look to the surrounding sidewalks & Tamarind Avenue instead of just focusing on the row of tents on the South side of Carlos... Because the vagrant occupiers (a "transient" would eventually go somewhere else) and their trash are everywhere.

Today the occupation on the North side of Carlos and subsequent yelling (screaming to others in their encampment way down the street, again, while police were present) immediately outside of our windows began around 8am. Sunday it started before 10am and went on into the night. I work in order to be able to afford to take care of my responsibilities--they don't and don't want to--but I deserve to be awaken with ongoing screaming 4-5 feet outside the perimeter of our home? Where's the incentive in paying taxes? What's the incentive of being a productive member of society if you force/abandon us to be on the occupiers' schedule?

I called the non-emergency police—I have incident report #s—all weekend and nothing was done.

There is no public sanitation in the area. Should I be comfortable with them dumping feces in the storm drains just five feet from our building, our bedrooms? Along with the food they bring over and leave out all day, the rats they attract are being drawn to our part of the street. Do we deserve rats, fleas, typhus?

I hope and pray that karma finds you and your children and pays you back for the disregard and apathy you've shown us legal, legitimate and taxpaying Angelinos. You could do more but you don't. They don't respect your authority. We hear them laugh at you before and after you leave. And you enable their behavior and give them a pass why?... Because you hate paperwork?

There are laws about setting up chairs on sidewalks, right? About laying down and also, in general, blocking sidewalks?

What about the out of state vehicles that don't register or renew or their tags? They don't smog check. They don't get tickets or towed either. They pollute, and violate other laws by sleeping in/living out of their vehicles so close to a children's school. But you don't police them. You make it easy for them to stay put, and invite more to join them in the area.

Don't blame the lawmakers (though they surely deserve their share) when you don't even enforce the laws that are, have been and remain on the books. Own your "as long as it's not happening in front of my home" attitude. But, in my opinion, your neglect is as criminal as the vagrants taking advantage of our good (albeit too passive) nature.

Subject: Re: "Hollywoode2��s largest and most entrenched encampment"

Thanks so much for letting us know about both of these situations, and so sorry to hear about your experience, Jordon. :((That's terrifying, though not surprising when you see what's happening out there this summer.

It's really good to have this community of neighbors keeping an eye out and informing each other, especially as it seems that all the proactive work being done by Seargant Gearny and her team last year has stopped and these streets are getting even worse now. The LAPD have not created a presence here, beyond enforcing tents-down time along the wall, which only sends the homeless to sit outside our residences, block our access, and get into more confrontations with residents.

So it seems we're on our own until someone is killed or injured (either from a confrontation or hit by a car as we can't use the sidewalk anymore), but at least we'll have these emails showing how long we've reported problems and begged for support.

Re neighborhood watch: For those who live in the Tamarind cul-de-sac, please be wary. There seems to be an unstable/agitated man (skinny black guy) living in one of the tents there. I saw him wandering in circles at night, gesturing and talking in an aggressive way to no one. When a neighbor drove into the cul-de-sac looking for a park, he scurried to crouch down and hide between the parked cars.

Please be wary when coming/going from your home, as it seems we have not only the abusive/violent group who fly into a rage every afternoon like clockwork, but also some seriously paranoid and suspicious people who could be hiding and/or see you as a threat. Be careful. :((

And continued this morning with shouting and dogs off leashes barking 5-6 feet outside our home (hear attached clips). They're occupying all surrounding sidewalks while their tents remain up; cooking up vittles over raging open fires on the lawn and under the trees (see photos). The earthquake was less troubling than streets around our homes.

POLICE— Police our area. If you're "reaching out" to the encampment, what

POLITICIANS— These are not LA citizens who lost their homes because their rents went up or they lost their jobs. These are opportunists (many who came from out of state for the sole purpose of) capitalizing on your collective inaction/ineptitude/passivity and taking advantage of same AND our resources.
Lawmakers visiting the immigrant detainment centers spoke of overwhelming smells of body odor, urine and feces... But that describes our neighborhood ALL DAY EVERY DAY... All due to your selective governing and inhumanity towards those of us who legally live here.

With any due respect, this response was, at best, inadequate and, at worst, insulting. The request was not to "force relocate"; Rather, I read it as asking the police to uphold the law. There are laws that can be enforced, right?

Once again, in your [Shannon Geany's] words, "Carlos/Tamarind remains as Hollywood's largest and most entrenched encampment".

We see you occasionally break up other transient tent communities (on El Centro, on Vine, on Highland, off Franklin, etc...), yet the disregard for our street continues and escalates. You pick and choose when and where to follow and/or enforce the law. Even this morning police were present as crews cleaned--and transients laid on sidewalks--but the police enforced no laws in regards to taking down tents or making sidewalks available for residents (many of whom are elderly). The transients' occupied territory grows and you do nothing.

Some of these same people have been here over 2 years. They keep their tents set up all day because police only enforce those laws when it serves private interest, like local "church" events. And the transients know this, and know you mostly otherwise won't be coming around or engaging them.

Now they hang out under our shady trees immediately outside of our residence on the North side of Carlos—daily, even though their tents are still up (as has been permitted for so long) on the South side of Carlos—Completely taking over and blocking all sidewalks. No resident wants to be caught taking pictures of them, but I've attached some images of them/the trash left in their wake only a few feet from where we sleep/eat/live. All while their empty tents remain up around the surrounding walkways.

Also, now that neither sidewalk is available, the residents are forced to walk in the street to avoid being engaged, muttered to, or have dogs off leashes barking and following them. And the transients track us. They watch us, what we drive, when we come and go. And they discuss it openly. Last weekend I watched a homeless man enter the code for our front door, walk through the hallway out the back, and sort through the recyclables in the city containers BEHIND our locked gates.

They play music and eat and drink and smoke and scream and curse and sleep ALL DAY within two yards of where we live. They bring folding chairs--and wooden chairs!--and blankets and pillows. They occupy the residential side of the street and don't go back to their tents until after dinner when the Salvation Army feeds them, leaving their trash behind.

Is the extent of police contribution "overseeing clean-up crews", during sporadic cleanup days only, so that "another city worker" has to pick up after this disrespectful hoard? If that's the case, at least turn your heads right and left to look to the surrounding sidewalks & Tamarind Avenue instead of just focusing on the row of tents on the South side of Carlos... Because the vagrant occupiers (a "transient" would eventually go somewhere else) and their trash are everywhere.

Today the occupation on the North side of Carlos and subsequent yelling (screaming to others in their encampment way down the street, again, while police were present) immediately outside of our windows began around 8am. Sunday it started before 10am and went on into the night. I work in order to be able to afford to take care of my responsibilities--they don't and don't want to--but I deserve to be awaken with ongoing screaming 4-5 feet outside the perimeter of our home? Where's the incentive in paying taxes? What's the incentive of being a productive member of society if you force/abandon us to be on the occupiers' schedule?

I called the non-emergency police—I have incident report #s—all weekend and nothing was done.

There is no public sanitation in the area. Should I be comfortable with them dumping feces in the storm drains just five feet from our building, our bedrooms? Along with the food they bring over and leave out all day, the rats they attract are being drawn to our part of the street. Do we deserve rats, fleas, typhus?

I hope and pray that karma finds you and your children and pays you back for the disregard and apathy you've shown us legal, legitimate and taxpaying Angelinos. You could do more but you don't. They don't respect your authority. We hear them laugh at you before and after you leave. And you enable their behavior and give them a pass why?... Because you hate paperwork?

There are laws about setting up chairs on sidewalks, right? About laying down and also, in general, blocking sidewalks? What about the out of state vehicles that don't register or renew or their tags? They don't smog check. They don't get tickets or towed either. They pollute, and violate other laws by sleeping in/living out of their vehicles so close to a children's school. But you don't police them. You make it easy for them to stay put, and invite more to join them in the area.

Don't blame the lawmakers (though they surely deserve their share) when you don't even enforce the laws that are, have been and remain on the books. Own your "as long as it's not happening in front of my home" attitude. But, in my opinion, your neglect is as criminal as the vagrants taking advantage of our good (albeit too passive) nature.

All,

I noticed the last three emails and wanted to make sure we address the concerns you raised.

The Bridge Site location on Schrader has been full since the end of March. We have service provid ers throughout Hollywood that are working with the encampments to connect residents to any shelters beds that may become available. With over 33,000 people sleeping on the sidewalk every night and only 7,000 beds we as a City we are working to overcome the deficit.

Because of recent Court cases, most notably Jones v. LA, the City can not "relocate" encampments off of one street and onto another.

Sanitation has been in the area more frequently. We wish it could be non stop but unfortunately we do not have the crews. With the opening of the Schrader site, Hollywood currently has more resources than most area of the City. This has allowed us to have a greater presences in the area.

Mr. Sean Starkey,

Officer Rubalcava, Sgt Geaney, I wanted to thank You so much for all the hard work and I am so Grateful to you that our little Tamarind street and Carlos as well, are finally getting clean and the tents are slowly disappearing one by one. Your work is clearl y seen and greatly appreciated.

We only have 4 tents left on our little Tamarind street and two of them are in that very corner, by the freeway. Is it please possible to remove those 4 tents from Tamarind Ave. for good?!

Also, not very many are left on Carlos...thank you again so much ... just a little more effort to relocate those unfortunate people, so they are safe and we will nothing else but only be grateful to you.

Thank You for helping us to live in a clean environment this summer. We appreciate you greatly!

Thank You indeed.

Hi Gigi, hi Dan,

Can you please confirm this appointment? It's hard to hold my time indefinitely.

Thanks,

Adrian

I am looking at the pdf a little closer. A number of the pages are out of order. With unrelated, multi-page documents mixed in amongst one other. Can you re-scan them in order so one document follows another rather than having the page of two documents mixed together? Maybe they got dropped on the floor before getting scanned.

Does "reversed" mean that the first page of the PDF is the last page of the document?

Mike and Strefan,

Please advise regarding Mr. Riskin's latest request. We have provided him documents for CPRA Request CD13.2017.03.25.a via scan, but he is now saying that the documents are "reversed" (we are not sure what that means).

My understanding is we are only required to provide the documents themselves, which we have done, and are under no obligation to provide them in some kind of order.

Please advise regarding the above and how we can respond.

Thanks, Dan, but the pages are reversed, which I realize is super easy to do by mistake! Since for some reason you chose to scan these pdfs from paper printouts, if you can't fix this I will still need to come in and make my own scans with the pages in the right order.

thanks again for all your help!

Does "reversed" mean that the first page of the PDF is the last page of the document?

Mike and Strefan,

Please advise regarding Mr. Riskin's latest request. We have provided him documents for CPRA Request CD13.2017.03.25.a via scan, but he is now saying that the documents are "reversed" (we are not sure what that means).

My understanding is we are only required to provide the documents themselves, which we have done, and are under no obligation to provide them in some kind of order.

Please advise regarding the above and how we can respond.

Thank you,

Thanks, Dan, but the pages are reversed, which I realize is super easy to do by mistake! Since for some reason you chose to scan these pdfs from paper printouts, if you can't fix this I will still need to come in and make my own scans with the pages in the right order.

thanks again for all your help!

Hi Dan!

Worse than reversed. In random order. It's hard to imagine how this happens with a pile of paper and a scanner, but evidently it does. In any case, please confirm that I can come in on February 14 at 9 am and see the paper you scanned all this from so as to be able to put it in order. Or maybe you all could just do that for me, since I happen to know that CD13 routinely provides other requesters with pdfs with the pages in order.

Thanks again for all you do!

A.

Subject: Attorney-Client Privilege - Adrian Riskin Request CD13.2017.03.25.a

Mike and Strefan,

Please advise regarding Mr. Riskin's latest request. We have provided him documents for CPRA Request CD13.2017.03.25.a via scan, but he is now saying that the documents are "reversed" (we are not sure what that means).

My understanding is we are only required to provide the documents themselves, which we have done, and are under no obligation to provide them in some kind of order.

Please advise regarding the above and how we can respond.

Thank you,

Dan Halden

Thanks, Dan, but the pages are reversed, which I realize is super easy to do by mistake! Since for some reason you chose to scan these pdfs from paper printouts, if you can't fix this I will still need to come in and make my own scans with the pages in the right order.

thanks again for all your help!

Thanks, Dan, but the pages are reversed, which I realize is super easy to do by mistake! Since for some reason you chose to scan these pdfs from paper printouts, if you can't fix this I will still need to come in and make my own scans with the pages in the right order.

thanks again for all your help!

Hi Gigi,

How about Thursday February 14 at 9 a.m.? I can only stay till 1, so if there are more than 400 pages please let me know now so that we can work out a different time.

Thanks again for all your help, CD13!

Evening everyone,

I don't usually send any emails on this chain but I just wanted to let everyone know that my roommate just told me that she found our front door at 1756 tamarind Ave broken into tonight and saw a disheveled looking man coming down the stairs that she's never seen in the building before. She has called a police officer to come take a look around, but please everyone be careful out there tonight.

Thanks and I hope you're all well,
Nick G.

They will be here next Tuesday, and will do our best to address it with them next week. In the meantime, it would also help us if you create a service request on the Caltrans website to clean it up.

There's a mound of human feces and toilet paper where they sit on the barrier to defecate, and this has started overflowing across the sidewalk. The other side of the street is also their toilet (between the parked cars and fence) and it stinks of urine and there is often human feces or diarrhea on the sidewalk there. This means there are now no safe sidewalks for pedestrians to exit Carlos on the Bronson side. Residents (including the elderly and children) and their dogs must either walk through this fecal matter and risk carrying hepatitis A and other diseases and bacteria into their own homes, or they are forced to walk on the street among moving traffic. Regular taxpayers get a citation for urinating in public, but these people are being allowed to defecate in the open on a residential street close to a school.

I think we should all be worried that there may have been a fire out there, considering these buildings are surrounded by flammable trees and vines.

Hi Dan,

I'm not sure when this policy of having Gigi confirm everything started, but I don't suppose there's any point in discussing it any more. However, in order to make efficient use of everyone's time, especially now that CD13 has determined to make confirming appointments so difficult, it is necessary for me to know how much material there is here and what form it's in. Is there some objection to telling me, or have you just ignored my previous requests inadvertently?

Thanks again for all your help!

Hi Adrian,

Gigi is the office manager so she will ultimately be in charge of confirming the appointment. If waiting until her return to the office to confirm 2/7 does not work for you, then Gigi will work with you to confirm a new date/time upon her return to the office.

Thank you,

Is there any way you or your colleagues can find a way to confirm by COB tomorrow so that I don't have to hold my time for the 7th only to have her cancel? As I said, without a firm appointment by tomorrow afternoon we'll have to reschedule.

Subject: CPRA Request - mitch.ofarrell@lacity.org & councilmember.ofarrell@lacity.org

DC and WA:

We have a CPRA request for all emails to/from mitch.ofarrell@lacity.org and councilmember.ofarrell@lacity.org from 2018 only that include the following terms:

1) kerry
2) sarian
3) cherokee
4) ficus

I've already completed my portion; if my email address is involved, please disregard as I already printed it out.

Can you please print out the documents and get them to me by Tuesday 2/12/19?

Thanks,

Dear Qwerty,

We have consulted with the City Attorney on this matter.

Your request needs to be narrowed down. There are 20 custodians (staff) in this office with potentially responsive documents. An initial search by just one custodian yielded approximately 1500 documents.

The public interest in producing the documents is outweighed by the public interest in not expending the staff resources to locate, print, redact, and produce what could be potentially thousands of documents. The current request is thus exempt from production under Government Code section 6255. Accordingly, a more focused request is necessary.

I would be happy to work with you on refining your request so that it produces a much smaller number of documents and is more focused in nature. As you know, I have already produced 2018 emails that have two or more of the search terms you provided. Please feel free to contact me at your convenience with a refined request.

Best Regards,

I am sorry I was unclear so to be clear I am looking for any emails that any staff of Mr. O'Farrell have from 2018 that have the word kerry or that have the word sarian or that have the word ficus or that have the word cherokee in them but if they have two of those words that will be ok or if they have three of those words that will be ok or if they have all four of those words that will be ok. most importantly those if they have any one or more of those words then those are the emails I want.
> Like if the email says "kerry how are you" then I want that one and if it says "kerry there is a ficus on cherokee just ask sarian" then I want that one but if it says for intsance "mr. O'Farrell had a private lunch at Taix with John Ek" then I don't want that one from this request.

I bartend in Beverly Hills and I usually get home around midnight or one o'clock in the morning to see a lot of unacceptable behavior happening. The spray painted RV that has been parked on Carlos (with the large face painted on the back) is a constant hang out place where the homeless drink, break bottles, smoke weed and yell at people returning to their cars from the Pantages or Fonda Theatres.

I have noticed the same car full of young kids keeps parking in the same red zone on Tamarind Ave to smoke weed every morning. I assumed this was a car pool for someone living on the block because it is a daily occurrence, but this morning I noticed that people living in the tents now join them to get high. This happens EVERYDAY of the week at 10 am when I go for a run. That is not an exaggeration, it is routine. I took the following picture of the Kia Rio license plate 6ZOP535 and still have not seen any sort of police respond.

I don't know that we have any options and we don't seem to have any support from the city. If we all start moving out of this area then Hollywood will soon just become another Skid Row. It's a shame that there are families living in this area with children, and other families that bring their children to the church just a parking lot away and still the city has zero urgency or motive to help keep this area safe.

At what point do we seek an attorney to represent us?

The car in front of mine was broken into this past weekend, so I do believe there is suspicious activity going on with the parked automobiles in our street.

I've heard a loud verbal fight going on outside my window. There was suggestive wording (yelling, really) that a weapon was involved. When I called 911, I did not get assurance that this fight was high in their priorities, but to call back if I could see a weapon. Some of the people involved returned back to the area of the trailer that has been parked outside for over a month.

Some time before that, I saw a fight where 2 men were physically fighting over a backpack, to the point of biting each other, right outside my apartment's front gate.

Thanks for the tentative. Gigi's away message says she's out of the office until 2/6. Is there any way you or your colleagues can find a way to confirm by COB tomorrow so that I don't have to hold my time for the 7th only to have her cancel? As I said, without a firm appointment by tomorrow afternoon we'll have to reschedule.

Hi Gigi,

Can you tell me how many sheets of paper are involved here so that I can plan my time accordingly?

Also, I will be in to look at them on January 31, 2019 at 10 am at 200 N Spring St., room of your all's choice. If for some reason this "does not work for [your] office" I hope someone at CD13 would be able to give me more than ten minutes notice of this fact. Like if you could confirm today, that would be utterly efficient and professional. If I don't hear from you all by COB on Monday I will consider the appointment to be cancelled.

Thanks,

Adrian

CONFIDENTIAL, ATTORNEY CLIENT, WORK PRODUCT PRIVILEGED Good Evening,

Please see the email below re: Adrian Riskin. Given the volume of CPRA requests that Mr. Riskin was making a few years ago, the City implemented a protocol that limited how Mr. Riskin could make requests and how much time the City spent processing those requests. At this time, the City is lifting that protocol such that Mr. Riskin may resume making CPRA requests via normal channels (including Next Request) and he will be expecting responses via the normal CPRA deadlines. Be sure to respond to any new requests you receive within the statutory deadlines.

Feel free to contact me if you have any questions about this communication.

Mike Dundas
Deputy City Attorney

Mr. Riskin,
Please be advised that the City is rescinding the CPRA protocol for handling your requests. You may resume contacting departments directly, including via the Next Request portal on the City Clerk's web page. Similarly, standard CPRA timelines will be applied to all new CPRA requests that you make upon the City from this point forward. Please let me know if you have any questions.

Good morning, Mr. Dundas.

Can you please place this request next on CD13's list, directly after whichever one they're working on presently?

I'd like to see all records relating to Selma Park and CF 16-1456 from September 1, 2015 through whenever you comply with this request. This should include but not be limited to:

1. Emails which contain the search string "selma park"

2. Emails which contain the word "playground"

3. Emails to/from/cc/bcc anyone associated with the so-called Friends of

Selma Park

4. Minutes and/or notes from meetings relating to either Selma Park or

5. CD13 staff or CM calendar entries for business relating to either the park or the CF

6. Non-email communications on either subject

7. Other records relating to either topic

Thanks!

That is my understanding of it as well. Here is a DRAFT response to Qwerty. Please advise if this works:

Dear Qwerty,

We have consulted with the City Attorney on this matter. Our office is entitled to withhold the requested documents as they are fall within the deliberative process, and are thus exempt under Gov. Code section 6254(k).

Best Regards,
Dan

In those memos, you are providing suggestions for the Council member's consideration as he thinks about what his position is and what he wants to say. Those are thus all quintessentially deliberative process privileged. Ergo: exempt under Gov. Code section 6254(k).

Those writings are what I am looking for form 2018."

My understanding is that Qwerty is essentially asking for the paper trail regarding the genesis of any meetings involving Councilmember O'Farrell in 2018, including briefing memos and documents provided once the meeting is scheduled. I have some questions/concerns:

1) I believe some of this is covered under the deliberative process (i.e. CD13 staff gets a request for a meeting and discusses internally whether or not to schedule). Is that correct?

2) Providing associated documents for each of the hundreds of meetings the Councilmember has in a calendar year would likely results in thousands, if not tens of thousands, of pages. It seems appropriate to me that this request be narrowed down. Can I ask Qwerty that they provide a more focused request?

Thank you,

Hi Mr. Halden,
this is a foia for all those reports that mr. O'Farrell's scheduler prepares for him in advance of requested meetings from 2018. Like e.g. some body calls up david Cano and says they want to meet with the C.M. and David Cano looks into them and what they want to talk about and makes a memo for Mr. O'Farrell about it. Those writings are what I am looking for form 2018.

Dan, we all are excited this effort is moving forward, and certainly agree we don't want money spent on reinventing wheels we may already have built. But as I mentioned some time ago when the city requested our auto-CAD materials, we do have to be a little careful—see attached old notes we exchanged awhile ago. (I never heard back from anyone at the city except you!)

Give me a call and let's discuss how best to go about any transfer of Trust materials, thanks!

Hello, Chamber, Trust, and BID friends:

Please forgive the mass email. As you know, we are working on the creation of a Walk of Fame master plan, and will be implementing some improvements to the Walk as well as identifying other longer term objectives and goals as we think about the long term health and future of the Walk.

As we gear up to bring aboard a consultant, I'm helping BOE aggregate all previous plans, inventories, work, studies, etc. done to or along the Hollywood Walk of Fame. Gathering these previous projects and documents in one place will help us be as informed and thoughtful as possible when selecting a consultant and identifying the appropriate scope of work. We plan on spending the available funding wisely, and would prefer not to reinvent the wheel. :)

I'm reaching out to you for assistance on that front. Please send me any previous plans, etc. involving the WOF, as soon as possible. I look forward to circling back with you on this as we plot the course forward.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Obviously, the Trust would like to be very much in the loop on the plans, and as noted before, Linda's service (she holds the autoCAD files) will be very valuable to the Trust and the City alike as things move forward. As with the new Hollywood Blvd light installation you got done (bravo), we have a lot of good experience in working on the Boulevard and the Walk of Fame, don't want the City folks to lose out on that knowledge and experience.

Subject: RE: Hollywood Walk of Fame - Autocad Files

Bill, as attorney for the Hollywood Historic Trust, who owns the autoCAD files you reference, and after consulting with my client, please know that we are happy to make PDFs of the autoCAD files available to you solely for the purpose you describe below, but with several caveats required to protect the Trust and ultimately the City against unapproved reliance on any of these materials.

First, the Trust owns the copyright in these materials and will provide them to the City only for the one-time use you describe, absent further agreement for some subsequent use; any copies made for this one specific use must be accounted for until the City has completed this one use and has so advised the Trust.

Second, the materials will be provided solely to the City for the use you describe and otherwise must remain confidential; they may not be shared with any third parties without the permission of the Trust and without a similar agreement from such third party.

Third, please acknowledge your understanding that these materials have not been updated since 2012 and thus should not be relied upon until brought up to reflect current conditions, which update effort would require further permission from the Trust.

Fourth, we will need an indemnity agreement from the City in the event anyone at the City or any third party ever claims reliance on these materials (and the City will want the same thing from any third parties).

I hate to be a stickler on this, but the bottom line is that for liability reasons I am very concerned that these materials not be relied upon at this time by anyone for anything other than preliminary and very general planning, and we want to be sure that the Trust and the City are protected from potential liability for any reliance or other use of these materials without our advance knowledge and approval. Engineering materials such as these have a way of coming back to haunt, and that is what we have to protect against—again, for your and our sakes alike.

Let me know, and of course we do very much look forward to being of help in the planning process and otherwise, so please keep us informed as to your progress. We learned a lot from our prior repair projects on the Walk of Fame, and are eager to share our experience and expertise.

Best, and thank you for inquiring,

Jeff

Hi Bill,

I will go ahead and add this right now. Just to confirm -- I haven't invited other stakeholders (BID, Chamber, Historic Trust, etc.) to this meeting. I have reached out to them for the materials you requested and am waiting to hear back (I will follow up).

Please confirm that we will move forward with tomorrow as an internal City depts. meeting.

Hi Dan,

I'm not sure when this policy of having Gigi confirm everything started, but I don't suppose there's any point in discussing it any more. However, in order to make efficient use of everyone's time, especially now that CD13 has determined to make confirming appointments so difficult, it is necessary for me to know how much material there is here and what form it's in. Is there some objection to telling me, or have you just ignored my previous requests inadvertently?

Thanks again for all your help!

Adrian
